This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world’s books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that’s often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book’s long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

CHAP. XXXIII.

Treats of the Towns, Cities, Country and Customs of Bengal, particularly on those near the famous Ganges, with some historical Accounts ancient and modern of Fort William.

PILLY lies on the Banks of a River, supposed to be a Branch of the Ganges, about 5 Leagues from that of Ballasore; formerly it was a Place of Trade, and with English and Dutch Factories. The Country produces the same Commodities.
modities that Ballajore does; at present it is reduced to Beggary by the Factory's Removal to Huglly and Calcutta, the Merchants being all gone. It is now inhabited by Fishers, as are also Ingellie, and Kidgerie, two neighbouring Islands on the West Side of the Mouth of the Ganges. These Islands abound also in tame Swine, where they are sold very cheap, for I have bought One and Twenty good Hogs, between 50 and 80 Pound Weight each, for 17 Rupees, or 45 Shillings Sterling. Those Islands send forth dangerous Sand Banks, that are both numerous and large, and make the Navigation out and in to Huglly River, both troublesome and dangerous, and after we pass those Islands, in going up the River, the Channel for Shipping is on the East-side, and several Creeks run from the Channel among a great Number of Islands, formed by different Channels of Ganges, two of which are more remarkable than the rest, viz. Coxes and Sagor Islands, where great Ships were obliged to anchor to take in Part of their Cargoes, because several Places in the River are too shallow for great Ships to pass over, when their whole Cargoes are aboard.

There are no Inhabitants on those Islands, for they are so pestered with Tigers, that there could be no Security for human Creatures to dwell on them; nay, it is even dangerous to land on them, or for Boats to anchor near them, for in the Night they have swummed swimm'd to Boats at Anchor, and carried Men out of them; yet among the Pagans, the Island Sagar is accounted holy, and great Numbers of Jougies go yearly thither in the Months of November and December, to worship and wash in Salt-Water, tho' many of them fall Sacrifices to the hungry Tigers.

The first safe anchoring Place in the River, is off the Mouth of a River about twelve Leagues above Sagar, commonly known by the Name of Rogues River, which had that Appellation from some Banditti Portugueze, who were Followers of Sultan Sujab, when Emirjema! Aurengzeb's General, drove that unfortunate Prince out of his Province of Bengal; for those Portugueze having no Way to subsist, after their Master's Flight to the Kingdom of Arakan, betook themselves to Piracy among the Islands, at the Mouth of Ganges, and that River having Communication with all the Channels from Xatigam to the Westward, from this River they used to sally out, and commit Depredations on those that traded in the River Hugby.

About five Leagues farther up, on the West Side of the River of Hugby, is another Branch of the Ganges, called Ganga, it is broader than that of Hugby, but much shallower, and more incumberd with Sand Banks; a little below the Mouth of it the Danes have a thatcht House, but for what Reasons they kept an House there, I never could learn.
Along the River of Hugby there are many small Villages and Farms, interspersed in those large Plains, but the first of any note on the River’s Side, is Culculla, a Market-Town for Corn, coarse Cloth, Butter, and Oil, with other Productions of the Country; above it is the Dutch Bankshall, a Place where their Ships ride when they cannot get farther up for the too swift Currents of the River. Culculla has a large deep River that runs to the Eastward, and so has Juampardoa, and on the West Side there is a River that runs by the back of Hugby Island, which leads up to Radnagur, famous for manufacturing Cotton Cloth, and Silk Romaals, or Handkerchiefs. Bullsundri and Trefinndi, or Gorgat and Cottrong, are on that River, which produce the greatest Quantities of the best Sugars in Bengal.

A little higher up on the East Side of Hugby River, is Ponjelly, a Village where a Corn Mart is kept once or twice in a Week; it exports more Rice than any Place on this River; and five Leagues farther up on the other Side, is Tanna Fort, built to protect the Trade of the River, at a Place convenient enough, where it is not above Half a Mile from Shore to Shore, but it never was of much Use; for in Anno 1686, when the English Company quarrelled with the Mogul, the Company had several great Ships at Hugby, and this Fort was manned in order to hinder their Passage down
of the East-Indies.

down the River. One 60 Gun Ship approaching pretty near the Fort, saluted it with a Broad-side, which so frightened the Governor and his Myrmidons, that they all deserted their Post, and left their Castle to be plundered by the English Seamen. About a League farther up on the other Side of the River, is Governapore, where there is a little Pyramid built for a Land-mark, to confine the Company's Colony of Calcutta, or Fort William. On that Side, and about a League farther up, stands Fort William.

The English settled there about the Year 1690, after the Mogul had pardoned all the Robberies and Murders committed on his Subjects. Mr. Job Channock being then the Company's Agent in Bengal, he had Liberty to settle an Emporium in any Part on the River's Side below Hugly, and for the sake of a large shady Tree chose that Place, tho' he could not have chosen a more unhealthful Place on all the River; for three Miles to the North-Eastward is a Salt-Water Lake that overflows in September and October, and then prodigious Numbers of Fish resort thither, but in November and December when the Floods are dissipated, those Fishes are left dry, and with their Putrefaction affect the Air with thick stinking Vapours, which the North-East Winds bring with them to Fort William, that they cause a yearly Mortality. One Year I was there, and there were reckoned in August about about 1200 English, some Military, some Servants to the Company, some private Merchants residing in the Town, and some Seamen belong to Shipping lying at the Town, and before the beginning of January there were four hundred and sixty Burials registered in the Clerk’s Book of Mortality.

Mr. Channock choosing the Ground of the Colony, where it now is, reigned more absolute than a Rajah, only he wanted much of their Humanity, for when any poor ignorant Native transgressed his Laws, they were sure to undergo a severe Whipping for a Penalty, and the Execution was generally done when he was at Dinner, so near his Dining-room that the Groans and Cries of the poor Delinquent served him for Music.

The Country about being overspread with Paganism, the Custom of Wives burning with their deceased Husbands, is also practised here. Before the Mogul’s War, Mr. Channock went one Time with his ordinary Guard of Soldiers, to see a young Widow act that tragical Catastrophe, but he was so smitten with the Widow’s Beauty, that he sent his Guards to take her by Force from her Executioners, and conducted her to his own Lodgings. They lived lovingly many Years, and had several Children; at length she died, after he had settled in Calcutta, but instead of converting her to Christianity, she made him a Proselyte to Paganism, and the only Part of Christianity that was remarkable

markable in him, was burying her decently, and he built a Tomb over her, where all his Life after her Death, he kept the anniversary Day of her Death by sacrificing a Cock on her Tomb, after the Pagan Manner; this was and is the common Report, and I have been credibly informed, both by Christians and Pagans, who lived at Calcutta under his Agency, that the Story was really Matter of Fact.

Fort William was built an irregular Te-tragon, of Brick and Mortar, called Puckah, which is a Composition of Brick-dust, Lime, Molasses, and cut Hemp, and when it comes to be dry, is as hard and tougher than firm Stone or Brick, and the Town was built without Order, as the Builders thought most convenient for their own Affairs, every one taking in what Ground best pleased them for Gardening, so that in most Houses you must pass through a Garden into the House, the English building near the River’s Side, and the Natives within Land.

The Agency continued till the Year 1705, that the old and new Companies united, and then it became a split Government, the old and new Companies Servants governing Week about, which made it more anarchical than regular. Sir Edward Littleton was Agent and Consul for the new Company at Hughly, when this Union of the Companies was made, and then he was ordered to remove his Factory to Calcutta, and being of an indolent Disposition, had let his Accounts with the Company run behind. He was suspended, but lived at Calcutta till 1707, that he died there; he was the only President or Precedent in the Company's Service, that lost an Estate of 700 Pounds per Annum in so profitable a Post in their Service.
A New Account

This double-headed Government continued in Calcutta, till January 1709, that Mr. Weldon arrived with the Company's Commission to settle it at Bombay and Fort St. George, which were under the Management of a Governor and Council, which those of the Direction in England, took to be a better way to promote their own Creatures, as well as their own Interest. His Term of governing was very short, and he took as short a way to be enriched by it, by harrassing the People to fill his Coffers. There was one singular Instance of it. A poor Seaman had got a pretty Mustice Wife, a little inclined to Lewdness in her Husband's Absence. She entertained two Armenians, who were like to quarrel about sharing her Favours, which coming to the Governor's Ears, he reprimanded them: However, by the strong Persuasion of 500 Rupees paid in Hand by one of them, he awarded him to have the sole Right to her, and he carried her to Hugibly, and bragged openly what his Purchase had cost him, to the great Credit and Praise of the Governor; and when the poor Husband returned, he was forced to submit mit to lose his Mare, under the Pain of Flagellation: Yet he was very shy in taking Bribes, referring those honest Folks, who trafficked that way, to the Discretion of his Wife and Daughter, to make the best Bargain they could about the Sum to be paid, and to pay the Money into their Hands. I could give many Instances of the Force of Bribery, both here and elsewhere in India, but am loth to ruffle the Skin of old Sores.

About fifty Yards from Fort William, stands the Church, built by the pious Charity of Merchants residing there, and the Christian Benevolence of Sea-faring Men, whose Affairs call them to trade there; but Ministers of the Gospel being subject to Mortality, very often young Merchants are obliged to officiate, and have a Salary of 50 l. per Annum, added to what the Company allows them, for their Pains in reading Prayers and Sermons on Sundays.

The Governor’s House in the Fort, is the best and most regular piece of Architecture that I ever saw in India. And there are many convenient Lodgings for Factors and Writers, within the Fort, and some Storehouses for the Company’s Goods, and the Magazines for their Ammunition.

The Company has a pretty good Hospital at Calcutta, where many go in to undergo the Penance of Physic, but few come out give an Account of its Operation. The Company has also a pretty good Garden, that furnishes the Governor’s

Governor's Table with Herbage and Fruits; and some Fish-ponds to serve his Kitchen with good Carp, Calkops and Mullet.

Most of the Inhabitants of Calcutta that make any tolerable Figure, have the same Advantages; and all Sorts of Provisions, both wild and tame, being plentiful, good and cheap, as well as Clothing, make the Country very agreeable, notwithstanding the abovementioned Inconveniencies that attend it.

On the other Side of the River are Docks made for repairing and fitting their Ships Bottoms, and a pretty good Garden belonging to the Armenians, that had been a better Place to have built their Fort and Town in, for many Reasons. One is, that where it now stands, the Afternoon's Sun is full in the Fronts of the Houses, and shines hot on the Streets, that are both above and below the Fort, the Sun would have sent its hot Rays on the Back of the Houses, and the Fronts had been a good Shade for the Streets.

Most Gentlemen and Ladies in Bengal live both splendidly and pleasantly, the Forenoons being dedicated to Business, and after Dinner to rest, and in the Evening to recreate themselves in Chaises or Palankins in the Fields, or to Gardens, or by Water in their Budgeroes, which is a convenient Boat, that goes swiftly with the force of Oars; and, on the River, sometimes there is the Diversion of Fishing or Fowling, or both; and, before Night, they make make friendly Visits to one another, when Pride or Contention do not spoil Society, which too often they do among the Ladies, as Discord and Faction do among the Men. And altho' the conscript Fathers of the Colony disagree in many Points among themselves, yet they all agree in oppressing Strangers, who are consigned to them, not suffering them to buy or sell their Goods at the most advantageous Markets, but of the Governor and his Council, who fix their own Prices, high or low, as seemeth best to their Wisdom and Discretion: And it is a Crime hardly pardonable for a private Merchant to go to Hughly, to inform himself of the current Prices of Goods, altho' the Liberty of buying and selling is entirely taken from him before.

The Garrison of Fort William generally consists of 2 or 300 Soldiers, more for conveying their Fleet from Patana, with the Company's Saltpetre, and Piece Goods, raw Silk and some Ophium belonging to other Merchants, than for the Defence of the Fort; for as the Company holds their Colony in fee Tail of the Mogul, they need not be afraid of any Enemies coming to dispossess them. And if they should, at any Time, quarrel again with the Mogul, his prohibiting his Subjects to trade with the Company would soon end the Quarrel.

There are some impertinent troublesome Rajabs, whose Territories lie on the Banks of the Ganges, between Patana and Cassembuzaar; who pretend a Tax on all Goods and Merchandize, that pass by, or through their Dominions on the River, and often raise Forces to compel Payment; but some Forces from Fort William in Boats, generally clear the Passage, tho' I have know some of our Men killed in the Skirmishes.

In Calcutta all Religions are freely tolerated, but the Presbyterian, and that they brow-beat. The Pagans carry their Idols in Procession thro' the Town. The Roman Catholicks have their Church to lodge their Idols in, and the Mabometan is not discountenanced; but there are no Polemics, except what are between our High-Church Men and our Low, or between the Governor's Party and other private Merchants on Points of Trade.

The Colony has very little Manufactory of its own, for the Government being pretty arbitrary, discourages Ingenuity and Industry in the Populace; for by the Weight of the Company's Authority, if a Native chances to disoblige one of the Upper-house, he is liable to arbitrary Punishment, either by Fine, Imprisonment or corporal Sufferings. I will give one Instance, out of many, that I knew, of the Injustice of a Governor of the double-headed Government in Anno 1706.

There was one Captain Perrin Master of a Ship, who took up about 500 l. on Respondentia from Mr. Ralph Sheldon one of the Governors, on a Voyage to Persia, payable at his return to Bengal. Perrin having dispatched his Affairs in Persia sooner than he expected, called at Goa in his way Home, and bought a Surat-built Ship very cheap, and carried her to Calecut, and took in a quantity of Pepper for the Bengal Market; and having brought in his other Ship, good Store of Persia Wines, called at Fort St. George to dispose of what he could there, but finding no Encouragement from that Market, carried it to Bengal. On his Arrival he complimented Mr. Sheldon, with the Offer of his Pepper and Wine; but he declined meddling with that Bargain, farther than with as much of the Pepper, at the current Price, as would balance his Account of Principal and Respondentia. Accordingly Perrin delivered so much Pepper, and on the Delivery, required his Bond up, but the Governor told him, that he being a Fellow troubled with the Spirit of interloping, in buying Goods, and taking Freights where he could best get them, he would keep that Bond as a Curb on him, that he should not spoil his Markets for the future. Poor Perrin used all his Rhetorick to get his Bond up, but to no Purpose; and the Governor moreover gave his Wine a bad Name, so that he could not dispose of that neither, and all this Oppression was in order to straiten him, that he might be obliged to sell his purchased Ship, at a low Price, to him and his Associates, which at last, last, he was obliged to do, holding a Quarter Part in his own Hands, to secure the Command of her to himself, which after all, he could hardly do. Perrin made his Complaint to me, but I was in no Condition to assist him, because I, having three or four large Ships at Bengal, was reckoned a Criminal guilty of that unpardonable Sin of Interloping; however, I advised Perrin to comply with his inexorable Master, on any Terms of Agreement whatsoever, which he endeavoured to do, that he might, at least, keep the Command of his Ship, where he was so much concerned, and had hardly done it, but by Accident. One Day meeting me on the Green near the Fort, he stopped me to relate his Grievances, and begged, that if he was turned out of his own Ship, he might have an employ in one of mine, which I promised he should.

Sheldon espied us, out of a Window, holding a long Confabulation, and being impatient to know about what, sent a Servant to call Perrin; and he, obeying the Summons, was interrogated about what our Discourse was; and he told the Promise I had made him. Sheldon told him, that he was as capable to employ him, as I could be. Perrin answered, that he knew that, but wished that he would be as willing too; so Sheldon promised, that he should command his own Ship to Persia.

But the Wine still lay unfolded, tho' it was scarce then in Bengal; but the Name that it got, got, first at Fort St. George, and afterward in Fort William, stuck so fast to it, that none of it would go off at any Price, so I advised him to carry it off in the Night, in my Boats, on board of one of my Ships, and I would try if I could serve him in selling it, which accordingly he did, and two Gentlemen of the Council, being that Season bound for England, coming one Day to dine with me, I treated them, and the rest of my Company, with that Persia Wine, which they all praised, and ask'd me where I got it. I told them, that, knowing that good Wines would be scarce at Bengal that Year, I had provided a good Quantity at Surat, from whence I had come that Season. Every one begged that I would spare them some Chests, which I condescend-ed to do as a Favour, and next Day sent them what they wanted, at double the Price the Owner demanded for it, while he had it, and so got off above 120 Chests, which enabled Mr. Perrin to satisfy most of his Creditors.

Sheldon provided a Stock and Freight for Perrin to Persia, and put on board some rotten long Pepper, that he could dispose of no other Way, and some damaged Gunmies, which are much in Use in Persia for embaling Goods, when they are good in their Kind; but nolens volens, Perrin must take them, and sign Bills of Loading for good well conditioned Goods; and yet, after he was ready to fail, he had been stopt, if he could not raise the Sum of 2500 Rupees, to discharge a Bill, that, at that Time, became due, and was indorsed to Sheldon. I also helped him out of that Difficulty, and took his Bond for the Sum, bearing Interest from the Date, at the current Interest of 1 per Cent. per Mensem, to Perrin proceeded on his Voyage to Persia, but called at Calcut in his Way Home again, and laid up his Ship there, and took Protection of Neyer, with the full Hand of 11000 L. Sterl. of Bengal Money, and wrote to Mr. Sheldon, that he might keep his former Bond, and he would take Care of his Part of the Stock in his Hands. He also wrote to me, that he would take particular Care to reimburse me, but, in a short Time after, he died, and his Effects came into the English Chief's Hands, who detained them several Years, denying that ever he had any, till Governor Boone came to the Government of Bombay in 1715, and then he made a lame Account. I have been so prolix and particular in this Story, that it may form an Idea of the Deformity and dismal Image of Tyranny and Villany supported by a Power, that neither divine nor human Laws have Force enough to bridle or restrain.

The Company's Colony is limited by a Land-mark at Governapore, and another near Barnagul, about six Miles distant; and the Salt-water Lake bounds it on the Land Side. It may contain, in all, about 10 or 12000 Souls;
Souls; and the Company's Revenues are pretty good, and well paid. They rise from Ground-rents and Confulage on all Goods imported and exported by British Subjects; but all Nations besides are free from Taxes.

C H A P. XXXIV.

Is a Continuation of the Description of Bengal.

Barnagul is the next Village on the River's Side, above Calcutta, where the Dutch have an House and Garden; and the Town is famously infamous for a Seminary of female Lewdness, where Numbers of Girls are trained up for the Destruction of unwary Youths, who study more how to gratify their brutal Passions, than how to shun the evil Consequences that attend their Folly, notwithstanding the daily Instances of Rottenness and Mortality that happen to those who most frequent those Schools of Debauchery. The Dutch Shipping anchors there sometimes, to take in their Cargoes for Batavia. And those are all that are remarkable at Barnagul or Barnagur.

There are several other Villages on the River's Sides, in the Way to Hughly, which lies 20 Miles above Barnagul, but none remarkabe, remarkable, till we come to the Danes Factory, which stands about four Miles below Hugby, but the Poverty of the Danes has made them desert it, after having robbed the Mogul's Subjects of some of their Shipping, to keep themselves from starving.
A New Account

Almost opposite to the Danes Factory is Bankebanksal, a Place where the Ostend Company settled a Factory, but, in Anno 1723, they quarrelled with the Fouzdaar or Governor of Hugby, and he forced the Ostenders to quit their Factory, and seek Protection from the French at Charnagur, where their Factory is, but, for Want of Money, are not in a Capacity to trade. They have a few private Families dwelling near the Factory, and a pretty little Church to hear Mas in, which is the chief Business of the French in Bengal.

About half a League farther up is the Chinbura, where the Dutch Emporium stands. It is a large Factory, walled high with Brick. And the Factors have a great many good Houses standing pleasantly on the River's Side; and all of them have pretty Gardens to their Houses. The Chinbura is wholly under the Dutch Company's Government. It is about a Mile long, and about the same Breadth, well inhabited by Armenians and the Natives. It is contiguous to Hugby, and affords Sanctuary for many poor Natives, when they are in Danger of being opprest by the Mogul's Governor, or his Harpies.
of the East-Indies.

Hugbly is a Town of a large Extent, but ill built. It reaches about 2 Miles along the River's Side, from the Chincbura before mentioned to the Bandel, a Colony formerly settled by the Portugueze, but the Mogul's Fowzduar governs both at present. This Town of Hugbly drives a great Trade, because all foreign Goods are brought thither for Import, and all Goods of the Product of Bengal are brought hither for Exportation. And the Mogul's Fureza or Customhouse is at this Place. It affords rich Cargoes for fifty or sixty Ships yearly, besides what is carried to neighbouring Countries in small Vessels; and there are Vessels that bring Salt-petre from Patana, above 50 Yards long, and 5 broad, and two and an half deep, and can carry above 200 Tuns. They come down in the Month of October, before the Stream of the River, but are obliged to track them up again, with Strength of Hand, about 1000 Miles. To mention all the particular Species of Goods that this rich Country produces, is far beyond my Skill; but, in our East-India Company's Sales, all the Sorts, that are sent hence to Europe, may be found; but Ophium, long Pepper and Ginger are Commodities that the trading Shipping in India deals in, besides Tobacco, and many Sorts of Piece Goods, that are not merchantable in Europe.

The Bandel, at present, deals in no Sort of Commodities, but what are in Request at the Court of Venus, and they have a Church, where the Owners of such Goods and Merchandize are to be met with, and the Buyer may be conducted to proper Shops, where the Commodities may be seen and felt, and a Priest to be Security for the Soundness of the Goods.

Now this being my farthest Travels up the famous Ganges, I must advance farther on the Report of others, and so I begin with Caffembazaar, about 100 Miles above Huglhy, where the English and Dutch have their respective Factories; and, by their Companies Orders, the Seconds of Council ought to be Chiefs of those Factories. The Town is large, and much frequented by Merchants, which never fails of making a Place rich. The Country about it is very healthful and fruitful, and produces industrious People, who cultivate many valuable Manufactories.

Muxadabaud is but 12 Miles from it, a Place of much greater Antiquity, and the Mogul has a Mint there; but the ancient Name of Muxadabaud is changed for Rajabmal, for above a Century. It was, in former Times, the greatest Place of Trade and Commerce on the Ganges, but now its Trade and Grandeur adorns Caffembazaar.

About forty or fifty Miles to the Eastward of Rajabmel, on another Channel of the Ganges, Maldo, a large Town, well inhabited and frequented by Merchants, and the English and Dutch had Factories there, but whether they are continued still, I know not.

Patana
Patana is the next Town frequented by Europeans, where the English and Dutch have Factories for Salt-petre and raw Silk. It produces also so much Opium, that it serves all the Countries in India with that Commodity. It is the Place of Residence of the Prince of Bengal, who is always of the Blood Royal. The Town is large, but the Houses built at some Distance from one another. The Country is pleasant and fruitful; and the Town lies in 26 Degrees of Latitude to the Northward of the Equator.

Bannaras lies about 100 Miles farther up the River, celebrated for its Sanctity by all Persons over India, where Paganism prevails. Here are Seminaries and Universities for the Education of Youth, and to initiate them into the Mysteries of their Religion. Aurenzeh restrained the Priests from chewing the Madness of their Zeal, for they found out some weak Dotards, who, for Ostenation, would go to the Top of an high Tower, and leap down where divers pointed Weapons were placed in the Spot they were to fall on, and among them they ended their silly Lives. It is still in so much Veneration, that I have known young and old Banyans go from Surat thither over Land, out of Devotion, which is computed to be 400 Miles. The Priests fill Brass and Copper Pots, made in the Shape of short-necked Bottles, with Ganges's Water, which they consecrate and seal up, and send those Bottles, which contain about four English Gallons, all over India, to their Benefactors, who make make them good Returns, for whoever is wash'd with that Water just before they expire, are wash'd as clean from their Sins as a new-born Babe.

I have ventured so far into this Terra incognita on the Ganges, that I dare venture no farther, but must visit Dacca, which lies under the Tropick of Cancer, on the broadest and easternmost Branch of Ganges. The City is the largest in Bengal, and it manufactures Cotton and Silk the best and cheapest. The Plenty and Cheapness of Provisions are incredible, and the Country is full of Inhabitants, but it breeds none of tolerable Courage, for five or six armed Men will chase a Thousand: Yet, about two Centuries ago, Dacca had its own Kings, but when Jehan Guire, the King of Mogul, overran Bengal with a victorious Army, a Detachment of 20000 Men was sent down to Dacca, on whose Approach the poor King surrendered his Kingdom, without once drawing his Sword in its Defence, and so it easily became annexed to the Mogul's Dominions.

That Branch of the Ganges disembogues into the Sea at Chittagong, or, as the Portuguese call it, Xatigam, about 50 Leagues below Dacca; and this Place confines the Mogul's Dominions to the Eastward. The Distance between Sagar the westernmost Channel of the Ganges, and Xatigam the easternmost, is about 100 Leagues, the maritime Coast being divided into many small Islands made by the Currents of the Ganges, but very very few are inhabited, because they are so pestered with Tigers, that there is little Safety for other Inhabitants; and there are also many Rhinoceroses on those Islands, but they are not so dangerous Neighbours as the Tigers, yet, when provoked, they will assault any living Thing. Nature has endued him with two particular Rarities out of her Stores. One is a large Horn placed on his Nose. The second is a Coat of Mail to defend him from the Teeth or Claws of other fierce Animals. His Tongue is also somewhat of a Rarity, for, if he can but get any of his Antagonists down, he will lick them so clean, that he leaves neither Skin nor Flesh to cover their Bones; but he is seldom known to be an Aggressor, except when he meets with an Elephant, then he sharpens his Horn and assaults, tho' he is much inferior to the Elephant in Bulk and Strength, being no bigger than a very large Ox, yet he often overcomes in spite of the Elephant's Teeth.

Sundiva is an Island four Leagues distant from the rest, and so far it lies in the Sea, it is about 20 Leagues in Circumference, and has three Fathoms Water within a Mile of the Shore, and it may serve to shelter small Ships from the raging Seas, and Winds of the South-west Monsoons. I was credibly informed by one that wintred there, that he bought 580 Pound Weight of Rice for a Rupee, or Half a Crown, eight Geese for the same Money, and sixty good tame Poultry for the same, and Cloth is also incredibly incredibly cheap; it is but thinly inhabited, but the People simple and honest.

The Religion of Bengal by Law established, is Mahometan, yet for one Mahometan there are above an Hundred Pagans, and the publick Offices and Posts of Trust are filled promiscuously with Men of both Perswasions.

The Gentiles are better contented to live under the Mogul's Laws than under Pagan Princes, for the Mogul taxes them gently, and every one knows what he must pay, but the Pagan Kings or Princes tax at Discretion, making their own Avarice the Standard of Equity; besides there were formerly many small Rajabs, that used, upon frivolous Occasions, to pick Quarrels with one another, and before they could be made Friends again, their Subjects were forced to open both their Veins and Purses to gratify Ambition or Folly.

And now having curiously travelled over the most noted Countries and Towns in Bengal, with the best Remarks I could of their Government, only making a voluntary Omission of many Oppressions and other Injustices that came within the Reach of my own Knowledge and Experiments, I take Leave of that earthly Paradise, and proceed.

CHAP. XXXV.

Gives an Account of Xatigam, and the Kingdom of Arackan, some historical Observations on Sultan Sujah's Misfortunes there, and the Miseries that Country fell under by Civil Wars.

XATIGAM is a Town that borders on Bengal and Arackan, and its Poverty makes it a Matter of Indifference whom it belongs to. It was here that the Portugueze first settled in Bengal, but the Dangers their Ships run in coming thither in the South-west Monsoons, made them remove to the Bandel at Hugbly. The Mogul keeps a Cadjee or Judge in it, to administer Justice among the Pagan and Mahometan Inhabitants, but the Offspring of those Portugueze that followed the Fortune of Sultan Sujah, when he was forced to quit Bengal, are the domineering Lords of it.

It is not so fertile in Corn as Bengal, and has but few Cotton Manufactorys, but it affords the best Timber for building, of any Place about it. The River has a deep enough Entrance, but is pestered with Sand Banks, and some Rocks within. I have known some English Ships forced from Point Palmeira by stress of Weather thither, and had safe riding till the North-east Monsoons came to relieve them.
The Government is so anarchical, that every one goes armed with Sword and Pistol, and Blunderbusses, nay, even Priests are obliged to go armed, and often use their Arms to as bad Ends as the licentious Laity, and some of the Priests have died Martyrs to villainous Actions.

Arackan is the next maritime Country to the Southward of Bengal, and in former Times made some figure in Trade. It was into this Country that the unfortunate Sultan Sujab came a Supplicant for Protection, when Emirjemal chased him out of Bengal. He carried his Wives and Children with him, and about Two hundred of his Retinue, who were resolved to follow his Fortune, and he carried six or eight Camels load of Gold and Jewels which proved his Ruin, and in the End, the Ruin of the Kingdom of Arackan.

When Sultan Sujab first visited the King of Arackan, he made him Presents suitable to the Quality of the Donor and Receiver, the Arackaner promising him all the Civilities due to so great a Prince, with a safe Asylum for himself and Family. When Emirjemal knew where Sultan Sujab had taken Sanctuary, he sent a Letter to the King of Arackan, wherein he demanded the poor distress Prince to be delivered up to him, otherwise he threatened to bring his Army into his Country to take him by Force. The threatening Letter wrought so far on the base Arackaner, that he contrived Ways and Means to pick a Quarrel with his Guest, to have have a Pretext to oblige Emirjeman; at last he found a very fair one.

Sultan Sujab having a very beautiful Daughter, the King of Arackan desired her in Marriage, but knew well enough that Sultan Sujab would never consent to the Match, he being a Pagan, and she a Mahometan. Her Father used all reasonable Arguments to dissuade the Arackaner from prosecuting his Suit, but in vain, for the Arackaner grew daily more pressing, and Sultan Sujab at last gave him a flat Denial, on which the base King sent him Orders to go out of his Dominions in Three Days, and forbid the Markets to furnish him any more with Provisions for his Money. Sultan Sujab knowing it would be Death for him to go back to Bengal, resolved to pass over some Mountains overgrown with Woods, into the King of Pegu's Dominions, which were not above 100 Miles off, and so next Day after Summons, with his Family, Treasure, and Attendants, Sultan Sujab began his March, but the barbarous Arackaner sent a strong Party after him, who overtook him before he had advanced far into the Woods, and killed most of Sultan Sujab's Company, and seized the Treasure, and brought it back in an inglorious Triumph. What became of Sultan Sujab and his fair Daughter, none could ever give a certain Account; whether they were killed in the Skirmish, or whether they were destroyed by wild Elephants and Tigers in the Woods, none ever knew; but the Arackaners allledge alledge they were destroyed by the wild Beasts of the Woods, and not by the more savage Beasts in human Shape.

So much Treasure never had been seen in Arackan before, but to whom it should belong caused some Disturbance. The King thought that all belonged to him; those that fought for it claimed a Share; and the Princes of the Blood wanted some fine large Diamonds for their Ladies; but the Tribe of Levi found a way to make up the Difference, and persuaded the King and the other Pretenders, to dedicate it to the God Dagun, who was the titular God of the Kingdom, and to deposite it in his Temple, which all agreed to; now whether this be the same Dagon of Ashdod, mentioned in the first Book and fifth Chapter of Samuel, I do not certainly know, but Dagun has a large Temple in Arackan, that I have heard of, and another in Pegu that I have seen.

In 1690, a King of Arackan dying without Issue, two Princes of the Blood quarrelled about filling up the Vacancy; they both took Arms, and both had an Eye upon the Treasure, which so frightened the Priesthood, that they removed Sultan Sujab's Treasure to another Place only known to themselves; and those two hot Blades pursued their Quarrel so warmly, that in one Year themselves and Families were entirely cut off, and the Kingdom has continued in Anarchy ever since.

Arackan has the Conveniency of a noble spacious
of the East-Indies.

Cious River, and its Mouth is both large and deep enough to accommodate Ships of the greatest Burden into a spacious Harbour, large enough to hold all the Ships in Europe.

When the English left Bengal in Anno 1686, Mr. Charnock came thither with half a Dozen of great Ships, to pass the South-west Monsoons away; the Country assisted them plentifully with Provisions, but they had no other Commerce; they had no less than six Fathoms Water going into the River, and in some Places within, above twenty. The Country produces Timber for building, some Lead, Tin, Sticklack, and Elephants Teeth.

The Sea Coast of Arakan reaches from Xatigam to Cape Negrais, about 400 Miles in Length, but few Places inhabited, because there are such vast Numbers of wild Elephants and Buffaloes, that would destroy the Productions of the Ground, and Tigers to destroy the tame Animals, that they think it impracticable to inhabit it, only some Islands in the Sea are peopled with some poor miserable Fishers, who get their Bread out of the Water, to keep them from starving, and they live out of the way of Oppression.

There are some of the Mogul's Subjects who trade to Arakan for the Commodities above-mentioned, and sometimes they meet with good Bargains of Diamonds, Rubies, &c. precious Stones, and Gold Rupees, which are to be supposed are some of Sultan Sujab's Treasure, pilfered by the avaricious Priests.
There are abundance of Islands on the Arakan Coast, but they lie close to the Shore, only the Buffalo Islands lie about four Leagues off, and there is a Rock that shews its Head above Water about the middle of the Channel, between those Islands and the Continent. The Channels among the Buffalo Islands seem to be clear of Danger, and above 20 Fathoms Water in them, but about eight Leagues off the North End of the great Island of Negrais, is a dangerous Rock that only appears above Water, in the low Ebb of Spring Tides; it lies in 15 Fathoms Water, and twenty Yards off are 13 Fathoms. The other Island of Negrais, which makes the Point called the Cape, is a small, low, barren, rocky Island, it is often called Diamond Island, because its Shape is a Rhombus. About the Year 1704, four French Ships went to careen at the great Negrais, and turning in between the Islands, one Ship of 70 Guns called L'Indien, run a-ground on some Rocks lying on the Inside of Diamond Island, and was lost, but the rest saved the Men, and all her portable Furniture.

Three Leagues to the Southward of Diamond Island, lies a Reef of Rocks a League long, but they do not appear above Water, tho' they are conspicuous at all Times by the Sea breaking on them. There is a good Channel between the Island and them, above a League broad, and 11 or 12 Fathoms deep; the Rocks are called the Legarti, or in English, the Lizard.

C H A P. XXXVI.

Gives an Account of the famous Kingdom of Pegu, its Situation and Product, with its Laws, Customs, and Religion, and some historical Accounts of their Temples and Gods, of Occurrences and Revolutions in the State, and how it became a Province of the Kingdom of Barma.

The Sea-coast from Negrais to Syrian Bar, is in the Dominions of Pegu; there are some of the Mouths of Pegu River open on that Coast into the Sea. Dolla is the first, about fifty Miles to the Eastward of Negrais. China Backaar is another about forty Miles to the Eastward of Dolla, and between these Openings there is a dangerous Bank of black Sand, that runs four or five Leagues out into the Sea, and so far off there are but 14 Foot Water. About 60 Miles to the Eastward of China Backaar, is the Bar of Syrian, the only Port now open for Trade in all the Pegu Dominions.

If by Accident a Ship bound to Syrian, be driven a League or two to the Eastward of that River's Mouth, a strong Tide carries her on hard Sands till she sits fast on them, for Anchors are of no Use to stop them, because of the Rapidity of the Current; at low Water the Ships are dry when on those Sands, and the Sea leaves them, and retires 5 or 6 Leagues, at which Time the shipwrecked Men walk on the Sands towards the Shore for their Safety, for the Sea comes back with so much Noise, that the roaring of the Billows may be heard ten Miles off, for a Body of Waters comes rolling in on the Sand, whose Front is about two Fathoms high, and whatever Body lies in its way it over-turns, and no Ship can evade its Force, but in a Moment is overturned, this violent Boer the Natives call a Mackrea.

About six Leagues from the Bar of Pegu River, is the City of Syrian, it is built near the River's Side on a rising Ground, and walled round with a Stone-wall without Mortar. The Governor, who is generally of the Blood-royal, has his Lodgings in it, but the Suburbs are four Times bigger than the City. It was many Years in Possession of the Portuguez, till by their Insolence and Pride they were obliged to quit it.

The ancient City of Pegu stands about forty Miles to the Eastward of Syrian, the Ditches that surrounded the City, which are now dry, and bear good Corn, testify that few Cities in the World exceeded it in Magnitude, for they are reckoned six or seven Leagues round their outward Polygon.

It was the Seat of many great and puissant Kings, who made as great a Figure as any in the East,

East, but now its Glory is in the Dust, for not one twentieth Part of it is inhabited, and those are but the lower Class of People who inhabit it. The Cause of the Ruin of the Kingdoms of Pegu, Martavan, and some others under the Dominions of Pegu, I had from some Peguers, in several Discourses with them about that Revolution, which was thus.

There was great Love and Friendship between the Kings and Subjects of Pegu and Siam, being next Neighbours to one another, and they had a good Intercourse of Trade, both by Land and Sea, till in the fifteenth Century, a Pegu Vessel being at Odia the chief City of Siam, and when ready to depart for Pegu, anchored one Evening near a little Temple a few Miles below the City, and the Master of the Vessel, with some of his Crew, going to worship in that Temple, seeing a pretty well carv'd Image of the God Samjay, about a Cotv high, fell in Love with it, and finding his Priests negligent in watching, stole him away, and carried him on board Prisoner for Pegu. When the negligent Priests mist their little God they were in a deplorable Condition, lamenting their Loss to all their neighbouring Priests, who advised them to complain to the King of Siam of the Theft, which accordingly they did, imploring his good Offices with the King of Pegu, to have their God sent back; and it happened that by the unseasonable Floods in the River that Year, there came to be a great Scarcity of Corn, which Cal...

lamentation was imputed by the Priests to the Loss of Sambay, upon which the pious Prince sent an Embassy to his Brother of Pegu, desiring the Restitution of the Image, whose Absence had caused so great Loss and Clamour in his Country.

The King of Pegu being as great a Bigot as his Brother of Siam, would be no Means deliver back a God who had fled from the Impieties of his native Land to him for Protection, and with that Answer sent back the Siam Ambassador, who was not a little mortified with the Disappointment.

Since fair Means could not persuade the Peguer to send back the little God, the Siamer was resolved to try what Force would do, and accordingly raised an Army of two or three hundred thousand Men to invade the King of Pegu's Dominions, and the first Fury of the War fell on the Province of Martavan, being contiguous to the Territories of Siam, and with Fire and Sword destroyed the open Country almost to the Gates of the City of Martavan, where often the King of Pegu kept his Court, and was formerly the Metropolis of an independent Kingdom, before Pegu reduced that Country by Conquest to be a Province of theirs.

After the Siamer had satiated his Cruelty and Rage, by the Destruction of many poor Innocents, he retired back to his own Country very much elevated with Pride and Vain-glory for his great Achievements, but next Year he was pretty well humbled; for the Peguer raised a much greater Army, and embarking them in small Boats on the River Memnon, on which the City of Odia stands in one of its Islands, his Army was brought with so much Celerity and Secrecy, that the Peguer brought the first News of his Invasion, and pitching his Tents round the City, soon brought it into great Straits, by stopping the daily Provisions that supported it, but unexpectedly the River bringing down great Floods of Waters, sooner than their ordinary Time, the Country about the City overflowed, and spoil'd all the Peguers Provisions of Corn, and drowned near the half of his Army, which obliged him to raise the Siege, and retire to his own Dominions.

Next Year, the Siamer, to be revenged, levied another great Army, with which he overran all the inland Countries of Pegu that lay near him, and annexed them to his own Dominions. The Peguer finding that he could not recover his Lands without foreign Aid and Assistance, invited the Portuguez, whose Name began to be dreadful in India, and by the great Encouragement he gave them, got about 1000 Volunteers into his Service. Neither the Siames nor the Peguers at that Time understood the Use of Fire Arms, and their Noise and Execution at so great a Distance terrified them. With the Portuguez Assistance, the Peguer went with his Army, which was very numerous, to find out the Siamer, and having found him, gave him Battle, the Portuguez being in the Front Front with their Fire Arms, soon put the Siamer to Flight, before they could come to Handy-blows, on which he left the Peguer's Country, in greater haste than he came into it.

The King of Pegu was so sensible of the Portuguese Service in gaining the Battle, and driving the Siamers out of his conquered Country, that he made one Senbor Tboma Pereyra (who commanded the Portuguese in the War) Generalissimo of all his Forces, which Preferment made the Portuguese so insolent, that in a few Years they became intolerable to all Ranks and Degrees of Persons in Pegu.

Both Kings grew tired of War, but both too proud to make Advances toward Peace, so that for many Years they had skirmishing with small Parties, tho' no set Battles, and where ever the Portuguese Arms went, they had Victory to accompany them.

The King of Pegu, to have his Forces nearer the Borders of Siam, settled his Court at Martovan, and kept the Portuguese near him, to be ready on all Occasions, either to repel or assault the Siam Forces, as Opportunity served, and Tboma Pereyra was the darling Favourite at Court; he had his Elephants of State, and a Guard of his own Countrymen to attend him.

One Day as he was coming from Court in State, on a large Elephant, towards his own Palace, he chanced to hear Musick in a Burgher's House, whose Daughter being a very beautiful Virgin, had been married that Morning to a young Man of

of the Neighbourhood. The General went to the House and wished them Joy, and desired to see the Bride. The Parents took the General's Visit for a great Honour done them, and brought their Daughter to his Elephant's Side; he being smitten with her Beauty, ordered his Guard to seize her and carry her to his House.

His Orders were but too readily obeyed, and the poor Bridegroom not being able to bear his Loss, cut his own Throat, and the disconsolate Parents of their injured Children, rent their Clothes, and went crying and complaining through the Streets towards the King's Palace, imploring their Gods and Countrymen to avenge them on the insolent Portuguezex, the common Oppressors of their Country. Crowds of People came from all Parts of the City to hear and see the Tragedy, their Numbers grew so great, that the Streets were hardly big enough for them, and their Noise so loud that it reached the King's Ears, who sent to know the Cause of their Uproar. The Messenger returning, acquainted the King what had been transacted, and he, to appease the Tumult, sent them Word that he would punish the Criminal, and accordingly sent for his General, but he being much taken up with the Enjoyment of his new Purchase, made an Excuse that he was so much out of Order, that he could not then wait on his Majesty till he was better; which Answer so provoked the King, that he ordered the whole City to take Arms, and to make a general Massacre.
sacre on all the Portuguese wherever they could be found in City or Country. The King's Orders were put in Execution so speedily, that in a few Hours all the Portuguese were slaughtered, and the guilty Criminal was taken alive, and made fast by the Heels to an Elephant's Foot, who dragged him through the Streets till there was no Skin nor Flesh left to cover his Bones, which Spectacle appeas'd the enraged Populace. There were only three Portuguese saved, who were accidentally in the Suburbs next the River, who hid themselves till Night favoured their Escape in a small Boat, in which they coasted along the Shore, feeding on what the Woods and Rocks afforded them, and at length arrived at Malacca, to give an Account of the melancholy Scene.

Both Kingdoms being much weakened with bloody Wars, took Reit for many Years, but never entred on Treaties of Peace. So about the middle of the seventeen Century, the Si-amer invaded the Dominions of Pegu, and conquered all to the Southward of Martavan, taking in the Provinces of Tanacerin and Ligore, who were Tributaries to Pegu, and retains them still in his Possession.

The King of Pegu finding that the Incroachments of Siam daily lessened his Dominions, and his own Forces were not able to protect what he had left, sent an Embassy to the King of Barma, a potent Prince, whose Dominions lay about 500 Miles up the River from Pegu, to

to beg his Assistance to stop the Siamers in their Courte of Conquests, and he promised to give good Encouragement to the Barmaes. The Embassy was graciously received, and an Army of an hundred thousand was levied for that Service, and sent on transport Vessels to Pegu, and joined the Pegu Army, who conjunctly marched against the Siamer, and drove him quite out of his new Conquests; and when the Barmaes observed the Feebleness and bad Discipline of the Pegu Army, they even killed the King of Pegu, and broke the Pegu Army, and seized the Kingdoms of Pegu and Martavan for their Master, and in that Family it continues to this Time. The Barmaes ruined both the Cities of Pegu and Martavan, and sunk Vessels in the Mouth of the River of Martavan, to make it un navigable, and so it continues. This Account I had at Pegu in Anno 1709; both from Peguers and Portuguez, who agreed in the History as I have related it.

The Dominions of Barma are at present very large, reaching from Moravi near Tanacerin, to the Province of Yunnan in China, about 800 Miles from North to South, and 250 Miles broad from West to East. It has no Sea-port but Syrian, and that River is capable to receive a Ship of 600 Tuns. The Town drives a good Trade with Armenians, Portuguez, Moors and Gentows, and some English; their Import is several Sorts of Indian Goods, such as Betel-las, Mulmuls, Coffees, Sannis, Orangskays, Tungibs, gebs, European Hats coarse and fine, and Silver. The Customs are eight and an half per Cent. which, with other Charges, amount to about twelve in the Hundred. The Product of the Country is Timber for building, Elephants, Elephants Teeth, Bees-wax, Stick-lack, Iron, Tin, Oil of Earth, Wood-oil, Rubies the best in the World, Diamonds, but they are small, and are only found in the Craws of Poultry and Pheasants, and one Family has only the Indulgence to fell them, and none dare open the Ground to dig for them. Salt-petre they have in Abundance, but it is Death to export it, Plenty of Ganse or Lead, which passeth all over the Pegu Dominions for Money. About twenty Sail of Ships find their Account in Trade for the limited Commodities, but the Armenians have got the Monopoly of the Rubies, which turns to a good Account in their Trade; and I have seen some blue Sapphires there, that I was told were found on some Mountains of this Country.

The Country is very fruitful in Corn, Fruits, and Roots, and excellent Legumen of several Species; abundance of wild Game either quadrupeds or winged. In the Months of September and October, wild Deer are so plentiful, that I have bought one for three or four Pence; they are very meaty, but no Fat about them. They have many Sorts of good Fish, and Swines Flesh, and Poultry are both plentiful and good. They
They wear none of our European Commodities but Hats and Ribbons, and the Gentry will give extravagant Prices for fine Beaver Hats, and rich Ribbons flower'd with Silver and Gold, and if it be never so broad it is stretched up the Crown of the Hat as far as it can go, and they use no Sort of Cock to their Hats. Cotton Cloths from Bengal and Chormondel, with some stripped Silks, are best for their Market, and Silver of any Sort is welcome to them. It pays the King eight and a Half per Cent. Custom, but in lieu of that high Duty, he indulges the Merchants to melt it down, and put what Alloy they please in it, and then to pass it off in Payments as high as they can.

Rupee Silver, which hath no Alloy in it, will bear twenty eight per Cent. of Copper-alloy, and keep the Pegu Touch, which they call flower'd Silver, and if it flowers, it passes current.

Their Way to make flower'd Silver is, when the Silver and Copper are mix'd and melted together, and while the Metal is liquid, they put it into a Shallow Mould, of what Figure or Magnitude they please, and before the Liquidity is gone, they blow on it through a small wooden Pipe, which makes the Face, or Part blown upon, appear with the Figures of Flowers or Stars, but I never saw any European or other Foreigner at Pegu, have the Art to make those Figures appear, and if there is too great a Mixture of Alloy, no Figures will appear.
A New Account

The King generally adds ten per Cent. on all Silver that comes into his Treasury, besides what was put on at first, and tho' it be not flower'd, it must go off in all his Payments, but from any Body else it may be refused if it is not flower'd.

His Government is arbitrary. All his Commands are Laws, but the Reins of Government are kept steady and gently in the King's own Hand. He severely punishes his Governors of Provinces or Towns, if Oppressions or other illegal Practices are proven upon them; and to know how Affairs pass in the State, every Province or City has a Mandereen or Deputy residing at Court, which is generally in the City of Ava, the present Metropolis.

Every Morning these Mandereens are obliged to attend at Court, and after his Majesty has drest and breakfasted, which is generally on a Dish of Rice boiled in fair Water, and his Sauce is some Shrimps dried and powder'd, and some Salt and Cod-pepper mix'd with those two Ingredients, and that Mixture makes a very pungent Sauce, which they call Prock, and is in great Esteem and Use among the Peguers.

When his Breakfast is over, he retires into a Room so contrived that he can see all the Attendants, but none can see him, and a Page stands without to call whom the King would have give Account of the current News of his Province or City, which is performed with profound Reverence toward the Room where the King
King stays, and with a distinct audible Voice; and if any particular Matters of Consequence is forgot or omitted, and the King comes to hear of it by another Hand, severe Punishments follow, and so he passeth his Mornings in hearing the necessary Cases of his own Affairs as well as those of his Subjects.

If he is informed of Treason, Murder, or such like heinous Crimes, he orders the Matter to be judicially tried before Judges of his own choosing, for that Time and Affair, and on Conviction he signs the dead Warrant, wherein he orders, that the Wretch convicted shall trade no more on his Ground, and Execution presently follows, either by beheading, or ordering them to be Sport for his Elephants, which is the cruellest Death. Sometimes he banishes them for a certain Time to the Woods, and if they are not devoured by Tigers, or killed by wild Elephants, they may Return when their Term is expired, and pass the remainder of their Days in serving a tame Elephant; and for smaller Crimes they are only condemned to clean his Elephants Stables for Life.

His Subjects, if they may be so called, treat him with fulsom Adulation. When they speak or write to him, they call him their God (or in their Language Ksiack) and in his Letter to foreign Princes, he assumes the Title of King of Kings, to whom all other Kings ought to be subject, as being near Kinsman and Friend to all the Gods in Heaven and on Earth, and by their their Friendship to him all Animals are fed and preserved, and the Seasons of the Year are regularly kept: The Sun is his Brother, and the Moon and Stars are his near Relations, Lord over the Floods and Ebbing of the Sea; and after all his lofty Epithets and Hyperboles, he descends to be King of the white Elephant, and of the twenty four white Somereroes or Umbrellas. These two last he may indeed claim with some Shew of Justice, for I have seen Elephants of a light yellow Colour both in Pegu and Siam, but who ought to be called their Lord is a Question not yet decided; and as King of the twenty four white Somereroes, I believe few Kings will much care to dispute that glorious Title with him, for those Somereroes are only common China Umbrellaes, covered over with thin Chormondei Betteellaes, and their Canes lack’d and gilded, and because his own Subjects dare not use any such Umbrellaes, he wisely lays his imperial Commands on all other Kings to forbear wearing of them when they go abroad.

After his Majesty has dined, there is a Trumpet blown, to signify to all his Slaves, as he terms other Kings, that they may go to Dinner, because their Lord has already dined. And when any foreign Ships arrive at Syrian, the Number of People on board, with their Age and Sex, are sent to him, to let him know that so many of his Slaves are arrived to partake of the Glory and Happiness of his Reign and Favour, and the highest Title his own Subjects assume, is the King's first Slave.
of the East Indies.

The King's Palace at Ava is very large, built of Stone, and has four Gates for its Conveniences. Ambassadors enter at the East Gate, which is called the golden Gate, because all Ambassadors make their Way to him by Presents. The South Gate is called the Gate of Justice, where all People that bring Petitions, Accusations, or Complaints, enter. The West is the Gate of Grace, where all that have received Favours, or have been acquitted of Crimes, pass out in State, and all condemned Persons carried out in Fetters; and the North Gate, fronting the River, is the Gate of State where his Majesty passes through, when he thinks fit to bless his People with his Presence, and all his Provisions and Water are carried in at that Gate.

When Pots of Water, or Baskets of Fruits are carried through the Streets for the King's Use, an Officer attends them, and all the People that fortune to be near, must fall on their Knees, and let it pass by, as a good Catholick does when he sees the Host.

When an Ambassador is admitted to Audience in the Palace, he is attended with a large Troop of Guards, with Trumpets sounding, and Heralds proclaiming the Honour the Ambassador is about to receive, in going to see the Glory of the Earth, his Majesty's own sweet Face, and between the Gate and the Head of the Stairs that that lead to the Chamber of Audience, the Ambassador is attended with the Master of the Ceremonies, who instructs him to kneel three Times in his Way thither, and continue so with his Hands over his Head, till a Proclamation is read before he dare rise. Some of his Elephants are instructed to fall on their Belly when the King passes by them.

This Relation I had from one Mr. Roger Alison, who had been twice Ambassador from the Governor of Fort St. George, or his Agents at Syrian, to the Court of Ava; and tho' the Palace is very large, yet the Buildings are but mean, and the City tho' great and populous, is only built on Bambow Canes, thatch'd with Straw or Reeds, and the Floors of Teak Plank, or split Bambous, because if Treason or other capital Crimes be detected, the Criminals may have no Place of Shelter, for if they do not appear on the first Summons, Fire will fetch them out of their combustible Habitations.

His Sword-officers have no Salary, nor his Soldiers for their Support, but there is a Province or a City given to some minion, who is to give Sustenance to such a Number of Soldiers, and find the Palace at Ava with such a Quota for Provisions as the Providore thinks fit to appoint.

When there is a War, and Parties are sent on Expeditions, then the King allows them Pay, Clothes, Arms, and provides Magazines of Provisions for them; but as soon as the War is at an End, then the Clothes and Arms are returned

ed, by which Means Discipline is little known among them, and a Man of a tolerable Stock of Courage may pass there for a Hero.

The Quality of an Officer is known by his Tobacco Pipe having an earthen or metallic Head, with a Socket to let in a jointed Reed, that on its upper End has a Mouth-piece of Gold, jointed as the Reed or Cane is, and by the Number of Joints in the golden Mouth-piece, the Quality of the Officer is known, and Respect paid him accordingly.

All Cities and Towns under this King's Dominions, are like aristocratical Common-wealths. The Prince or Governor seldom fits in Council, but appoints his Deputy, and twelve Counsellors or Judges, and they sit once in ten Days at least, but oftner when Business calls them. They convene in a large Hall, mounted about three Foot high, and double Benches round the Floor for People to sit or kneel on, and to hear the free Debates of Council. The Hall being built on Pillars of Wood, is open on all Sides, and the Judges set in the Middle on Matts, and sitting in a Ring there is no Place of Precedence; there are no Advocates to plead at the Bar, but every one has the Privilege to plead his own Cause, or send it in Writing to be read publicly, and it is determined judicially within the Term of three Sittings of Council, but if any one questions his own Eloquence, or Knowledge of the Laws of Equity, he may impoverish a Friend to plead for him, but there are are no Fees but what the Town contributes for the Maintenance of that Court, which in their Language is called the Rounday, and those Contributions are very small; There are Clerks set at the Backs of the Judges, ready to write down whatever the Complainant and Defendant has to say, and the Case is determined by the Prince and that Council, very equitably; for if the least Partiality is found awarded to either Party, and the King is made acquainted with it by the Deputies at Court, the whole Sentence is revoked, and the whole Board are corrected for it, so that very few have Occasion to appeal to Court, which they may do if they are aggrieved;
and if an Appeal is made upon ill Grounds, the Appellant is chastised, which just Rigour hinders many tedious Suits that arise where there are no Penalties annex'd to such Faults.

The Judges have a particular Garb of their own. Their Hair being permitted to grow long, is tied on the Top of their Heads with Cotton Ribbon wrapt about it, and it stand upright in the Form of a sharp Pyramid. Their Coat is of a thin Betella, so that their Skin is easily seen through it. About their Loins they have a large Lungee or Scarf, as all other Peguers have, that reaches to their Ancles, and against the Navel a round Bundle made of their Lungee, as big as a Child's Head, but Stockings and Shoes are not used in Pegu.

The Barmaes wear the same Habit, and imprint several Devices in their Skins, prick'd with a Bod-

a Bodkin, and the Powder of Charcoal rubbed over the little Wounds, while the Blood continues wet in them, and the black Marks remain ever after. The Peguers dare not paint their Skins, so that the Natives of each Nation are easily known by the distinguishing Mark of Painting or Plainness. There are few of their Men fat, but plump, well shap'd, of an Olive Colour, and well featur'd.

The Women are much whiter than the Men, and have generally pretty plump Faces, but of small Stature, yet very well shap'd, their Hands and Feet small, and their Arms and Legs well proportioned. Their Head-dress is their own black Hair tied up behind, and when they go abroad, they wear a Shaul folded up, or a Piece of white Cotton Cloth lying loose on the Top of their Heads. Their bodily Garb is a Frock of Cotton Cloth or Silk, made meet for their Bodies, and the Arms of their Frock stretch'd close on the Arm, the lower Part of the Frock reaching Half-thigh down. Under the Frock they have a Scarf or Lungee doubled fourfold, made fast about their Middle, which reaches almost to the Ankle, so contrived, that at every Step they make, as they walk, it opens before, and shews the right Leg and Part of the Thigh.

This Fashion of Petticoats, they say, is very ancient, and was first contrived by a certain Queen of that Country, who was grieved to see the Men so much addicted to Sodomy, that they neglected the pretty Ladies. She thought that by the Sight of a pretty Leg and plump Thigh, the Men might be allured from that abominable Custom, and place their Affections on proper Objects; and according to the ingenious Queen's Conjecture, that Dress of the Lungee had its desired End, and now the Name of So-domy is hardly known in that Country.

The Women are very courteous and kind to Strangers, and are very fond of marrying with Europeans, and most Part of the Strangers who trade thither, marry a Wife for the Term they stay. The Ceremony is, (after the Parties are agreed) for the Bride's Parents or nearest Friends or Relations, to make a Feast, and invite her Friends and the Bridegroom's, and at the End of the Feast, the Parent or Bride-man, asketh them both before the Company, if they are content to cohabit together as Man and Wife, and both declaring their Consent, they are declared by the Parent or Friend to be lawfully married, and if the Bridegroom has an House, he carries her thither, but if not, they have a Bed provided in the House where they are mar-rried, and are left to their own Discretion how to pass away the Night.

They prove obedient and obliging Wives,
and take the Management of Affairs within Doors wholly in their own Hands. She goes to Market for Food, and acts the Cook in dressing his Victuals, takes Care of his Clothes, in washing and mending them; if their Husbands have any Goods to sell, they set up a Shop and sell them by Retail, to a much better Account than they could be sold for by Wholesale, and some of them carry a Cargo of Goods to the inland Towns, and barter for Goods proper for the foreign Markets that their Husbands are bound to, and generally bring fair Accounts of their Negotiations. If she proves false to her Husband's Bed, and on fair Proof convicted, her Husband may carry her to the Rounday, and have her Hair cut, and sold for a Slave, and he may have the Money; but if the Husband goes astray, she'll be apt to give him a gentle Dose, to send him into the other World a Sacrifice to her Refsentment.

If she proves prolific, the Children cannot be carried out of the Kingdom without the King's Permission, but that may be purchased for 40 or 50 L. Sterl. and if an irreconcilable Quarrel happen where there are Children, the Father is obliged to take Care of the Boys, and the Mother of the Girls. If a Husband is content to continue the Marriage, whilst he goes to foreign Countries about his Affairs, he must leave some Fund to pay her about six Shillings and 8 Pence per Month, otherwise at the Year's End she may marry again, but if that Sum is paid her on his Account, she is obliged to stay the Term of three Years, and she is never the worse, but rather the better look'd on, that she has been married to several European Husbands.
C H A P. XXXVII.

Gives an Account of the Pegu Clergy, their Charity, &c. their Temples, and the Reason why they are so numerous, and their Trials by Ordeal, the Fertility of the Country, and the Ceremony in burning the Corps of an high Priest.

The Pegu Clergy are the best Observers of the Rules of Morality and Charity, that I have met with in my Travels, and the People are pious and hospitable. There are vast Numbers of Temples built in this Country, but most of Wood, because that Material is plenteous and cheapest, and takes Varnish and Gilding best, being gaudily painted both within and without. Every one has free Liberty to build a Baw or Temple, and when it is finished, purchases or bestows a few Acres of Ground to maintain a certain Number of Priests and Novices, who manure and cultivate the Ground for their own Sustenance, and in the Garden the Priests and Novices have a Convent built for their Conveniency of Lodgings and Study, and those are their settled Benefices, for they are no Charge to the Laity, but by their industrious Labour in managing their Garden, they have enough for themselves, and something
of the East Indies.

thing to spare to the poor Indigent of the Laity; but if their Garden is too small or sterile for the subsistence of their Family, then they send some Novices abroad with a large Orange-coloured Mantle about their Bodies, with a Basket hanging on their left Arm, a little Drum in the left Hand, and a little Stick in the right, and when they come to the People's Doors they beat three Strokes with the Stick on the Drum, and if none come to answer, they beat again, and so on to the third Time, and then if none answer, they proceed to the next House without speaking a Word, but they are seldom sent away without an Alms of Rice, Pulse, Fruits, or Roots, which is their only Food; and what they receive more than they have present occasion for, they distribute to the Poor, for they never take care for to Morrow, living all their Days in Celebacy, they have none of the Anxiety of thinking about Provision for a Widow and Children. Their innocent exemplary Lives procure them many Free-will-offerings from the well disposed Laity, and what is saved after providing their Convents, of Eatables and Clothing, returns to the Maintenance of the distressed Laity, who, through Age, Sickness, or other Accidents, cannot maintain themselves by Labour, but none who are able to work, partake of their Charity.

They preach or lecture frequently, and have a numerous Auditory. Their Religion is Paganism, and their System of Divinity, Polytheism. They have Images in their Temples or Baws, of inferior Gods, such as Somma Cuddom, Samsoy, and Prawpout, but they cannot form an Idea of the Image of the great God, whose Adoration is left to their Tallapois or Priests.

Those Tallapoies or Priests, teach, that Charity is the most sublime Virtue, and therefore ought to be extensive enough to reach not only to human Species, but even to Animals, wherefore they neither kill nor eat any, and they are so benevolent to Mankind, that they cherish all alike without Distinction, for the sake of Religion. They hold all Religions to be good that teach Men to be good, and that the Deities are pleated with Variety of Worship, but with none that is hurtful to Men, because Cruelty must be disagreeable to the Nature of a Deity: So being all agreed in that Fundamental, they have but few Polemicks, and no Persecutions, for they say that our Minds are free Agents, and ought neither to be forc'd nor fetter'd.

The Images in their Temples are placed in Domes, in a fitting Posture, with their Legs across, their Toes all alike long, their Arms and Hands very small in Proportion to their Bodies, their Faces longer than human, and their Ears large, and the Lappets very thick. The Congregation bows to them when they come in and go out, and that is all the Oblation they receive.

They never repair an old Barw, nor is there any Occasion for that Piety or Expence; for in every September there is an old Custom for Gentlemen tlemen of Fortune, to make Sky Rockets, and set them a flying in the Air, and if any fly any great Height, that is a certain Sign that the Owner is in favour with the Gods, but if it comes to the Ground, and spends its Fire without rising, the Owner is much dejected, and believes that the Gods are angry with him, but the happy Man, whose Rocket makes him in the Gods Favour, never fails of building a new Bow, and dedicates it to the God he adores, and some Priests, whose Temples are gone to decay, bring their Images to adorn it, who have the Benefice for their Pains.

I have seen some of these Rockets so large, that one of them could contain above five hundred Weight of Powder Dust and Coal, which is their common Composition. The Carcase is the Trunk of a great Tree made hollow, leaving about two Inches of solid Wood without the Cylinder, to strengthen it; the Hollow they fill with the Composition well rammed in, and after that is done, they make Thongs of green Buffaloes Hides, and hale tight round the Carcase to keep it from splitting, and those Thongs are put from one End to the other, in the Place of Hoops, and when they grow dry, they are as close on the Carcase as so many Hoops. Then they secure the Ends, that the Composition may come gradually out, when fired. The Carcase they place on a Branch of a large high Tree, which grows plentifully in their Fields, and fix it in the Position they would have it mount in when fired.

fired, and then they take a large Bambow for a Tail to balance it. Some I have seen above 120 Foot long. When the Tail is made fast according to Art, then the Day of Solemnity is proclaimed, and great Numbers of People of all Ranks, Degrees and Ages, assemble to see the Rocket fly. When all are convened, the Lashings that fastned it to the Tree, are cut, except so many as can support it from falling, and there are Men with Hatchets ready to cut them, when the Fire is put to it, which is done by the Owner, and then the Rocket takes Flight, and some fly a prodigious Height, others come to the Ground, and fly 5 or 600 Paces in an irregular Motion, wounding or scorching all that come in its Way. The Consequences of the high Flier and the low, I have described at Length above.

A little While after the Rockets flying they have another Feast, called the Collock, and some Women are chosen out of the People assembled, to dance a Dance to the Gods of the Earth. Hermophradites, who are numerous in this Country, are generally chosen, if there are enough present to make a Set for the Dance. I saw nine dance like mad Folks, for above half an Hour, and then some of them fell in Fits, foaming at the Mouth for the Space of half an Hour; and, when their Senses are restored, they pretend to foretell Plenty or Scarcity of Corn for that Year, if the Year will prove sickly or salutary to the People, and several other Things of Moment, Moment, and all by that half Hour's Conversation, that the furious Dancer had with the Gods, while she was in a Trance.

They have various Sorts of Musick, but the Pipe and Tabor are esteemed the best, though their stringed Instruments pleased my Ears best. They have one Sort in Shape of a Galley, with about twenty Bells of several Sizes and Sounds, placed fast on the upper Part, as it lies along. The Instrument is about three Foot long, and eight or ten Inches broad, and six Inches deep. They beat those Bells with a Stick made of heavy Wood, and they make no bad Musick.

There are two large Temples near Syrian, so like one another in Structure, that they seem to be built by one Model. One stands about six Miles to the Southward, called Kiakiack, or the God of Gods Temple. In it is an Image of twenty Yards long, lying in a sleeping Posture, and by their Tradition, has lain in that Posture 6000 Years. His Doors and Windows are always open, and every one has the Liberty to see him; and, when he awakes, this World is to be annihilated. The Temple stands on an high champain Ground, and may easily be seen, in a clear Day, eight Leagues off. The other stands in a low Plain, North of Syrian, about the same Distance, called Dagun. His Doors and Windows are always shut, and none enters his Temple but his Priests, and they won't tell what Shape he is of, only he is not of human Shape. As soon as Kiakiack dissolves the Being and and Frame of the World, Dagon or Dagun will gather up the Fragments and make a new one. There are yearly Fairs held near those Temples, and the Free-will Offerings arising at those Fairs, are for the Use of the Temples.

For finding out secret Murder, Theft or Perjury, the Trial or Ordeal is much in Custom in Pegu. One way is to make the Accuser and the Accused take some raw Rice in their Mouths, and chew, and swallow it, but he that is guilty of the Crime alleged, or of false Accusation, cannot swallow his Morsel, but the innocent chews and swallows his easily.

Another way they have by driving a Stake of Wood into a River, and making the Accuser and Accused take hold of the Stake, and keep their Heads and Bodies under Water, and he who stays longest under Water, is the Person to be credited, and whosoever is convicted by this Trial, either for the Crime alleged, or for malicious Slander, by Accusation, must lie on his Back three Days and Nights, with his Neck in a Pair of Stocks, without Meat or Drink, and fined to boot. They have also the Custom of dipping the naked Hand in boiling Oil, or liquid Lead, to clear them from atrocious Crimes, if accused; and if the Accuser scalds himself in the Trial, he must undergo the Punishment due to the Crime, which makes People very cautious how they calumniate one another: And, if any one asperse a Woman with the
the Name of Whore, and cannot prove the Aspersion to be true, they are fined severely.

The Country is fruitful and healthful, and the Air so good, that when Strangers come hither in a bad State of Health, they seldom fail of a speedy Recovery; but the Small-Pox is dreaded as pestiferous, and in the Province of Kirian that Distemper is most dangerous, and most infectious, so that if any one is seized by that Disease, all the Neighbourhood removes to two or three Miles Distance, and builds new Houses, which are easily done with Bambous and Reeds, which they have in great Plenty. They leave with the diseased Person a Jar of Water, a Basket of raw Rice, and some earthen Pots to boil
it in, then bid him farewell for twenty one Days. If the Patient has Strength enough to rise and boil Rice, he may then recover, if not,
he must even die alone. And it is observable, that, while a Person has that Distemper, the Tiger, for all his Voraciousness, will not touch him. If the Patient dies within the Term of twenty one Days, then the Smell certifies them on their approaching the House, and if he live, they carry him to their new built City, and make him a free Burgess.

I saw the Ceremony of an high Priest's Funeral, and was not a little pleased with the Solemnity. After the Corps had been kept three or four Months, by Spirits or Gums, from Pu-trefaction, there was a great Mast fix'd in the Ground, so fast, that it could be moved no way from
from its perpendicular Position. Then, about fifty or sixty Yards on each Side of that Maft, four smaller Mafts were placed, and fixed perpendicularly in the Ground. Around the great Maft, in the middle, were erected three Scaffolds above one another, the lowermost bigger than the second, and the third smaller than that, so that it look’d like a Pyramid four Stories high. The Scaffolds were railed in on each Side, except an open Place of three or four Foot wide on each Side. All the Scaffolds, and the Ground below them, were filled with Combustibles. From the Maft in the middle four Ropes were carried to the other four Mafts, and hal’d tight, and a Fire-rocket on each Rope was placed at the respective small Mafts. Then the Corps was carried to the upper Story of the Pyramid, and laid flat on the Scaffold, and after a great Shew of Sorrow among the People there present, a Trumpet was founded, which was a Signal to set Fire to the Rockets, which, in an Instant, flew with a quick Motion along the Ropes, and set Fire to the Combustibles, and in a Moment they were all in a Flame, so that in an Hour or two all was consumed.

This High Priest was held in so great Veneration, that he was reckoned a Saint among the People. He was in great Esteem with the King, and when any Nobleman fell into Disgrace, he used his Interest with the King, to have him restored again to Favour, unless they were guilty of atrocious Crimes; and, in that Case, he used used his Endeavours to have the Rigour of the Punishment extenuated.

All the Pegu Clergy are Mediators in making up Cases of Debate and Contention, that happen among Neighbours. They never leave mediating till there be a Reconciliation, and in Token of Friendship, according to an ancient Custom there, they eat Chamrock from one another's Hand, and that seals the Friendship. This Chamrock is Tea of a very unsavoury Taste, it grows, as other Tea does, on Bushes, and is in Use on such Occasions all over Pegu.

And now, since I must leave Pegu, I must not omit giving the Clergy their due Praisés in another particular Practice of their Charity. If a Stranger has the Misfortune to be shipwreck'd on their Coast, by the Laws of the Country, the Men are the King's Slaves, but by the Mediations of the Church, the Governors overlook that Law; and when the unfortunate Strangers come to their Baws, they find a great deal of Hospitality, both in Food and Raiment; and have Letters of Recommendation from the Priests of one Convent to those of another on the Road they design to travel, where they may expect Vessels to transport them to Syrian; and if any be sick or maim'd, the Priests, who are the Peguers chief Physicians, keep them in their Convent, till they are cured, and then furnish them with Letters, as is above observed, for they never enquire which way a Stranger worships God, but if he is human, he is the Object of their Charity.
There are some Christians in Syrian of the Portuguese Offspring, and some Armenians. The Portuguese have a Church, but the scandalous Lives of the Priests and People make them contemptible to all People in general.

I have only to add to my Observations of Pegu, that, in former Times, Martavan was one of the most flourishing Towns for Trade in the East, having the Benefit of a noble River, which afforded a good Harbour for Ships of the greatest Burden; but, after the Barmaes conquered it, they sunk a Number of Vessels full of Stones, in the Mouth of the River, so that now it is unnavigable, except for small Vessels. They make Earthen Ware there still, and glaze them with Lead-oar. I have seen some Jars made there, that could contain two Hogsheads of Liquor. They have also still a small Trade in Fish. Their Mullet dried is the best dry Fish I ever tasted, either in India or Europe.

The Islands off the Coast of Pegu, are the Cocoses, uninhabited, but full of Cocoa-nut Trees. They lie about 20 Leagues West-south-west from Cape Negrais: And the Islands Perperies lie 36 Leagues South of the said Cape. They are high Islands uninhabited, and so environed with Rocks under Water, that there is Danger in landing on them. They seem to be overgrown with Woods, and that is all I could observe of them. There is another small Island called Commoda, that lies about 10 Leagues off the Coast of Pegu, but is not inhabited.

C H A P. XXXVIII.

Treats of Merjee and Tanacerin, and of the Sea-coast in the King of Siam's Dominions, of the Massacre there of the English in Anno 1687; also of Qedah, and the other Maritime Countries and Islands as far as Malacca.

THE next Place on the Continent, to the Southward, is Merjee, a Town belonging to the King of Siam, situated on the Banks of the River of Tanacerin, lying within a great Number of small uninhabited Islands. The Harbour is safe, and the Country produces Rice, Timber for building, Tin, Elephants, Elephants Teeth and Agala Wood. In former Times a good Number of English free Merchants were settled at Merjee, and drove a good Trade, living under a mild indulgent Government; but the old East India Company envying their Happiness, by an arbitrary Command, ordered them to leave their Industry, and repair to Fort St. George, to serve them, and threatened the King of Siam with a Sea War, if he did not deliver those English up, or force them out of his Country, and, in Anno 1687, sent one Captain Weldon, in a small Ship called the Curtany,
A New Account

Curtany, to Merjee with that Message. He behaved himself very insolently to the Government, and killed some Siamers without any just Cause. One Night when Weldon was ashore, the Siamers thinking to do themselves Justice on him, got a Company together, designing to seize or kill the Aggressor; but Weldon having Notice of their Design, made his Escape on board his Ship, and the Siamers missing him, tho' very narrowly, vented their Rage and Revenge on all the English they could find. The poor Victims being only guarded by their Innocence, did not so much as arm themselves, to withstand the Fury of the enraged Mob, so that seventy six were massacred, and hardly twenty escaped on board of the Curtany; so there was the tragical Consequence of one Man's Insolence.

Before that fatal Time, the English were so beloved and favoured at the Court of Siam, that they had Places of Trust conferred upon them, both in the civil and military Branches of the Government. Mr. Samuel White was made Shawbandaar or Custom-master at Merjee and Tanacerin, and Captain Williams was Admiral of the King's Navy; but the troublesome Company, and a great Revolution that happened in the State of Siam, made some repair to Fort St. George, others to Bengal, and some to Atbeeen.

The Islands opposite to the Coast of Tanacerin, are the Andemans. They lie about eighty Leagues off, and are surrounded with many dangerous Banks and Rocks; they are all inhabited with with Canibals, who are so fearless, that they will swim off to a Boat if the approach near the shore, and attack her with their wooden Weapons, notwithstanding the Superiority of Numbers in the Boat, and the Advantage of missive and defensive Arms of Iron, Steel and Fire.

I knew one Ferguson, who commanded a Ship from Fort St. George, bound from Malacca to Bengal, in Company with another Ship, going too near one of the Andeman Islands, was driven by the Force of a strong Current, on some Rocks, and the Ship was lost. The other Ship was driven thro' a Channel between two of the same Islands, and was not able to assist the ship-wreck'd Men; but neither Ferguson nor any of his People were ever more heard of, which gave Ground to conjecture that they were all devoured by those savage Canibals.

I saw one of the Natives of those Islands at Aitcheen in Anno 1694. He was then about 40 Years of Age. The Andemaners had a yearly Custom to come to the Nicobar Islands, with a great Number of small Praws, and kill or take Prisoners as many of the poor Nicobareans as they could overcome. The Nicobareans again joined their Forces, and gave the Canibals Battle, when they met with them, and one Time defeated them, and gave no Quarter to the Andemaners. This Man above-mentioned, when a Boy of 10 or 12 Years of Age, accompanied his Father in the Wars, and was taken Prisoner, and his Youth recommending him to

Mercy, they saved his Life, and made him a Slave. After he had continued so three or four Years, he was carried to Atcheen to be sold for Cloth, Knives and Tobacco, which are the Commodities most wanting on the Nicobars. The Atcheeners being Mahometans, this Boy's Patron bred him up in that Religion, and some Years after his Master dying, gave him his Freedom; he having a great Desire to see his native Country, took a Praw, and the Months of December, January, and February, being fair Weather, and the Sea smooth, he ventured to the Sea, in order to go to his own Country, from the Islands of Gomus and Pullo-vey, which lie near Atcheen. Here the Southermost of the Nicobars may be seen, and so one Island may be seen from another, from the Southermost of those to Chitty-Andeman, which is the Southermost of the Andemans, which are distant from Atcheen about an hundred Leagues. Arriving among his Relations he was made welcome, with great Demonstrations of Joy to see him alive, whom they expected to have been long dead.

Having retained his native Language, he gave an Account of his Adventures; and, as the Andemaners have no Notions of a Deity, he acquainted them with the Knowledge he had of a God, and would have persuaded his Countrymen to learn of him the way to adore God, and to obey his Laws, but he could make no Converts. When he had stayed a Month or two, he took leave to be gone again, which they permitted, mitted, on Condition that he would return. He brought along with him four or five hundred Weight of Quicksilver, and he said, that some of the Andeman Islands abound in that Commodity. He had made several Trips thither before I saw him, and always brought some Quicksilver along with him. Some Mabometan Fakires would fain have accompanied him in his Voyages, but he would never suffer them, because he said, he could not engage for their Safety among his Countrymen. When I saw him, he was in Company with a Seid, whom I carried a Passenger to Surat, and from him I had this Account of his Adventures.

The next Place of any Commerce on this Coast is the Island of Jonkceyloan, it lies in the Dominions of the King of Siam. Between Merjee and Jonkceyloan there are several good Harbours for Shipping, but the Sea-coast is very thin of Inhabitants, because there are great Numbers of Freebooters, called Salleiters, who inhabit Islands along the Sea-coast, and they both rob, and take People for Slaves, and transport them for Atcheen, and there make Sale of them, and Jonkceyloan often feels the Weight of their Depredations.

The North End of Jonkceyloan lies within a Mile of the Continent, but the South End is above three Leagues from it. Between the Island and the Continent is a good Harbour for Shipping in the South-west Monsoons, and on the West Side of the Island Puton Bay is a safe Harbour in the North-east Winds. The Islands afford good Masts for Shipping, and abundance of Tin, but few People to dig for it, by reason of the afore-mentioned Outlaws, and the Governors being generally Chinese, who buy their Places at the Court of Siam, and to reimburse themselves, oppress the People, in so much that Riches would be but a Plague to them, and their Poverty makes them live an easly indolent Life.

Yet the Villages on the Continent drive a small Trade with Shipping that come from the Coromandel Coast, and Bengal, but both the Buyer and Seller trade by Retail, so that a Ship's Cargo is a long Time in selling, and the Product of the Country is as long in purchasing.

The Islands off this Part of the Coast are the Nicobars, and are about 90 Leagues distant from the Continent. The Northmost Cluster is low, and are called the Carnicubars, and by their Vicinity to the Andemans, are but thinly inhabited. The middle Cluster is fine champain Ground, and all but one, well inhabited. They are called the Somerera Islands, because on the South End of the largest Island, is an Hill that resembles the Top of an Umbrella or Somerera. About six Leagues to the Southward of Somerera Island, lies Tallang-jang the uninhabited Island; where one Captain Owen lost his Ship in Anno 1708, but the Men were all saved, and finding no Inhabitants, they made Fires in the Night, and next Day there came five or six Canoes from Ning
of the East Indies.

Ning and Goury, two fine Islands that lie about four Leagues to the Westward of the desert Island, and very courteously carried the shipwreck’d Men to their Islands of Ning and Goury, with what little Things they had saved of their Apparel and other Necessaries.

The Captain had saved a broken Knife about four Inches long in the Blade, and he having laid it carelessly by, one of the Natives made bold to take it, but did not offer to hide it.
The Captain seeing his Knife in the poor Native’s Hand, took it from him, and bestowed some Kicks and Blows on him for his Ill-manners, which was very ill taken, for all in general shewed they were dissatisfied with the Action; and the shipwreck’d Men could observe Contentions arising between those who were their Benefactors in bringing them to their Island, and others who were not concerned in it: However, next Day as the Captain was sitting under a Tree at Dinner, there came about a Dozen of Natives towards him, and saluted him on every Side with a Shower of Darts made of heavy hard Wood, with their Points hardened in the Fire, and so he expir’d in a Moment. How far they had a Mind to purse their Resentment,
I know not, but their Benefactors kept Guard about their House till next Day, and then presented them with two Canoes; and fitted them with Out-leagers to keep them from overturning, and put some Water in Pots, some Coconnuts and dry Fish, and pointed to them to be imme-
immediately gone, which they did. Being sixteen in Company, they divided equally, and steered their Course for Jonkceyloan, but in the way one of the Boats lost her Out-leager, and drowned all her Crew, the rest arrived safe, and I carried them afterwards to Matchbulipatam.

Ning and Goury are two fine smooth Islands, well inhabited, and plentifully furnished with several Sorts of good Fish, Hogs and Poultry; but they have no Horses, Cows, Sheep, nor Goats, nor wild Beasts of any Sort, but Monkies. They have no Rice nor Pulse, so that the Kernel of Cocoa-nuts, Yams, and Potatoes serves them for Bread.

Along the North End of the Eastmost of the two Islands, are good Soundings from ten to eight Fathoms Sand, about two Miles off the Shore. The People come thronging on board in their Canoes, and bring Hogs, Fowl, Cocks, Fish, fresh, salted and dried Yams, the best I ever tasted, Potatoes, Parrots and Monkies, to barter for old Hatchets, Sword-blades, and thick Pieces of Iron-hoops, to make defensive Weapons against their common Disturbers and implacable Enemies the Andemaners; and Tobacco they are very greedy of, for a Leaf of Tobacco, if pretty large, they will give a Cock; for three Foot of an Iron-hoop, a large Hog, and for one Foot in Length, a Pig. They all speak a little broken Portuguese, but what religious Worship they use, I could not learn.
of the East Indies.

The Island Somerera lies about eight Leagues to the Northward of Ning and Goury, and is well inhabited by the Number of Villages that shew themselves as we sail along its Shores. The People, like those of Ning and Goury, are very courteous, and bring the Product of their Island aboard of Ships to exchange for the aforementioned Commodities. Silver nor Gold they neither have nor care for, so the Root of all Evil can never send out Branches of Misery, or bear Fruit to poison their Happines. The Mens Clothing is a Bit of String round their Middle, and about a Foot and an Half of Cloth six Inches broad, tuck’d before and behind within that Line. The Women have a Petticoat from the Navel to the Knee, and their Hair close shaved; but the Men have the Hair left on the upper Part of the Head, and below the Crown, but cut so short that it hardly comes to their Ears.

The Southward Cluster of the Nicobars, is mountainous, and the People partake of its unpolished Nature, being more uncivil and surly than those to the Northward. Their Islands produce the same Necessaries as the others do.

Quedah is the next Place of Note on the Continent to the Southward, and is honoured with the Title of a Kingdom, tho’ both small and poor. The Town which bears the same Name, stands on the Banks of a small navigable River, deep, but narrow, about 50 Miles from the Sea, and the King resides in it, but shews no Marks of Grandeur, besides arbitrary governing.
Their Religion is Mahometan, much mix'd with Paganism. The People are deceitful, covetous, and cruel. It was many Years tributary to Siam, but in their long Pegu War, it threw off the Yoke. Its Product is Tin, Pepper, Elephants, and Elephants Teeth, Canes, and Damar, a Gum that is used for making Pitch and Tar for the Use of Shipping. The King is poor, proud and beggarly; he never fails of visiting stranger Merchants at their coming to his Port, and then, according to Custom, he must have a Present. When the Stranger returns the Visit, or has any Business with him, he must make him a Present, otherwise he thinks due Respect is not paid to him, and in Return of these Presents, his Majesty will honour the Stranger with a Seat near his sacred Person, and will chew a little Betel, and put it out of his royal Mouth on a little gold Saucer, and sends it by his Page to the Stranger, who must take it with all the Signs of Humility and Satisfaction, and chew it after him, and it is very dangerous to refuse the royal Morsel.

Some Ages ago, Ligore was a Kingdom of itself, and the Kings of Quedab and Ligore fell at Variance. He of Quedab invaded the Territories of Ligore, and left his Queen and his Son, an hopeful Youth about twenty Years of Age, to govern in his Absence. The Mother and Son grew enamour'd of each other, and she found herself with Child by the reciprocal Esteem they bore one another. She being being justly afraid of the King's Resentment on his Return, laid the Danger before her Son, that threatened them both, and advised the dutiful Child to prevent their Death by killing his Father. Whereupon he wrote to the King for Leave to give him a Visit in the Camp, which Favour he obtained, and proceeded accordingly to the Place where his Father was with his Army. At his Arrival he was received by all with great Demonstrations of Joy, particularly by his Father, who made him lodge in his own Tent. The Villain let his Father fall asleep, and then stabbed him to the Heart, and immediately left the Army, and hastened to his loving Mother, to give her an Account of his noble Action. In the Morning the King being found dead, and the Son gone, the Regicide was soon known; and because the Queen should not continue long a Widow, the obedient Child married her himself, because none in the Country had royal Blood in their Veins but himself, and she could not stoop to match below the Dignity of a sovereign Prince. Such libidinous Marriages are very frequent in this Country to this present Time.

Perab is the next Country to Quedab. It is properly a Part of the Kingdom of Tokore, but the People are untractable and rebellious, and the Government anarchical. Their Religion is heterodox Mahometism. The Country produces more Tin than any in India, but the Inhabitants are so treacherous, faithless, and bloody, that no European Nation can keep Factories there with with Safety. The Dutch tried it once, and the first Year had their Factory cut off. They then settled on Pulwadingding, an Island at the Mouth of the River Perab, but about the Year 1690.
that Factory was also cut off, and I never heard that any Body else ever attempted to settle there since.

There are Several other Places along that Coast of Malaya, that produce great Quantities of Tin, but Salangore and Parsalore are the most noted, tho' little frequented by Europeans, because they have too many of the Perab Qualities, to be trusted with honest Men's Lives and Money. Their Religion is also a Sort of Scoundrel Mabometism.

currences happening to the Scots Company's Affairs there, and other Places

of Residence of the Kings of Jobore, but they denying the Portuguese Commerce in their Country, associated themselves with the King of Aarow (a potent Prince in those Times) on the Island of Sumatra, who was engaged in a War with the King of Jobore, and with their joint Forces obliged him to quit that Place, and retire to Jobore-lami, which lies at the very Point of that Promontory, within one Degree of the AEquator. There is a noble spacious River that accommodates Jobore-lami.

As soon as the King of Jobore was gone, the Portuguese began to fortify, and encompassed a little Hill with a Stone Wall, about a Mile round, in which they built a City, and called it Malacca, and by the Conveniency of its Situation, in a few Years it became the greatest Mart in India; however, the King of Jobore was fain to make a Peace with the Portuguese, allowing them their Fort, and as much Ground round it as their Cannon could sling a Shot, and so they became Friends; but the King of Jobore invaded the King of Aarow's Dominions, with a numerous Fleet of Gallies, and in a short Time forced him to crave Aid from the Portuguese, who never us'd to deceive their Allies but when they trusted to them, and so the King of Aarow lost his Country.

Malacca, a Place of small Account, in a short Time became famous all over India and Europe, lying almost in the Centre of Trade, brought thither by Shipping from the rich Kingdoms of Japon,
A New Account

Japan, China, Formosa, Luconia, Tonquin, Cochinchina, Cambodia, and Siam, besides what Jobore produced, and Sumatra, Java, Borneo, Macassar, Banda, Amboina, and Ternate Islands, that produce many valuable Commodities.

As the Portugueze grew great and rich, they grew also insolent, and so continued abusing and affronting their Neighbours till about the Year 1660. the Dutch had a War with Portugal, on account of some Losses the Dutch sustained in Brazil.

The Dutch sent many Ships and good Forces to India, to be equal with the Portugueze, for their driving the Dutch out of Brazil; and how their Arms flourish'd on the Coasts of Malabar and Zeloan, I have observed already in my first Volume; so I begin again at Malacca.

The Dutch coming into the Streights of Malacca from Batavia, with a strong Fleet and a Land-army on board of it, struck up an Alliance with the King of Jobore, offensive and defensive, as long as the Sun and Moon gave Light to this World; for I saw the Treaty, and heard it read, with those Expressions in it: On which the King of Jobore assisted the Dutch with 20000 Men, and laid Siege to the Fort by Land, while the Dutch distrested it by Sea; and yet for all that the Fleet and Army could do, they could not have taken it by Force, but by reducing them by Famine, which would have taken up a great Deal of Time, so what they

they could not effect by Force, they did by Fraud.

They heard that the Portuguese Governor was a fordid avaricious Fellow, and ill beloved by the Garison, so the Dutch, by secret Conveyances, tampered with him by Letters, promising him Mountains of Gold if he would contribute towards their gaining the Fort. At length the Price was set of 80000 Pieces of Eight, to be the Reward of his Treachery, and to be safely transported to Batavia in their Fleet, and be made a free Denizon there. So he sent secret Orders to the Dutch to make an Attack on the East-side of the Fort, and he would act his Part, which was accordingly done.

He thereupon called a Council, and told them he had a Mind to circumvent the Dutch, by letting them come close to the Fort Walls, and then to fire briskly on them from all Quarters, and destroy them at once, so the Dutch made their Approaches without Molestation, and placed their Ladders. The Garison sent Message after Message, to acquaint the Governor of the Danger they were in, for want of Orders to fire and fallly out on the Dutch, as was agreed on in Council, but he delayed so long till the Dutch got into the Fort, and drove the Guard from the East-gate, which they soon opened to receive the rest of their Army, who, as soon as they were entred, gave Quarters to none that were in Arms, and marching towards the Governor's House, where he thought himself secure by the Treaty, they forthwith dispatch'd him to save the fourscore thousand Dollars.

The Master Gunner being posted on a large Bastion, whose Walls are wash'd by the Sea at high Water, with about 100 Portuguese along with him, would by no Means yield till he had capitulated with the Dutch for fair Quarter for himself and his Company, which the Dutch would not adhere to, so that for two Days he gallantly maintained his Post. At last, by continual Fatigue, and Loss of his Men, he was obliged to yield to Fate, and great Superiority of Numbers, and died like an Hero, with his Sword in his Hand; and there is a common Report at Malacca still, that the Night after the anniversary Day of his Death, his Genius is seen on that Bastion: And I was informed by a Dutch Governor at Malacca, that on that Night no Sentinels are set there, for that severals have found the Effects of his Fury, by being thrown over the Wall, and have been either killed or maimed by the Fall.

The Portuguese, to shew their Zeal to Religion, while they were Masters of Malacca, had no less than three Churches and a Chapel within the Fort, and one without, but now there is but one Church and a Chapel within, and none without. That which the Dutch now use for their Worship, stands conspicuously on the Top of the Hill, and may be seen up or down the Streights at a good Distance, and a Flag-staff is placed

placed on the Steeple, on which a Flag is hoisted on the Sight of any Ship.

The Fort is both large and strong, the Sea washing the Walls of one third Part of it, and a deep, rapid, but narrow River, the West-side of it, and a broad deep Ditch the rest of it. The Governor's House is both beautiful and convenient, and there are several other good Houses in the Fort, and in the Town without the Fort, but the Road for Shipping is at too great a Distance to be defended by the Fort, the Shallowness of the Sea obliging them to lie above a League off, which is a very great Inconvenience. For in 1709, the French coming into the Streights with a Squadron of three or four Sail, seeing a large Ship in the Road, newly arrived from Japan, stood in to the Road, and had certainly carried her out, if the Wind had not failed them about Musket Shot from her.

At Malacca the Streights are not above four Leagues broad; for tho' the opposite Shore on Sumatra is very low, yet it may easily be seen in a clear Day, which is the Reason that the Sea is always as smooth as a Mill-pond, except it is ruffled with Squalls of Wind, which seldom come without Lightnings, Thunder, and Rain; and though they come with great Violence, yet they are soon over, not often exceeding an Hour.

The Country produces nothing for a foreign Market, but a little Tin and Elephants Teeth, but several excellent Fruits and Roots for the Use of the Inhabitants, and Strangers who call there for Refreshments. The Malacca Pineapple is accounted the best in the World, for in other Parts, if they are eaten to a small Excess, they are apt to give Surfeits, but those of Malacca never offend the Stomach. The Mangostane is a delicious Fruit, almost in the Shape of an Apple, the Skin is thick and red, being dried it is a good Astringent. The Kernels (if I may so call them) are like Cloves of Garlick, of a very agreeable Taste, but very cold. The Rambostan is a Fruit about the Bigness of a Walnut, with a tough Skin, beset with Capillaments, within the Skin is a very favoury Pulp. The Durean is another excellent Fruit, but offensive to some Peoples Noses, for it smells very like human Excrements, but when once tasted, the Smell vanishes. The Skin is thick and yellow, and within is a Pulp like thick Cream in Colour and Consistence, but more delicious in Taste. The Pulp or Meat is very hot and nourishing, and instead of surfeiting, they fortify the Stomach, and are a great Incentive to Wantonness. They have Cocoa-nuts in Plenty, and some grow in Marishes that are overflowed with the Sea in Spring-tides. Their Liquor and Kernel partake of the Qualities of the Ground they grow in, being exceeding Salt. I never saw any Cocoa-nuts grow in Salt Grounds but there, and some are so large that the Shell will hold more than an English Quart Pot. They have also Plenty of Lemons, Oranges, Limes,
of the East Indies. 81

Limes, Sugar-canés, and Mangoes. They have a Species of Mango, called by the Dutch a Stinker, which is very offensive both to the Smell and Taste, and consequently of little Use. There is little Corn or Pulse grows in this Country but what is nourish'd in Gardens.

Sheep and Bullocks are scarce and dear, but Swines Flesh, Poultry, and Fish pretty, plentiful, and reasonably cheap, considering it is a Dutch Colony, whose excessive Taxes make every Thing dear, and discourage the Poor from improving, since Poverty secures them from farther Oppression. Their Corn comes all from Java, Siam, or Cambodia, but the Freight makes it come out dear to what it is in other Places, whose native Ground produces it.

I will pass by their Court of Justice, because it hardly deserves the Name, since Strangers are excluded from the common Laws of Humanity, wherein I am able to give many Instances, but I voluntarily pass by Particularities till another Time.

There is a very high Mountain to the North-eastward of Malacca, that sends forth several Rivers, of which that of Malacca is one, and all of them have small Quantities of Gold Dust found in their Chanes. The inland Inhabitants called Monacaboes, are a barbarous savage People, whose greatest Pleasure is in doing Mischief to their Neighbours, which is the greatest Reason why the Peasants about Malacca sow no Grain but what is inclosed in Gardens with thick... set prickly Hedges, or deep Ditches; for when their Grain is ripe in the open Plains, the Monacaboes never fail of putting Fire to it, in order to consume it. They are much whiter than their neighbouring Malayas who inhabit the low Grounds, and the Kings of Jobore, whose Subjects they are, or at least ought to be, could never civilize them.

Their Religion is a Complex of Mahometism and Paganism, and they have the Character of great Sorcerers, who by their Spells can tame wild Tigers, and make them carry them whether they order them, on their Backs. Once they had a Mind to try their Art on the Town of Malacca, but were unsuccessful in their Enterprise, according to common Report there. For one of their chief Wizards assured them that neither Gun, Sword, nor Lance, should have Power to hurt them, if they should attempt the Town, whose Defence consists only in a flight Gate, with a little round Bastion, with five or six great Guns mounted on it. So on the Opinion of their Doctors Art, a great Number drew together, and being armed with Lance and Cross, their common Weapons, marched without Order or Fear towards the Gate. When they came near enough, the Gunner of the Bastion pointed some Guns, and set Fire to the Priming, but that flashed, and the Guns would not discharge, which discouraged the Guard of the Gate; but a Malay Soldier, who understood some of the Monacaboes Art, called for a Piece of
of the East Indies.

Pork, with which he besmear'd the Mouths he Cannon, while the Gunner renewed the ning, and Fire being put to them, the Can- went off, and did good Execution, which sightned the Monacaboes, that they betook elves to Flight, and never attempted to urb the Town since.

Saw strange Cures performed by a Malaya tor at Malacca. One of them was on a tleman 'of my Acquaintance, who was se- d Supercargo of a Scotch Ship called the Speed', which was lost near Malacca. After the was lost, the first Supercargo took an House the Town, by the Sea-side, to put up their go and Stores in, that were saved, but eleven ts of Treasure and some fine Goods were ed in one of the Dutch Company's Ware- ses in the Fort, which had three Locks on Door. The Governor had one Key, and of the Supercargoes one. A common impet called Mrs. Kennedy, who at that he was married to an Irish Pirate of that ne, and kept an Ordinary in Malacca, gave first Supercargo a Philtre that made him dote her almost to Distraction. He was never out of her Company while awake, and in Sleep he called her by Name. When she got him so far in the Noose, she pretended had great Need of Money, and would fain e borrowed a Chest of one thousand Pounds ings of the Scots Company's Money. The witched Supercargo could deny her nothing.
the asked for, and promised, that if he could bring his Second to consent, she should have it, but that Consent could be got on no Terms, tho' the first proffered to be accountable to their Masters for that Sum, and he acquainting her with the Impossibility of getting that Consent, she contrived a Way to remove the Second by Poison, and going to a female Friend of hers, who was well acquainted with the Mystery of Poisoning, procured a Dose so small that she could drop it in his Broth or Drink without his perceiving it; and accordingly she took an Opportunity to dine with them one Day when they had Broth at Table, and serving the Broth about, she dropt it among his. The same Night it began to operate by Gripings and Sweating, and he being bred a Surgeon, took some Medicines to correct the Gripings, which in some Measure the Medicine did, but he lost his Appetite, and his Excrements came from him as black as Ink. In the Interim a Ship came from Surat, bound to China, wherein the chief Supercargo was obliged to embark with the Company's Stock, and left the Second at Malacca, to take Care of what was left there. A few Days after the Surat Ship failed, I arrived at Malacca, and found the second Supercargo in a deplorable Condition.

He finding all Medicines ineffectual, began to fear Poison, and sent for the Dutch Doctor of Physick to consult him, who, on Sight of his Excrements, told him plainly that he was poisoned, and advised him to send for a noted Malaya Doctor, who lived at a Place called Batantiga, about four Miles to the North-west of Malacca, which he forthwith did, and when the Doctor came, he felt his Pulse, and immediately told that he was poisoned, and that if he could not tell what Poison he had taken, his Cure was very desperate and uncertain. I advised my Friend to let old Beelzebub (for he was a Man, or walking Shadow, of a dismal Aspect, near an hundred Years old) take him into his Care. My Friend took my Advice, and complimented the Doctor with five Japon Cupangs, or fifty Dutch Dollars. Old Esculapius laugh'd when he received the Present, but could not shew one Tooth, but promised his utmost Endeavours to cure him. He asked my Friend if he suspected any Body particularly, who might owe him a Grudge. He answered none but Mrs. Kennedy, or some of her Companions. The Doctor called for a Tea Cup, and some fresh Limes, which were brought to him. He turned all out of the Room but my self and his Patient, and cut some Limes, and squeezed their Juice into a Tea-cup till it was full. He then mutter'd some unintelligible Words, keeping his right Hand moving over the Cup for the Space of three or four Minutes, and finding his Conjuration was not satisfactory, he shak'd his old Head, and look'd dejected. He then mutter'd some other Words with an higher Voice, keeping his Hand in Motion as before, and in two Minutes the Juice in the Cup seemed seemed to boil as if Fire had been under it. Then he began to smile. I had the Curiosity to put my Finger into the Juice, but it retained its ordinary Coldness. He then told his Patient that his Cure was certain, on which he had a Promise of five Cupangs more when the Cure was effected. He ordered the Patient to send a Servant to Mrs. Kennedy's Door, and watch between the Hours of Ten and Twelve, and to observe well if there was any unusual Noise in her House between those Hours, and so took his Leave with a contented Countenance. At Ten my Friend sent a Servant according to Direction, and he and I sat discourse about what we had observed in the Doctor's Actions towards effecting the Cure. About Eleven the Spy came and told us that Mrs. Kennedy had run stark mad, making an hideous Noise, and said, She had seen the Devil in the little House in the Garden, in a monstrous Shape and terrible Aspect. She soon after grew furiously mad, scratching and biting every Body she could come at, and so the Family was forced to throw her on a Bed, and tie her down to it.

In that Fit she continued till about eight in the Morning, that the old Conjurer came to Town, who, upon the Advice given him, went directly to visit her. Upon Sight of him she became calm and sensible. He ordered every Body out of the Room, and ask'd her what Poison she had given to his Patient. She was very loth to tell, and proffered him 500 Dollars to for fake forfake his Patient, and let the Poison operate; but he honestly refused, and assured her that the same Devil that she saw in the Garden, should be her continual Companion all her Days, and would often make her feel the Effects of his Power, if she did not instantly declare what the Poison was, and from whom she had it. She seeing no other Remedy, confess where she had the Poison, but could not tell what it was. The Doctor sent for the old Schoolmistress of Wickedness, and when she came, he threatened to torment her also, by his humble Servant the Devil—if she did not forthwith declare what Poison had been given, which she did, and he took away Mrs. Kennedy's Companion the Devil, and the Patient was well enough in eight or ten Days, to follow his Affairs, but Mrs. Kennedy look'd ever after disturb'd, as if continually frightened.

Another strange Cure I saw him perform on an Officer belonging to my Ship. He was going to sleep about Midnight, and lying down on his Bed, was bit in the Calf of the Leg by a Centipede, an Insect with many Feet, and very venomous. The Pain that the Bite caused would allow him no Rest. Next Day he expected that the Venom might have been exhausted, but in that he was mistaken, for it grew first red by Inflammation, and then blue and numbed. I sent for the Doctor aforesaid, who came on the first Summons. I told him of the Accident that had happened, and he said there was no Danger.
Danger. He saw the inflamed Leg, and kept his Hand moving over it, but did not touch it. He muttered some unintelligible Words, and spit on the Place affected, and in five Minutes he could walk without Pain, tho’ before the Cure, he could not stand without something to support him.

And since I have been mentioning the Scots East-India Ship and her Supercargoes, I will give a small Account of the Management of their Affairs in India. They arrived at Batavia about the Beginning of July 1701. but being taken up with the Pleasures of the Place, loitered away near a Month of their Time, which had been much better spent in prosecuting their Voyage to China: However, by the Beginning of September, they reach’d the Coast of China, where meeting with a Tuffoon, or a North-east Storm, that often blows violently about that Season, they were forced to bear away for Jo-bore, where they staid about two Months, and then came to Malacca, where they had a Mind to clean their Ship’s Bottom, and to proceed next April or May for China.

The Dutch received them civilly, and gave them Leave to lay their Ship ashore on an Island to the Westward of the Town, about two or three Miles from the Fort, and allowed them to land their Cargo and Stores on the Island, till their Ship was made clean, which they had perfected in two Springs, and bringing the Ship towards the Road again, the Captain being on board, board, ordered to steer the Ship on some Rocks that lay on the Shore, and were dry at Lowwater. The third Mate, who was the only commanding Officer on board, except the Captain, told him of the Danger he was running into, and begged him to alter his Course, but the Captain cursed him for his impertinent Advice, and run the Ship on the Rocks, but the People got a small Anchor and an Halfer out, and brought her afloat again, but, as soon as the Anchor was weighed, they run her once more on the Rocks, and she having a little Motion, a Rock work'd itself through her Bottom, and there she was lost without Hopes or Design of being recovered, and with her ended the Scots East-India Company's Interest in India. Whether the Ship was lost by Ignorance or Design, I will not judge, but, in my Opinion, it was by Design, for, as I heard afterwards, the Captain and Supercargoes had taken up round Sums on the Bottom of the Ship, and took that Method to pay their Debts. I came to Malacca about the Beginning of August, and found the second Supercargo in the ill State I have already mentioned, with the Purser and the Supercargo's Writer, and eleven Men more, who could not get Passages to Countries where they might get Employment. I had then a great Ship and a small one under my Command, so I entred them all on board my Ships in the same Posts they had on board the Speedwell, and I entred on a Scheme with the second Supercargo to carry the Scots Scots Company's Effects on board my great Ship to Scotland; but the first Supercargo, who was, before my Arrival, gone to China, and had no Mind ever to see his native Country again, broke our Measures by rambling thro' India with his Masters Stock. What the Scots Company's Cargo was, I did not see; but the Supercargoes had a Chest of Glass-ware in their own private Adventure, the most obscenely shameful that ever I saw or heard of among Merchants. They were Priapus' of a large Size, with a Scrotum big enough to hold an English Pint of Liquor, either to address the God Bacchus, or the Goddess Venus, as seemed best to their Votaries.

I prosecuted my Voyage to Surat, and left the Scots Supercargoes to pursue their Masters Interest in getting their Affairs in a readiness to get a Cargo for Europe, to be carried on board my Ship according to an Agreement made between the second Supercargo and me; but, instead of putting Affairs in a readiness, he embarrased them, lent some of his Masters Stock to some insolvent Merchants in Amoy in China, and let out some on the Bottom of the Ship he took his Passage on board of, and tho' that Ship was ordered, by the Owners and Freighters, back to Surat directly, a young Gentleman a Supercargo went with her to Bengal, and from thence to Persia, where the Ship was seized by the Owners Orders, and sent to Surat, where I met with the first Supercargo half-dead with Vexation for his Folly, in keeping such a Stock two two Years and an half without the least Improvement: And what was left in China, was in Danger of ever being recovered, tho' it was afterwards.

At Surat the chief Supercargo grew very weak, and finding he had not long to stay in this World, had a Mind to settle his Affairs here, before he went to the other; so one Day he sent for me, to advise him what he should do, with his Masters Effects, if he should die. I asked him if his Accounts were brought forward, and he told me they were, and desired, that I would take all into my Possession, and be accountable to the Scots Company, and to remit it Home to them, according to the Orders they would send me about it; but I excused myself, and would not meddle in their Affairs on such weak Terms; but I advised him to lodge his Books and Effects in the Hands of one Mr. Bernard Weyche, whom I took to be an honest and industrious Gentleman, and so he did, and then he died.

He was a Gentleman of a very courteous Behaviour, and understood a small Sword excellently well, but not much versed in Merchandize or foreign Commerce. The second was a very good Surgeon, and was Master of the French Language, but understood nothing in Accounts. The Captain, who staid on board of my Ship above twelve Months, had been bred in his Youth a Driver of Cattle from the Highlands Highlands of Scotland into England. He had very mean Education, and could not tell what he meant either in speaking or writing. He had a brutal Courage, and was the Husband of three Wives all alive together. He knew nothing either of the Theory or Practical Parts of Navigation, and yet had been honoured with a Commission for Lieutenant in the royal Navy of England.

I must now leave my long Digression, and proceed from Malacca along the Coast of Malaya, tho' there are no Places of Commerce between it and Jobore Lami, which is sometimes the Place of that King's Residence, and has the Benefit of a fine deep large River, which admits of two Entrances into it. The smallest is from the Westward, called by Europeans the Streights of Sincapure, but by the Natives Salleta de Brew. It runs along the side of Sincapure Island for five or six Leagues together, and ends at the great River of Jobore.

C H A P. XL.

Treats of the Dominions of Johore, its ancient and present State, occasioned by a Revolution.

The Territories of Johore reached from Perah to Point Romano, which is the southermost Promontory on the Continent of Asia,
of the East Indies.

Asia, it lying but one Degree to the Northward of the Equator, about three Leagues from Jobore River, in Length about 100 Leagues, and in the broadest Place about 80.

The Inhabitants are lazy, indolent, perfidious and cruel. The Country is very woody, being daily refresh'd with Showers and Breezes of Wind. It abounds in Tin, Pepper, Elephants Teeth, Gold, Agala Wood and Canes, but the Inhabitants are such Drones, that the sow very little Rice or other Grain. And the inland People subsist mostly on Sagow, the Pith of a small Twig split and dried in the Sun, and on their Fruits which grow all Seasons of the Year, and Roots, which they always have in great Plenty, and Poultry, which they rear up.

About the Sea-coast they feed mostly on Fish and Rice brought to them from Java, Siam and Cambodia. The People of Industry are the Chinese who inhabit among them in their Towns; and there may be about 1000 Families of them settled in the Jobore Dominions, besides a much greater Number who drive a foreign Trade among them.

In Religion they are heretical Mahometans, and are supplied with Priests from Surat; but the Soids are in most Esteem among them. They are great Lovers of Praying and Preaching, and frequent their Mosques very often, and look very devout; but their Practices are the most irreligious and immoral of any People I know.
In Anno 1695. their King was a Youth of twenty Years of Age, and being vitiously inclin-ed, was so corrupted by Adulation and flagiti-ous Company, that he became intolerable. I went to Jobore Lami at that Time to traffick with his Subjects, and some China Men, with a Cargo proper for their Turn, and, according to Custom, went to compliment his Majesty with a Present, in which was a Pair of screw-barrelled Pistols. He desired me to prove them with a Shot, to try how far it would penetrate a Post that was at the Gate, which I did, and he much admired how so little Powder should have Strength to force a Ball so far in the Wood, and begged some Powder and Ball, which I gave him, and the next Time he went abroad, he tried, on a poor Fellow in the Street, how far they could carry a Ball into his Flesh, and shot him through the Shoulder.

He was a great Sodomite, and had taken many of his Orankays or Nobles Sons, by Force into his Palace for that abominable Service. A Moorish Merchant, who was a Freighter on board my Ship, had an handsom Boy to his Son, whom the King one Day saw, and would needs have him for a Catamite. He threatened the Father, that if he did not send him with good Will, he would have him by Force. The poor Man had taken an House close by our Ship, and immediately came with his Son on board, imploring my Protection, which I promised him. He had not been half an Hour on board, till a Guard a Guard came in a Boat to demand him. I would suffer none to enter but the Officer, and an Interpreter for the Portugueze Language. The Officer told me his Errand, and, in an huffing Manner, threatened me, if I protected him. I made him no Answer, but taught him to leap into the River, and bid the Interpreter tell the King, that if he offered the least Violence to any that belonged to me, I would fire down his Palace about his Ears. He had never been contradicted before, much less threatened, and he sent for his Orankays to know if I was a King or no. They told him that I was on board of my Ship, and that I would prove a dangerous Enemy, if provoked, and begg'd that his Majesty would remove to a Village about twenty Miles up the River, and stay till our Ship was gone, which Favour he willingly granted us, and so we traded with some more Security, but were continually in Arms for fear of a Surprize.

He continued his insupportable Tyranny and Brutality for a Year or two after I was gone; and his Mother, to try if he could be broke off that unnatural Custom of Converse with Males, persuaded a beautiful young Woman to visit him, when he was a Bed, which she did, and allured him with her Embraces, but he was so far from being pleased with her Conversation, that he called his black Guard, and made them break both her Arms, for offering to embrace his royal Person. She cried, and said it was by his his Mother's Order she came, but that was no Excuse.

Next Morning he sent a Guard to bring her Father's Head, but he being an Orankay did not care to part with it, so the Tyrant took a Lance in his Hand, and swore he would have it; but, as he was entering at the Door, the Orankay past a long Lance through his Heart, and so made an End of the Beast.

The Kingdom was three Years without a King, but intestine Discords daily arising, in Anno 1700, they chose another, a Cousin-german to him that was killed. His Name was Sultan Abdulla Gialil, a Prince of great Moderation and Justice, and governed well for eight or nine Years, that he held the Reins of Government in his own Hands: Trade flourished all over his Dominions, and he was beloved by all his Subjects, but being of a quiet Disposition, and a great Bigot to the Mabometan Religion, disposed himself to Prayer and hearing Sermons, and left the Management of his Government to a younger Brother, called Rajab Moudab, a covetous tyrannical Prince. The King never came out of his Palace, but devoted himself wholly to the Company of Priests, who fed his Mind with their Nonsense and Cant, and his Brother keeping fair with the Priests, came to oppress the People, and keep the King ignorant. I had the Honour to be acquainted with him before he was King, and had free Access to him when he was King; but his Brother never never suffered me to be alone with him, lest I should have discovered some of his evil practices, which I certainly had done, if I could have found an Opportunity, and to have forewarned him of the Danger he was falling into. In Anno 1703, I called at Jobore in my way to China, and he treated me very kindly, and made me a Present of the Island of Sincapure; but I told him it could be of no Use to a private Person, tho' a proper Place for a Company to settle a Colony on, lying in the Centre of Trade, and being accommodated with good Rivers and safe Harbours, so conveniently situated, that all Winds served Shipping both to go out and come into those Rivers. The Soil is black and fat: And the Woods abound in good Mafts for Shipping, and Timber for building. I have seen large Beans growing wild in the Woods, not inferior to the best in Europe for Taste and Beauty; and Sugar-cane five or six Inches round growing wild also.

In 1708, the King's Brother persuaded him to leave Jobore Lami, and reside at Rhio on the Island of Bintang, about three Leagues off the River of Jobore, because he thought he could at his Tyranny with more Security than on the main Continent, and so at Rhio he engrossed all Trade in his own Hands, buying and selling at his own Prices, and punishing those who dared to speak against his arbitrary Dealings. At last, in 1712, a Rebellion broke out, that nothing could could stop but a Revolution, which dissolved the State into Anarchy.

Upon the rising of the People, the Tyrant got on board of a Galley, with his Wives and Children, and carried with him above a Tun Weight of Gold, and without taking leave of his Brother, fled to J ohore L ami; but finding a small Army of Monacaboes (whom the People had invited to their Assistance) had taken their Quarters there, he betook himself to the Woods with his Family, and left his Galley and Gold a Prey to them. He knew that there could be no long Safety in the Woods, and despairing of Mercy from the injured People, made Desperation supply the Place of Courage. He first killed his Wives and Children, but began to hesitate about killing himself, but a Page of twelve Years of Age asked him if he was afraid to die a Prince rather than be butcher'd like a Slave by some Villain or Slave's Hand, and that he, tho' innocent, and who might expect Mercy, would shew him the way to die, and with that took a Cress, and run himself through the Body. The Tyrant presently followed the Youth's Example, and immediately expired; but the Monacaboes coming soon after to the tragical Place, saw what had been done, and found the Boy alive, and in his Senses. They stop'd his bleeding Wound, and carried him to J ohore L ami till his Strength return'd.

When the King heard of the People's Mutiny, and his Brother's Flight, he came out of his his Palace, and proferred to settle the State in its former Tranquility, and if that could not appease them, he thought nothing else could bring them to Reason, but his Life, which he would willingly sacrifice to atone for his Male-administration.

The People told him, that he was too religious to make a good King, and that he might retire to Pabaung or Trangano, and spend his Time, but as for Johore and the Islands between Sumatra and it, they would consider what to do with them, and so gave him some Vessels to carry him and his Family, with others who would follow his Fortune, to Trangano.

On his way thither, he called at Puloaure, Tingi, Pisfang and Timoon, and the Inhabitants of those Islands received him with Demonstrations of Love, and promised to continue in their Duty as his Subjects. He put his eldest Son, a Youth about twenty Years of Age, a-shore at Pabaung, to keep that Country from revolting, and went himself to Trangano, where I afterwards had the Honour to see him; and there I leave him at present, and return to those Islands that lie round his Dominions.
Gives an Account of the Island of Sumatra its Places of Note in Trade.

SUMATRA fronts all the Coast of Malaya, from Quedah to the Promontory of Jalore, and reaches above 150 Leagues farther. It is one of the greatest Islands in the World. Atcheen being the most conspicuous Place for Trade, I will begin with it, and coast along the West Side of it, till I come round again to Andraguiry, to the North-westward of which River there is little or no Commerce.

Atcheen, for many Ages, has been a noted Port for Trade from Surat, Malabar, Cormondel, Bengal, Pegu and China. It lies at the North-west End of the famous Sumatra, and, for many Years, was blest with a Woman's Government. Queen Elizabeth of England sent the Queen of Atcheen, a Compliment of some English Rarities, among which were some Brass Guns, with the Arms of England on them, and the Friendship cultivated by the two Queens, procured great Indulgences from the Queen of Atcheen, to the English who traded to her Country. About the Year 1675, the Dutch made War on her, because she would not permit them to settle a Factory at Atcheen, or rather, to make her their Vassal. They shut up the Port of Atcheen by their Shipping, and straitned the Town Town for want of Provisions and other Necessaries, that came yearly from Bengal, but an English Ship came from thence with Rice and Cloth proper for the Market; but the Dutch, after their usual Manner, forbad the English Traffick, while they had a War. The Master of the English Ship being afraid of Ruin by the Loss of his Voyage, sent Advices to the Atcheeners to be ready near the Shore on a Night that he appointed, and he would run his Ship ashore in the Bay, loaded as she was, and they might have both the Corn and Cloth, whether the Dutch would or no, which Project was put in Practice, and had the desired Effect, with the Loss of the Ship only. This Piece of Service so pleased the Queen, that she called a Council of her Orankays, and magnifying the English Friendship, in a full Council declared all English free of Atcheen, to pay for a Ship with three Mafts, 100 Tayels, or about 80 L. Sterl. as a Present to the Queen, in Lieu of all Customs, let the Cargo be never so rich, and for a Brigantine or Sloop 40 Tayels, and that no English Goods should be carried to the Custom-house, or surveyed in their own Houses, and that all English Merchants Houses were to reckoned as Sanctuaries to such as could not pay their Debts, or had committed any slight Fault.

This Harmony continued till the Year 1700, that the Queen died, and a Seid or Preacher getting a strong Party, was made King, promising to do Wonders; but in all my Travels, I never found found a civil Government, with the Priest at at the Head of it, prosper long, and so it fell out here. The first Thing of Moment he contrived, was to make the English pay 10 per Cent.
Customs on the Goods they imported, which they would not come into, nor would they unlade their Goods, but on the old Footing.

In May 1702, I arrived there with a great Ship, and good Force, for it was dangerous to traffick by Sea, because of the Impediment that the French and the Pirates gave to Trade in India. I had on board a rich Cargo from Surat, and on my Arrival I took the Chap at the great River's Mouth, according to Custom. This Chap is a Piece of Silver about eight Ounces Weight, made in Form of a Cross, but the cross
Part is very short, that we take with both Hands, and put to our Forehead, and declare to the Officer that brings the Chap, that we come on an honest Design to trade, and after that Ceremony is over, we go in our Boats freely to the Town, which stands about four Miles up the River; but before we take the Chap, no Boat must go on Penalty of a Fine.

When I came to Town, I went to pay my Visit to the Shawbundaar, who is Custom-master, and common Arbitrator of Differences arising among Merchants. Some Gentlemen that resided there, and some Masters of Ships belonging to the English, accompanied me. I carried my Boat's Crew, armed with Fuzees and Bayonet, for my Guard. After some Compliments had past between the Shawbundaar and me, he told me, that if I had mind to trade there, I must carry my Goods to the Custom-house, and there to be opened, and 10 per Cent. laid by for the King, whether we sold the rest there or no. I told him that was a new Method that I did not understand, and could not come into, but with- al advised him to take Care how their King quarrelled with the English, who were as capa- ble to reduce them to Straits as the Dutch were, when the English relieved them. He answered me, that they were not afraid of what the English could do, for their Power being divided, they could do nothing but threaten.

I took my Leave of him abruptly, and told him, that we knew how to fight in Defence of our Rights and Privileges better than how to threaten. There were three English Vessels lying in the River, which had paid their Customs and sold their Cargoes at under Rates, and two Merchants that resided at Atceen. We all dined together, and, after Dinner, held a Con- sultation how to behave in this Affair, that af- fected our Merchants in general, who traded thither. At last it was agreed, that I should assist the Merchants in getting their Effects off on board of my Ship, and to get their Vessels out of the River, by the Assistance of my Boats and Men, and then to shut up the Port, all which was done in one Day and a Night. I then sent a Linguist to tell the Shawbundaar, that since the English were denied Trade at their Port, we forbad forbad Trade to any other Nation, and desired that no Boats might pass out of their Rivers, either to trade or fish, on their Peril. They continued quiet two Days, and on the Third they sent some Boats off, from a sandy Bay about three Miles from our Ship. I sent two Boats well mann'd to seize their Nets, but as soon as they perceived my Boats, they ran theirs ashore, and took out what was in them; and as my Boats were rowing near the Shore within a Mile of my Ship, about 40 or 50 Muskets were fired on them out of some Bushes that grow thick, a little Way from the Strand. My Boats fired in their Turn at the Place where they saw the Smoke, and I made a Signal to bring them aboard again, and found only two of my Men slightly wounded.

The same Evening we had Advice, that they were about mounting three Culverins that lay in a little Fort on the River's Side, as we go to Town. I immediately ordered my Armourer to get about 100 short Spikes of several Sizes, and harden them well, and carried them in my Boat, which I double manned, and coming into the River, we espied a great Number of Men in the Fort. I rowed directly towards it, and they within expecting to have a Message to carry to the King, stood gazing till we came close to the Wall, and then we saluted them with a Shower of twenty or thirty Granadoes, which so frightned them, that happy was he who got first away. We then entred the Fort, and
found some wounded Men in it. We presently spik'd up the Vents of the Guns, and left them, and came at our Leisure aboard again.

A Day or two after, as my Boat was rowing along the Shore, towards a Praw that was coming in towards the small River, they again fired out of their Bushes. I had forty two Guns mounted on my Ship, and bringing my Broadside to bear, I got five and twenty on that Side, and pointing them well among the Trees and Bushes where we observed the Smoke to arise, we gave them a Volley of great Shot in return of their Volley of small. By Report our great Shot did some Execution, but particularly on the poor Fishers, who had a Village a little within the Woods, that we did not see.

This Stoppage of Trade and Fishing, and killing and wounding the People, made a great Noise among the poorer Sort, having in nine Days Time found more of the Effects of Hostility, than ever they did in their Lives before, and so gathering together in great Numbers, went in a Body to the Palace, threatening Vengeance on the Causers of their Calamity, and if the English were not restored to their ancient Privileges, they would have a Woman to reign again.

A Nephew of the deceased Queen lived then privately at Pedier, a Town about seven Leagues off. Some Orankayas who were discontented with the new King's Government, first because he was a Foreigner, and that the Affairs of State were were ill managed and that a War with the English was impending, wrote to that Gentleman, that if he would come to them with a small Force, they would raise a Party to dethrone him that reigned, and he might have a fair Chance to succeed him.

However, the reigning King not expecting that his new Customs would meet with such Opposition, sent an Orankaya aboard of my Ship, with the Linguist, to know why we made War on him. We replied that he was the Aggressor, by robbing us of our just Rights and Privileges, acquired by our Services, and in firing at our Boats, so we wondered that the King could ask a Reason of us. The Orankaya told us, that he had brought a Power to make up all Differences on the King's Part, but that we must consent to some new Things, as that we should pay no Customs, but a Present as before, but that our Goods must go to the Customhouse, and there to be opened, and was going on; but I interrupted him, and told him he had demanded more than could be granted already, so he might save himself the Trouble of making farther Demands. When he found that nothing new could be obtained, he said he would carry our Answer to the King, which he did; and the same Evening Proclamation was cried through the Streets, that the English might again repair to their respective Houses, and trade on the old Foundation.
of the East Indies.

Next Day I went to wait on the Shawbundaar, but carried a Guard of twenty Europeans.

He ask'd me why I carried so many arm'd Men in my Company. I told him that I understood there were like to be Commotions in the Country, and I was resolved to be neuter, and would not be insulted by either Party. He begg'd that I would land some Bales of Goods, to shew that we were reconciled, which I did, to the no small Joy of the Town's People, who were quite tired with their new King's Experiments.

But the Clamours of the People did not cease.
For when they had News of their deceased Queen's Nephew's raising Forces to come to Atcheen, the Disorders of the State increased, but I left them, and pursed my Voyage to Malacca and Jobore, where I met with the Scots
second Supercargo, as is before mentioned.

Atcheen affords nothing of its own Product fit for Export, but Gold Dust, which they have pretty plentiful, and of the finest Touch of any in those Parts, it being two per Cent.
better than Andra-ghiry or Pabaung Gold, and is equal in Touch to our Guinea. They do not dig for it, but catch it in Gullies, or little Rivulets, as it washes off the Mountains, and one particularly, a very high Mountain in Form of a Pyramid, called Gold Mount, which by Report furnishes them yearly with above 1000 Pound Weight.

Elephants are very plentiful at Atcheen, and consequently their Teeth, which the Surat Merchants
Merchants buy up for their Markets. In 1702, I saw one who had been kept there above 100 Years, but by Report was then 300 Years old, he was about 11 Foot high, and had a vast Deal of Sagacity.

When any young male Elephant grows unruly, which they usually do in rutting Time, and break their Fetters and go astray, this old Elephant is immediately sent out, and following the Track of his Foot, will find him out, and bring him back to his Stable, either by fair or foul Means.

At Atcheen they have a small Coin of Leaden Money called Cash, from twelve to sixteen Hundred of them goes to one Mace, or Maccie. The Maccie is a small Gold Coin of fourteen Pence current, but in Value about twelve Pence English. I have taken a Gold Maccie, and put it with a Maccie of Cash, and thrown them into a Puddle of Water, and the Elephant would find out the Gold among the Lead, by the nice Feeling of his Proboscis.

There is a very comical Piece of Revenge he took on a Taylor in Anno 1692. A Ship called the Dorothy, commanded by Captain Thwaites, called at Atcheen for Refreshments in her Way from England to Bengal, and two English Gentlemen residing then at Atcheen, went aboard to furnish themselves with what European Necessaries they had Occasion for; and, amongst other Things, they bought some Norwich Stuffs for Clothes, and there being no English Taylor to
to be had, they employed a Surat Taylor, who kept a Shop on the Bazaar, or great Marketplace, and had generally half a Dozen, or half a Score Workmen to sew in his Shop. It was the old Elephant's Custom to reach in his Trunk at Doors or Windows as he passed along the Side of a Street, begging decayed Fruits or Roots, which the Inhabitants generally gave him.

As he was one Morning going to the River to be washed, with his Carnack, or Rider on his Back, he chanced to put his Trunk in at the Taylor's Window, and the Taylor prick'd him with his Needle, instead of giving an Alms. The Elephant seem'd to take no Notice of the Afront, but went calmly on to the River, and was washed, and being done with washing, troubled the Water with one of his fore Feet, and then sucked up a good Quantity of that dirty Water into his Trunk, and passing unconcernedly along the same Side of the Street were the Taylor's Shop was, he put in his Trunk at the Window, and blew his Nose on the Taylor with such a Force and Quantity of Water, that the poor Taylor and his Life-guard, were blown off the Table they wrought on, almost frightned out of their Senses; but the English Gentlemen had their Clothes spoiled by the Elephant's comical, but innocent Revenge.

No Place in the World punishes Theft with greater Severity than Atcheen, and yet Robberies and Murders are more frequent there than in any other Place. For the first Fault, if the Theft do do not amount to a Tayel Value, it is but the Loss of an Hand, or a Foot, and the Criminal may choose which he'll part with; and if caught a second Time, the same Punishment and Loss is used, but the third Time, or if they steal five Tayel in Value, that Crime entitles them to Souling, or impaling alive. When their Hand or Foot is to be cut off, they have a Block with a broad Hatchet fixed in it with the Edge upwards, on which the Limb is laid, and struck on with a wooden Mallet, till the Amputation is made, and they have an hollow Bambow, or Indian Cane, ready to put the Stump in, and stop'd about with Rags or Moss, to keep the Blood from coming out, and are set in a conspicuous Place, for Travellers to gaze on, who generally bestow a little Spittle in a Pot, being what is produced by the Mastication of Beetle, and that serves them instead of Salve to cure their Wounds.

Those who suffer the Penalty of the Law, who have no Families in the Town, are banished to Pullo-wey, and Island about four Leagues to the North-eastward of Atcheon, and there they cultivate the Ground, and breed Poultry for the Use of the Town; and I have heard that there are above five hundred of those Banditti Inhabitants on it. There is another Island that lies about three Leagues to the North-ward of Pullo-wey, called Pullo-rondo. It is uninhabited, and sends forth a Reef of Rocks towards Pullo-wey, above one third Part of the Channel. Between them them and Pullo-gomus is a Cluster of high mountainous and rocky Islands, to the North-westward of Atcheen, and their End runs to seven Leagues Distance from the Road. There is no Danger lying above a Mile off them; and between Atcheen Head an high steep Promontory, and the South End of Gomus Islands, there are two Channels to come from the West-ward into the Road. The smallet, which is not a Quarter of a Mile broad, has no Danger in it, but the broadest, which is above two Miles broad, is pestered with Rocks half Way over from Gomus Islands.

The Vallies about Atcheen produce excellent Fruits, and the best Mangostanes in the World grow there. The Air is very salutary, and the River Waters are excellent for bathing. Washing in it before Sun-rising, and after setting, has cured inveterate Fluxes; and I have been told, that frequent Bathing has cur’d the Pox.

CHAP. XLII.

Gives an Account of the Islands and trading Ports on the West Coast of Sumatra.

AND now I leave Atcheen, and pursue my Travels along the West Coast of Sumatra.
Labon is the first Place noted for Gold Dust and Cam-Camphire, but has no Commerce with Strangers. Hog Island lies opposite to it, about ten Leagues off. This Island takes its Name from the great Numbers of wild Hogs on it, who are the only Inhabitants; as Cocoa Island, close to it, takes its Name from the great Numbers of Cocoa-nut Trees growing on it.

Baros is the next Place that abounds in Gold, Camphire, and Benzoin, but admits of no foreign Commerce. It lies within the South End of Hog’s Island, about the same Distance from it that Labon is. This Place sets a Boundary to the Kingdom of Atcheen.

Ayerbangie is the next Place of Notice. It produces Gold and Pepper; it lies about one Degree to the Northward of the Equator, and has the Advantage of a good safe Harbour, but it is little frequented, because of the Treachery of the Natives, who make small Account of murdering Strangers, if they can but get the least Advantage by it. The Harbour lies in a small but deep Bay, and three small Islands lying before it, make it a most excellent Harbour; and the Channels between the Islands, and between the Shore and the Islands, are clear of Danger. The North End of Pullo-nayas lies about twenty Leagues without it. The Inhabitants of that Island prove the best Slaves in India, and are sold at an higher Price in the Atcheen Market than any others.

Padang is about twenty Leagues to the Southward of the Equator, where the Dutch have have a Colony, and a strong Fort to defend it from the Insults of the Natives. It cost the Dutch many Men, and much Treasure before they could force a Settlement there, tho' at last they gained their Point; but being a Country that produces only Gold and Pepper, the Profits can hardly bear the Charge. The Island of Good Fortune lies about 20 Leagues without it.

Indrapura is the next, and lies about fifty Leagues to the Southward of the Æquator. It was formerly an English Factory, but the Dutch insulted it in King William's War with France, and it has made a sorry Figure in Trade since. Its Commodity is only Pepper, but it affords great Plenty of it, and very cheap. The Island of Nassau lies about 15 Leagues without it.

Bencolon is an English Colony, but the European Inhabitants not very numerous. About the Year 1690. the East-india Company built a Fort there, and called it York Fort, but Brick or Stone Walls in that Country cannot long continue firm, because Concussions of the Earth are so frequent by Earthquakes, that solid Walls are rent by the shaking of their Foundations. It has the Conveniency of a River to bring their Pepper out of the inland Countries, but great Inconveniencies in shipping it off on board the Ships, for there is a dangerous Bar at the River's Mouth, which has proved fatal to many poor English Men. The Road for Shipping is also inconvenient; for in the South-west Monsoons, there being nothing to keep the great Swell of rolling Seas off them, but a small Island called Rat Island, the Ships are ever in a violent Motion while the Monsoon lasts.

The inland Princes are often at Variance among themselves, and sometimes are troublesome to the Trade of our Colony, but as their Wars are short, the English are in little Danger by them. In the Year 1693, there was a great Mortality in the Colony, the Governor and his Council all died in a short Time after one another; and one Mr. Sowdon being the eldest Factor, had his Residence at Prayman, or Priaman, a Subordinate Factory to Bencolon, being called to the Government of the Colony, but not very fit for that Charge, because of his intemperate drinking, it fortuned in his short Reign, that four Princes differed, and rather than run into Acts of Hostility, referred their Differences to the Arbitriment of the English Governor, and came to the Fort with their Plea. Mr. Sowdon soon determined their Differences in favour of the two that complained; and because the others seem'd dissatisfied with his Determination, ordered both their Heads to be struck off, which ended their Disputes effectually, and made them afterwards to make up Differences among themselves, without troubling the English with their Contentions and impertinent Quarrels, but Governor Sowdon was sent for to Fort St. George, and another sent in his Place less sanguine.

And
And ever since that time there has been a succession of moderate Governors, and some have been guilty of as much Temerity the other Way. For in Anno 1719, the then Governor, having some disputes with some of the Natives, was somewhat fearful of them. On a festival Day, in firing Guns, a Wad from one of them set Fire to an House thatch'd with Reeds, and several others contiguous to it took Fire from it, so that it spread through the Market Place. The Governor believing it to be done maliciously by the Natives, left the Fort precipitately, and got on board of a Ship in the Road, leaving some Cheests of Money, and all the Artillery, Arms, Ammunition, and other Effects of his Masters, behind him, and his Garrison, following their Leader, left their Posts, and got aboard also.

The Natives being surprized with the sudden Departure of the English, went into the Fort, and took what they had most Occasion for; but some Chinesse Merchants, who had settled at Beng__on, being also frightned, embarked on their Vessels, and dispersed themselves in Places where they thought they might be most secure.

The chief Merchant of the Chinesse, who is generally called the China Captain, in the Places where the Chinesse have Trade, went to Batavia o some Relations he had there, but the Dutch, according to their wonted Hospitality in India, punished him as a Criminal, and taught him to make Lime and carry Stones the Remnant of his Days, for daring to settle among the English.
Some of the Chinese I saw the same Year at Trangano in Jobore, who gave me this Account. Wherever these poor Chinese came, in Places where the Dutch had Power, they were as heartily persecuted as a poor Protestant is that takes Sanctuary in a Country where the holy, charitable, zealous Roman Clergy have Power.

The Natives were almost ruined by the English Desertion. For as their Trade lay all on their Pepper, none came to buy it, and their Regret being known at Fort St. George, there was a new Governor sent back with a new Garrison, to take Possession again of their own Fort. What the Company lost by that unaccountable Piece of Temerity, I know not, but they gained very little Credit by it.

The Country above Ben colon is mountainous and woody, and I have heard that there are many Vulcanaes in this Island; but whatever may be the Cause, the Air is full of malignant Vapours, and the Mountains are continually clothed with thick heavy Clouds, that break out in Lightning, Thunder, Rain, and short-liv’d Storms. Their Food is not fit for every Stomach. Tame Buffalo may be had, but no Cow-beef. Poultry are scarce and dear, and so is Fish, but some Sorts of Fruits are pretty plentiful; however, the Gentlemen there live as merrily, tho’ not so long, as in other Places blest with Plenty, and so sociable, that they leave their Estates to the longest Liver.

Sillebar
of the East Indies.

Sillebar lies but four Leagues to the South-eastward of Bencolon, and has a fine convenient Harbour to shelter Shipping from all Dangers caused by Storms, but the fresh Water is bad, and if drunk any considerable Time, causes Gripings and Fluxes, but it wants a River to bring Pepper from the inland Countries. There is no Place of Commerce or Note between Sillebar and Lampoun Point, which is the Southward-most Point of Sumatra, nor any Thing remarkable on the Sea-shore, but a small Village called Pissangen, which has a small low Island lying a little Way off it, and there is above 40 Fathoms deep within an English Mile of the Shore. And the Island of Engano lies in the Offing, about 20 Leagues from it. It is an Island about three Leagues long, uninhabited, very smooth, without Mountains, and may be seen nine or ten Leagues off.

Lampoun lies twenty Leagues from the Point within the Streights of Sunda, at the Bottom of a deep Bay. The English had a good Pepper Factory there, but it being a Part of the King of Bantam's Dominions, that Factory was lost when the Dutch compelled the English to leave Bantam, in Anna 1683, and what Lampoun produces, is carried to them at Bantam.
THERE are no other Places of Note on that Part of the Sumatra Coast, till we come to Pullambam, which lies opposite to the North-west Point of the Island of Banka, about four Leagues distant from it. Pullambam is a Dutch Factory that brings them great Quantities of Pepper, being under Contract with the King of Pullambain, and other inland Princes, to take off all their Pepper at a certain Price, I think it is for 10 Pieces of Eight, or 50 Shillings Ster. a Balbar, of 400 Pounds English Suttle Weight, one Half to be paid in Money, and the other Half in Cloth. The Cloth Part the Company pays at 70 per Cent, on the prime Cost; but all other Nations are debarr'd Commerce there, except the Chinese, and by their Means the English come in for a Share of their Pepper, as our Ships pass through the Streights of Banka.

Pullambam lies about eight Leagues from the Sea, on the Banks of a large River, which divides itself into several Branches, and they disembogue at four Mouths into the Sea. The Dutch keep two small Sloops cruising about those Mouths of the River, to prevent Smuggling,
of the East Indies. 119

gling, but I and many others have found Ways and Means to lade our Ships full with Pepper, notwithstanding the strict Guard. An hundred Pounds to the King, and as much to the Dutch Chief, make a Cargo of a thousand Babaars easily procur'd.

The Pullambam Pepper is very foul, insomuch that we seldom find less than 10 or 12 per Cent. Garblage, but then we buy it for nine Pieces of Eight a Babaar. The Dutch lade off about 3000 Tuns per Annum, from this Place, and the Chinese and Natives lade off as much more. The Natives are obliged to carry theirs to Batavia, and sell to the Dutch Company, but if they meet with a Market by the Way, they'll embrace it; for the Company's Payment being mostly in Cloth at high Rates, they are not fond of trading with them.

The Dutch Company formerly drove a good Trade in Ophium, at Pullambam, which (like French Claret and Brandy) drew much ready Cash out of this Country, as those do out of ours, but in Anno 1708. the King ordered only the Importation of three Chests, each containing about 160 Pound Weight; and if Smugglers were detected, they paid their Goods and Lives for their Disobedience.

The Island of Banka lying so near the Coast of Pullambam, I'll take a View of it as I pass along. It is about fifty Leagues long, and sixteen broad, some Places being broader, and some narrower. For about 30 Leagues it faces the

I 4 Sumatra
Sumatra Coast, keeping between 3 and 6 Leagues distant. The Entrance from the Southward being farthest distant in the Streights of Banka, at the Mouth of which is the Island of Lucipara, a small barren Island, which sends forth Sand Banks almost three Leagues towards the Coast of Sumatra. And within a Mile of that Shore, where the Channel is deepest, there are but four Fathoms and a half Water, but the Bottom is soft.

About 12 Leagues from the North End is the Place of the King's Residence. In 1710, a Son of the King of Pullambam was King, and a Fire accidentally happening in a Village, when the Fire was extinguished, they chanced to find much melted Metal under the Rubbish, which proved to be Tin. The King ordered his People to dig a little into the Ground, and they found Plenty of Ore, which he now reaps a good Advantage by. The Dutch sent from Batavia for Leave to settle a Factory there, but could not obtain that Favour, the King declaring that his Country should be free for all Nations to trade in.

The Natives of the Island are, as most other Malays, very treacherous, inhumane and inhospitable to Strangers, who have the Misfortune to be ship-wreck'd on that Coast. I knew one Captain Pelling, who belonged to some Gentlemen of Attebeen, and had the Misfortune to be ship-wreck'd there; they cut him off and all his Crew, except two Boys who were made Slaves: But I know a very honest ingenious Gentleman now alive in

in England, who had better Fortune, for after his Ship was lost in the Streights of Banka, he and his Men directed their Course to Pullambam, where a very hospitable Dutch Gentleman, who fortuned to be Chief of the Dutch Affairs at that Time, gave them a kind Reception, and procured them Passage for Batavia, where some Years after, I was in Company with the Host and Guest together.

Banka has a very foul Coast for six Leagues within Monapin Point, which is the North-west Cape-land on the Island; and over that Cape there is an high Mountain called Monapin Hill. On the North-east Coast of the Island, there are so many Banks and Rocks under Water, that Navigation is very precarious, and none but Panya-lang and Praws (small Vessels) venture to go that Tract; besides, there are no Places of Commerce on the North-east Side of Banka, to invite a Stranger by the Prospect of Gain, and so I return back to the Coast of Sumatra again, without taking Notice of the little Pepper and Dammar that are the Product of Banka.

From Pullambam there are no Places of Commerce on the Coast, till we come to Jambee, which is about 100 English Miles. Here formerly the English had a Factory on an Island near its River's Mouth, called Barella; but the Impediments their Trade met with from the Dutch, who had a Factory in the Country up the River, made the English Company withdraw. The Dutch kept a little Factory at Jambee.
bee till 1710; and then withdrew also. That Country produces only Pepper and Canes; and by the Laziness of the Inhabitants, there is hardly any of them procurable.

The Island Lingen lies under the AEquator, about 20 Leagues from Jambee, and as far from the River of Jobore, and is a Part of the Jobore Dominions. It is about twenty Leagues long, and ten broad. It is very mountainous within, and very low towards the Sea. Its Product is some Pepper and Canes, and it abounds in Porcupines, which affords them the valuable Porcupine Beakoar. Some of them I have seen as big as a Walnut, and of the same Shape, and pretty near in Colour, valued at 600 Pieces of Eight. Between Lingen and Sumatra are the Streights of Drions, where generally Ships pass that go from Malacca to Batavia.

On the Sumatra Shore there are no Places of Commerce, till we come to the South Entrance of Andraghira River, and there lies Pattapan, a Town belonging to the Dominions of Jobore, that affords Pepper and Gold. Off the Mouth of that River about ten Leagues lie the two Islands of Carimon, and between them and the Sumatra Shore, are the Streights of Labon. Upon the East Side of the great Carimon, is the Entrance of the Streights of Drions; and between the small Carimon and Tanjong-bellong on the Continent, is the Entrance of the Streights of Sincapure before-mentioned, and also into the Streights of Governadore, the largest and easiest Passage

Passage into the China Seas. There are many Islands lying thick hereabout, all under the Dominions of Jobore.

The Dutch have also a Factory on the River of Andragbira, called Siack, but of no great Moment. It is so unhealthful, that incorrigible Sots, and other Lumber of the active World, are sent thither to expiate their Offences against Nature, and very seldom any return back to give an Account of the Salubritiy of the Country. The Reason may be, that yearly there are vast Numbers of Fish called Shades, about the Bigness of a Haddock, full of Bones, and Rows about one third of their own Magnitude, which come into that River to spawn, and great Numbers of People resort thither in that Season to catch them, for the sake of their Rows, and throw away the rest of the Fith, which so corrupts the Air, that few can hold out one Year, but are relieved every six Months, except those who are sent for Sacrifices to Pluto.

The Dutch have another Factory right opposite to Malacca, on the Side of a large River, called Bankalis. Whether that be a Branch of Andragbira River I know not, but I believe it is. The Company vends a great deal of Cloth and Ophium there, and brings Gold-dust in Return. That beneficial Trade was not known to the Dutch before 1685, that one Mr. Lucas, a Factor in the Company's Service at Malacca, was advised by a 'Malaya to send some Surat Baftaes dyed blue, and some Berams dyed red, which which are both coarse Cotton Cloth much worn in that Country; and Ophium is as much in Request there, as Tea is with us. In 10 Years that he kept that Trade wholly to himself, tho' in other Men's Names, he got an Estate of 10 or 12 Tuns of Gold, or about 100,000 Pounds English, and then revealed the Secret to the Company, who took that Trade altogether into their own Hands.

There are prodigious Numbers of wild Swine about Bankalis, and in the Months of December and January their Flesh is very sweet and fat. In those Months great Numbers of People resort thither in small Praws. Some go into the Woods, and drive them towards the River, while others are ready with Dogs to drive them into it, and when one goes, all the Herd follows. Others are ready with Lances in their Praws, to pursue them in the Water, and lance them, and so many as are lanced, drop down on the other Shore, and they are immediately carried to Places appointed, where there are many Fires made of Bruth-wood and Leaves of Trees, which the Woods afford in great Plenty, and in those light Flames, they singe the Hair off, and take out the Intrails, and cut them in proper Pieces, and salt them in the Praws; and every Praw has a Share proportionable to the Number of Men it brings. After it has lain three or four Days in Salt, they wash the Pork, and hang it in Smoke, and then put it into Casks, which they have ready for their Purpose, with some dry Salt, Salt, and sell it by the Cask to the best Bidder. And I think it is the most savoury salt Pork that ever I tasted.

Those Fitch Rows caught at Siack, they pickle up in Salt and Tamarinds, and then dry them in Smoke, and when dry enough, put them up in large Leaves of Trees, and transport them to all the Countries about, from Atcheen to Siam. It is called, when dried, Turbow, and of Pork and Turbow they drive a good Trade, which I think far exceeds Caviar.

There is no other Place on the Sumatra Coast, between Bankalis and Atcheen, that admits of Commerce with Strangers, tho' there are several large Rivers; at least, by their Outlets to the Sea, they appear to be so. There is one called Delley, that lies five Leagues within Pullo Verera, a small uninhabited Island, that affords nothing but fresh Water and Wood. The Inhabitants of that Part of Sumatra, are said to be Cannibals. Diamond Point lies about 20 Leagues to the North-west of Pullo Verera, that sends dangerous Rocks above a League off Shore. The Inhabitants are uncivilized, murdering all whom they can surprize or master. And at Pissang, about 10 Leagues to the Westward of Diamond Point, there is a fine deep River, but not frequented, because of the Treachery and bloody Disposition of the Natives. Twelve Leagues farther West lies Pedier. It has the Benefit of a good River, but being but eight Leagues from Atcheen, it has no Trade.
A New Account

C H A P. XLIV.

Treats of Java, and the Islands near it, with an Account of the Garrisons and Factories settled on that Island by the Dutch, the Produce and Commerce of Java, Bally, Lomboy, Flores, So-lore, Leolana, Panterra, Miscomby, Timore, Banda and Molucca Islands, and the Islands of Celebes their Product, Extent and Commerce.

And now having ended my Tour round Sumatra, I must return to the Southward, and travel to the Eastward of Sumatra, and to the Southward of the Equator, among those famous Islands; and Java being the Westmost, I begin there, and march Eastward among Islands far from any Continent.

Princes Island is close to the West Point of Java. It has a Channel between it and Java, but there is some Danger in it. There are no Inhabitants on it; but there are three Places that afford good Water, and Wood enough for Ships bound out of the Streights of Sunda to Europe. There are several other Islands in the Streights, as Caccotou, Duars, in the Way, the Button and Cape, and several others without Name.

The
of the East Indies.

The first Place of Commerce on the West End of Java, is the famous Bantam, where the English and Danes had their Factories flourishing till Anno 1682, at which Time the neighbourly Dutch fomented a War between the old King of Bantam and his Son, and because the Father would not come into their Measures, and be their humble Slave, they struck in with the Son, who was more covetous of a Crown than of Wisdom. They, with the Assistance of other Rebels, put the Son on the Throne, and took the old King Prisoner, and sent him to Batavia; and in 1683, they pretended a Power from the new King to send the English and Danes a packing, which they did with a great deal of Insolence according to Custom. They next fortified, by building a strong Fort within a Pistol-shot of one that the old King had built before to bridle their Insolence.

The only Product of Bantam is Pepper, wherein it abounds so much, that they can export 10000 Tuns per Annum. The Road is good, and secure for the Safety of Shipping. It is in a pleasant Bay, wherein are several small Islands, which retain their English Names still; and the Natives still lament the Loss of the English Trade among them, but the King has much more Reason than his Subjects to regret the Loss of their Commerce. The Good-will the Natives bear to the Dutch may be conjectured from their Treatment, when they find an Opportunity, for if an Hollander goes but a Muskete-
Musket-shot from their Fort, it is five to one if ever he returns, for they are dextrous in throwing a Lance, or shooting of poisoned Darts thro' a wooden Pipe or Trunk; and the King never redresses them, pretending the Criminal cannot be found.

Batavia is about 20 Leagues to the Eastward of Bantam, and a great Number of small Islands lie scattered in the way, too tedious to mention. Pullo-panjang off Bantam, and Edam off Batavia are the most conspicuous, and the Road of Batavia is almost surrounded with Islands, some of them inhabited, and some not. Its Topography I'll refer to another Time, with some historical Accounts of it, both ancient and modern.

Cheraboan is the next Colony on the Coast, to the Eastward of Batavia, belonging to the Dutch, where they have a Fort and a small Garrison.

Tagal is also a Dutch Settlement, with a small Fort for its Defence; and there is no other remarkable Place till we come to Samarang, a good Colony, with a Fort of Mud and Wood to defend it. Damack and Coutus, two Places that lie between Samarang and Japara, are noted, one for the Abundance of Rice that it exports, and the other for great Quantities of good Sugars that it produces. They are peopled mostly with Chinese, and so is Japara, which formerly had an English Factory, but now is altogether in the Dutch Hands.
of the East Indies.

It is defended by two Forts, one on an Hill, and the other in a Plain, where the Town stands, and has a small River to wash its Walls. The Road is secured by two Islands that lie about a League off the Town. I bought good white Sugar in Cakes here for two Dutch Dollars per Pecul, being 140 lb. English Salt. Weight.

Tampeira is the next Place to the Eastward, and to the Eastward of it is Rambang, about two Leagues from it, where the Dutch have a small wooden Fort, and a little Garrison of sixteen Men. Those two afford nothing but excellent Teak Timber for building. And to the Eastward of Rambang is Sorobay, which lies within the Island Madura, and I believe, is the Eastmost Settlement the Dutch have on the Island of Java. It produces much Pepper, some Beeswax and Iron. Sorobay is about 125 Leagues to the Eastward of Batavia, and the Country, along Shore, as pleasant and fruitful in Grain and Fruits as any in the World. Tame Cattle and wild Game are very plentiful, good and cheap. At Rambang I bought a Cow, fleshy and fat, for two Pieces of Eight, that weighed above 300 Weight; and wild Hog and Deer we killed daily with our Fowling-pieces, as we did also Peacocks and wild Poultry. The Cocks are all like one another, with red Necks and Bodies, and black Wings and Tail; and the Hens are exactly like large Partridges. The Cocks are pretty large, and when they take Wing, they make a Noise that may be heard half a Mile. Their Fleish is

Vol. II. K both
both savoury and juicy; and the wild Hog is excellent. In the Woods are many flying Squirrels. Some of them I have seen tame in Cages. They also have little Horses wild in the Woods, and some Tigers, but being not much pinched with Hunger, they seldom attack Men. They have one dangerous little Animal called a Jackoa, in Shape almost like a Lizard. It is very malicious, and pisses at every Thing that offends it, and wherever the Liquor lights on an animal Body, it presently cankers the Flesh, unless immediate Cauterizings are used, and if that cannot be had, the Piece must be cut out, for if once it blisters the Skin, there is no Cure for it afterwards; but he seldom fails of giving Notice where he is, by a loud Noise calling Jackoa.

I was once at Supper with some Dutch Gentlemen at Rambang, in a House thatch’d with Cocoa-nut Leaves, and we were no sooner set, but one of those Jackoas opened its Throat almost over our Heads. The Dutch Gentlemen took the Alarm, and arose from the Table in great Hast, and ran out of the Room calling to me, who sat still (not a little surprized to see their sudden Flight) to follow them, for my Life was in Danger, and on hearing that Admonition, I was not long after them; but its Noise spoiled our Supper.

As there are many Species of wild Animals in those Woods, there is one in particular, called the Oran Outang. It is nearest to human, both in Shape
of the East Indies.

I saw one about four Foot high, gross and sagacity, among all the herd of Ani-

ers. His Fingers reach'd just to his Knees, and stood upright. His Thighs and Legs plump, too small in proportion to his Body. His Tail long, and broad at the Toes, but a little narrow at the Heel. His Belly prominent, covered with a light-coloured Fur, the rest of Body being brown, and the Fur thicker and larger than the Belly Fur. His Head some-at large. His Face broad and full. His Eyes and small. His Nose little and flat. His per-lip and Under-jaw very large. He blows Nose, and throws away the Snot with his gers, can kindle a Fire, and blow it with Mouth. And I saw one broil a Fish to eat his boiled Rice. The Females have their usual Menstrua. They have no Tail, and walk upright. They are of a melancholy Disposition, and have a grave dejected Counte-nace, and even when they are young, they never inclined to play, as most other Animals are. There is a smaller Sort, but of a different Species, called Oumpaes; but their legs and Arms are very small.

They have many large Crocodiles or Alligators in their Rivers and Marshes, and sometimes go a Mile or two off to Sea, and get foul

the Fishers Nets. I was cleaning a Vessel

at I bought at Samarang) on a Bed of Ooze, had Stages fitted for my People to stand

on, when the Water came round the Vessel, and we were plagued with five or six Alligators, which wanted to be on the Stage, and every Moment disturbed our Men; so I, and two of my Men, sat on the Vessel's Deck, and fired Muskets at them, but our Ball did them no harm, because their hard scaly Coat was Shot-proof. At last we contrived to shoot at their Eyes, and we shot at one so. As soon as he found himself wounded, he turned Tail on us, and with great Flouncings, made towards the Shore about half a Mile from us, and the rest following him, we were pretty quiet after that. A Day or two after, some Fishers told us, that they had seen a dead Alligator lying on the Shore, and pointed whereabout they saw him. I went, in a Boat, ashore, and found him lying at full Length. I measured his Length, and found from his Nose to his Tail, twenty-seven Foot and an half, and he was about one third Part of his Length in Circumference about the Belly.

I was in Sumarang in 1704, in the Months of July and August, when Navigation on that Coast is accounted dangerous. A War happened then to break out between the Natives of that Part of Java and the Dutch, about the Succession of a new Sun Suovan or Emperor, the old one demiting about that Time. The Dutch would impose the old Emperor's Brother on them against the general Bent of the Nation, and the Nobility were for his eldest Son, Son, being the established Law and Custom of the Country.

I being then bound for Batavia, the Commodore desired me to carry a Packet of Letters for the General and his Council, which I did, and delivered them, before they were six Days old, to the General (Jan Van Hoorn) which Piece of Service recommended me to his Favour, which he demonstrated afterwards in some Indulgences I had, and some Confidence he reposed in me.

The War begun then, lasted 20 Years longer than at first the Dutch imagined. It taught the Javans the Art of War, having a great Number of Maccassers and Ballies, who had been trained up in the Dutch Company's Wars against several Nations. Many of them came into the eldest Son's Interest, who having as good Courage and subtle Stratagems, with much greater Agility of Body than the Dutch, made the War more terrible and dangerous than any the Company had ever entered into; notwithstanding the Pretender had a large Party of Javans, and was assisted by Maccassers, Amboinesers, Balleys and Bougies; but they wanted the European Discipline that the others had who served the young Emperor, for they could encamp and mine as well as the Dutch.

A Dutch Captain, in his March towards the Dutch Camp, fell with his Company, into an Ambush of Javans. Some of his Men were killed, but he, and most of his Men were taken.
Prisoners. The Dutch Camp was pitched on the Side of a River, and the Javans a few Miles above them on the same River's Side. Next Day, to the Dutch great Amazement, they saw the Captain and his Men swimming down with the Stream, on Bundles of Reeds, with all their Legs, Thigh-bones and Arms broken, and most of them alive. Their Countrymen took them out of the River, and used Means to save their Lives, but very few lived, which put their whole Army in some Dread, by observing what Quarter they might expect if any of them were taken Prisoners.

The Religion of Java is partly Mahometan and partly Pagan. The Pagans choose Women to be Priestesses, and they are generally old, and well skilled in Witchcraft. And it is reported, that they have frequent Conversation with the Devil, who appears to them in an horrid monstrous Shape, and the Priestesses sacrifice an Hog to him. The Emperor resides at an inland Town called Cartajouri, about three Days Journey from Samarang, where I'll leave him, and proceed to

The Island of Madura, that produces nothing for a foreign Market, but Deer Skins. They may be had in great Abundance, and very cheap. This Island confronts Java to its very Eastermost Point. I have no Knowledge of the Islands to the Eastward of Java; but what I have had by Information from the Dutch, who are the only Possessors of that Commerce, except two English Ships that fell in among some of those Islands, and

and so I will not go on in those lame Observations and Remarks.

I observed before, that Soroāay was the Eastmost Settlement the Dutch have on Java, neither have they any Footing, that I have heard of, on the South Side of that Island, tho' the Natives are pretty well civilized, and as Ships from Europe fall in with that Coast, they will bring off Provisions to sell them, particularly if they see English Colours, for very often the Dutch buy their Commodities, but pay nothing for them.

The Island of Bally lies next Java to the Eastward. It abounds in Provisions for the Inhabitants, but affords nothing fit for Exportation. The Natives are daring and bold, even to Desperation. Many of them enter in the Dutch Service, and make good Soldiers. Between Java and Bally are the Streights of Bally.

Lambock is next Bally to the Eastward, and about the same Magnitude. It produces the same Necessaries as Bally, but nothing to export.

Combarac is next to Lambock to the Eastward, an Island as big as both the last two mentioned. It produces nothing for Export. Between it and Lambock are the Streights of Allusi, named from a Town standing on the Shore, about the middle of the Streights.

The next Islands to the Eastward of Combarac, are the two Islands of Sappi, of small Account in Commerce, and so is
The Island of Flores to the Eastward of them, tho' it is an Island above 50 Leagues, and eighteen broad. In Anno 1703, Captain Wright in the Leghorn Galley, lost his Passage from Banjär on Borneo, to Batavia, and by contrary Winds, and strong Currents, was driven to this Island, and anchored at a Town on the West End of it, called Larrentoucka. Finding the Place convenient and safe to pass three or four Months of the Westerly Monfoons, he took an House a-shore, and kept sometimes one Part of his Ship's Crew a-shore, and sometimes another, to refresh them. He gave Warning to the People of the Town not to trust his Men, but they, minding their own Profit, had trusted the Seamen about 100 l. Sterl. A little before he was ready to fail, the Creditors came and demanded their Money. He refused Payment, alledging that a public Crier had gone through the Town forbidding any Body to trust his Men, and that Crier was ordered by a Magistrate to proclaim the Prohibition. The Creditors said it was true they could not recover any Thing by Law, but if he valued his own Health he would satisfy them, if not in all, yet in Part, and so he paid one half, which most of them were content with, but one old Witch was not, but threatened his Destruction, if she had not all her Demand paid.

The Captain knowing that the Natives were very skilful in the Art of Poisoning, resolved to prevent their taking any Opportunity that Way, Way, and so went on board to eat and sleep, and was so cautious, that he would not so much as taste their green Fruits, nor smell their Flowers, after the Time that the old Hag threatened him, and yet before he left the Place, he found himself much troubled with Gripings and Fluxes. I was at Batavia when he came there. He could not reach the Road with his Ship before he anchored, but was forced to anchor without, and sent his Boat on board of my Ship, to desire Help to weigh their Anchor. I sent a Boat with 20 Men and an Officer, to bring their Ship into the Road, which next Morning they did; the poor Man was brought to that Pass by the Effects of Poison, that he could not walk without being supported, nor could he lift his Hand to his Head.

I waited on him a-shore, and he desired to be carried to his usual Quarters, at the Sign of the red Lion, kept by a Woman called Black Moll, a Native of the Island of Flores, and he giving her an Account of his Condition, and how ignorant he was of the Cause of it, she bid him be cheerful, for she knew how he had been poisoned, not by any Thing taken inwardly, but by a Spell, and bid him recollect himself, and try if he could remember if he had not step’d over a Bit of Paper, or the Leaf of a Flag, in going in or out of any House, which, after a little Pause, he could very well remember he had. She assured him that he should be perfectly well in a Month’s Time, and she performed her Promise.
muse to Admiration. I left Batavia before the Cure was perfected, but afterwards when I came to Batavia, she gave me an Account that she had restored him to perfect Health, and several Years after, I saw him at Fort St. George.

Solor, Loolana, Panterra, and Miscomby, all lie to the Eastward of Flores. They produce a little Sandal-wood, and Caffia-ligna. The Dutch have a Factory on Solor.

The Island Timor lies within 20 Leagues to the South of those four Islands abovementioned. It is a large Island about 90 Leagues long, and 18 broad. The Natives acknowledge the King of Portugal their Sovereign, and have embraced the Roman Religion. They permitted the Portuguese Colony of Macao in China, to build a Fort on it, which they called Leisaw, and the Dutch a Factory called Coupang, but would never suffer either to interfere with the Government of their Country. The Portuguese of Macao drove a very advantageous Trade to Timor for many Years, and finding the Natives inclined to be passive Catholicks, tried by fair Means to get the whole Government of the Country into the Church's Hands, but could not beguile them that Way, therefore they tried Force, and commenced a War, but to their Cost they found, that the Timoreans would not lose their Liberty for fear of the Loss of Blood. They chose one Gonzales Gomez their General. He was a Native of Timor, and had travelled to Macao and Goa. He allowed the King of Portugal to be the

the Sovereign and Protector of their Country, and they would be his loyal Subjects, providing their Laws and Liberties might be secured to them.

That War with the City of Macao lasted about fifteen Years. It began about the Year 1688, and was not quite finished in the Year 1703. and Macao in the End was ruined by it, for it exhausted both their Stock of Men and Money to such a Degree, that of 1000 Citizens the Town had before the War, there was hardly fifty left at the End of it, and of forty Sail of trading Ships, not above five left.

The Vice-roy of Goa sent an Embassay to Gon- fales Gomez, in the Year 1698. to persuade him to Peace, and to accept of a Governor General and an Archbishop from Goa, but to no Purpose, for they declared, that they would admit of no foreign Governors in their Country, either in Church or State.

The Product of the Island is Sandal-wood, the best and largest in the World, which is a great Commodity in China, also Gold and Beeswax. The Gold is plentiful, but of a low Touch, not amounting to 20 Caratafs fine. And all Manner of Provisions are plentiful and cheap, but no anchoring about the Island, except at Leifaw and Coupang. And the Coast is subject to frequent Tornadoes, or Squalls of Wind and Rain, introduced with much Thunder and Lightning.

The Natives report, that at a certain Season of the Year, after the South-west Monfoons are set in, they can discern an high mountainous Land to the Southward of them, and continues in Sight from December to the latter End of February, or the Beginning of March, and then disappears. If the Report be true, it must be some floting Island, that comes from and goes to New Holland, which is the next Tract of Land to the South of Timor. These Accounts I had from a Portuguese Gentleman called Alexander Pinto, who was a Captain at Leifaw four Years, and was bound from Batavia to Goa, in Anno 1704. He went Passenger with me, and seem'd to be a Man of Probity.

I never met with any Body that could give me any tolerable Account of the Islands to the eastward of Timor, or of New Guinea, or New Holland, and so I'll pass by them, and direct my Course to the Islands of Banda, where Cloves, Nutmegs, and Mace grow, but are now all engrossed by the Dutch, who allow one of them called Pullo-wey, to belong to the English, after they had been at 40 Years Pains to cut down all the Clove and Nutmeg Trees that grew on it, and have made it Death for the Natives ever to plant any on it.

The English had also a Factory on Pullover, but were glad to leave it about the Year 1618. The Dutch have that Island still, with Loutore and Noro, where they reap plentiful Crops of Spice.

I must now steer West-north-west about 30 Leagues, to the famous Island of Ambona, where
of the East Indies.

where as real a Tragedy was acted on the English, as ever happened among Friends and Allies. The Story is too well known to need a Place here. However, at present it has altered its Scene, and turned prodigiously religious, having no less than 50 Dutch Protestant Churches on that holy Island, and the Natives are very fond and forward to turn Converts, especially since some Amboinese Youths have been sent to Holland, and trained up in their Universities, and honoured with Church Orders. They coming back to their own native Land, loaded with such fine Qualifications, and receiving great Respect from their Masters the Dutch, make the Conversion of the Populace very easy.

The Dutch have so fortified Amboina, by their own Report, that they think it impregnable. It is true Victoria Bay is fathomless till Shipping come within a Mile of their Forts, and there is no other Place for anchoring on that Side of the Island, but I have heard some Dutch Officers, in disputing their Knowledge of Amboina, say, that on that Side that fronts the Coast of Ceram, there are several Places of anchoring at a Mile or two distant from the Shore, and never a Fort built to impede an Enemy's landing, and that if an Army superior in Force to what the Dutch have at Victoria, would march but six or seven Leagues by Land, they might come on the Back of the Town, and lodge on Hills so near it, that none could pass the Streets in the Town, nor appear on their Bulwarks or Batteries; but this was a Secret that the English or French ought not to know.

The Island Ceram, near Amboina, has also Cloves and Nutmegs, and the Dutch appropriate that Island to themselves, and have a Factory on it called Ambay. It is a large Island of 70 Leagues long, and 15 broad.

Buro is also a Dutch Island, producing Cloves and Nutmegs. It lies West-north-west of Amboina, about 35 Leagues distant. It is about 20 Leagues long, and in the Middle 10 broad.

Pullo-ouby lies in the Way between Buro and Gilolo, the largest of all the Molucca Islands. The South Part of Gilolo is called Batta-china, and the Equator cuts the Island in the Middle. On the West Side of Gilolo, and at a little Distance from it, lie Batbian, Matchian, Montil, Tidor, and Ternatey. They are but small Islands, but produce the greatest Quantities of Cloves and Nutmegs, of all the Molucca Islands.

One Captain Etherington, in a Ship called the Resolution, made a Trip to Gilolo about the Year 1692, and got 40 Tuns of Spice. He called at Batavia in his Way to England, and the Dutch being very solicitous to know where he had been, he freely told them, to let them see the English were not quite ignorant of that Navigation, if they had a Mind to follow it.

I now continue my Course Westward along the Equator, to the Island of Celebes, the Eastside of which Island, and a great Number of smaller
of the East Indies.

Smaller ones, are little frequented by Strangers, but on the South-west Corner of it is Maccasser, where the Dutch have a Factory, but its chief Product is Corn, which indeed all those eastern Islands abound in, and consequently in Poultry. The Natives are of a light Olive Colour, and the Women well shaped, and pretty beautiful, for which Reason they are in great Esteem among the Dutch and Chinese, who buy them for Bed-fellows and often marry them. The Men and Women are both short in Stature, but well featured, and well limb'd. They are very loving and faithful if well used, but exceeding revengeful if ill used. The Country is populous and very large, being almost 200 Leagues long, but the Breadth unequal. At the broadest it is about 70 Leagues. About 30 Leagues Westward lies Gives an Account of Borneo.

The great Island of Borneo or Borneo, the largest except California, in the known World. The West-side of it is for the most Part desert. On the South End lies Pullo-laut, a most excellent Harbour for Shipping. The Island is but thinly peopled, its Product being nothing but Rice, but the North End of it lies near many Rivers that come out of the

Pepper
Pepper Countries. The Island is about 20 Leagues long, but of an unequal Breadth, tho' in some Parts it is 12 Leagues broad.

There is a Channel runs between Pullobout and the Island of Borneo, about two Miles broad, some Places narrower, and some broader, and from seven to five Fathoms deep, all the Way through, and there are several rising Grounds along that Shore, fit to build Houses on, which is a Rarity on the Sea Coasts of Borneo, seldom to be met with. I heard Mr. Sylvanus Landen, who had been Chief of Borneo, say, that he much wondere why the Company of England should have settled a Factory at Banjar-maffeen, where they were forced for several Years to keep their Factory on Flotes of great Trees tied together, and made fast to Trees growing in the Water, on the Side of a River, with Cables made of Rottans, and when they built a Factory, they were forced first to drive Poles in the Ground, to make a Foundation, as the Dutch do at Amsterdam, and raise Earth on them to build upon.

Captain Barry, a very ingenious Gentleman, drew the Plan, but died before the Work was brought to any great Forwardness, and Mr. Cunningham, who came thither from Pullo-condore, when that Factory was cut off by their Maccaffer Soldiers, came to the Head of the Company's Affairs. He was bred a Surgeon, and had turn'd Virtuoso, would spend whole Days in contemplating on the Nature, Shape, and Qualities of a Butterfly or a Shellfish, and left the

the Management of the Company's Business to others as little capable as himself, so every one but he was Master.

Their Factory was not half finished before they began to domineer over the Natives, who past in their Boats up and down the River, and very imprudently would needs search one of the King's Boats, who was carrying a Lady of Quality down the River, which so provoked the King, that he sware Revenge, and accordingly gathered an Army, and ship'd it on large Praws, to execute his Rage on the Factory and Shipping that lay on the River. The Company had two Ships, and there were two others that belonged to private Merchants, and I was pretty deply concerned in one of them. The Factory receiving Advice of the King's Design, and the Preparations he had made, left their Factory, and went on board the Shipping, thinking themselves more secure on board than ashore. When all Things were in a readiness, the Army came in the Night, with above 100 Praws, and no less than 3000 desperate Fellows. Some landed and burnt the Factory and Fortifications, while others attack'd the Ships, which were prepared to receive them. The English had made fast Nettings from the Mizen to the fore Shrouds, about two Fathoms high above the Gunnel, that they might not be too suddenly boarded by the Enemy, and to have the Opportunity of using their Blunderbusses and Lances, before the Enemy could get on their Decks. 'Asfoon as they in the Ships saw the Fleet approaching near them, they plied their Guns with double Round and Partridge, and made a great Carnage, but all did not deter the Assailants from boarding, who when they got as high as the Gun-wall or Gunnel, were at a Loss how to get over the Netting, and so were killed with great Ease. Some got in at the head Door of one of the Ships, and killed some English in the Fore-castle, but they were soon destroyed. The two great Ships, tho' in Danger, beat off the Enemy with small Loss, but the little Ships were both burnt, with most of their Men, and one Dutch Gentleman who was obliged to flee from Batavia on one of the small Vessels, was also burnt in her. His Name was Hoogb Camber, and had been Ambassador to the King of Persia.

I heard some China Men say, who were there at the Time of the Engagement, that the English killed, (in two Hours that the Action was hot,) above 1500 Men, besides many wounded and maim'd, but the English were forced to be gone from their Settlement. The King thought his Revenge had gone far enough in driving them from their Settlement, and finding the Loss of the English Trade affected his Revenue, he let all English who traded to Jokore and other circumjacent Countries, know, that he would still continue a free Trade with the English on the old Footing, but would never suffer them, or any other Nation to build Forts in his Country. Several English have been there since, and loaded ed Pepper, and have been civilly treated; and the Dutch sent a Ship from Batavia in An. 1712. to trade with them, but the Natives refused Commerce with them.

The inland Country is very mountainous, but towards the Sea very low and marishy, occasioned by the great Rains that continue about eight Months in the Year. It produces Rice, and many Sorts of Fruits in great Abundance. Pepper is peculiar to the Countries about Banjaar; and to the Westward about Succadaana, they have small Diamonds, but their Waters being inclined to be yellow, are not so much in Esteem as those of Golconda.

The English had formerly a Factory at Succadaana, but why they left it I know not, unless it was for the Unwholsomness of the Country; yet in Anno 1694. I met with a Ship from Fort St. George, bound to Succadaana, commanded by one Captain Gullock, who had been there the Year before, and praised it for a wholesome Country, and the Inhabitants very civil and obliging. He bought some Surat Baftaes of me, at 45 per Cent. on Invoyce, and expected to make as much himself.

It is reported, that on the Coast of Borneo, between Lao and Sobar, there are many Canibals, but I never heard it confirmed by any but Chinese. And from Sobar to Succadaana, the People are civil enough to Strangers.

Sambas is the next Country of Commerce to the Northward of Succadaana. It produces but very very little Pepper, but some Gold, Pearls, and Bees-wax, which makes it well frequented by the Chinese, who carry Surat Piece-goods from Malacca and Jobore, and barter to very good Purpose for the aforesaid Commodities. Bees-wax is the current Cash in that Country. It is melted but not refined, and cast in Moulds of an oblong Square, the Breadth about two Thirds of the Length, and the Thickness Half of the Breadth, and a Ratan Witby to lift them by, cast in the Wax. A Piece weighs a Quarter of a Pecul, which comes to in English Weight, 34 Pound, and a Pecul is valued in Payments at 10 Maccies, or 40 Shillings Sterl. They have also for smaller Payments Pieces of Eight to a Pecul and Sixteenths, and for smaller Money they have Couries. The Prince and People are very hospitable and civil, so that Strangers trade there with Security. I knew a French Armenian, who coming from Manilla, had the Misfortune to lose his Ship on that Part of the Coast that belongs to the King of Sambas. They had but little Goods, for generally Spanish Dollars are the common Return for Goods sold at Manilla. When the People that were shipwreck'd came ashore, they were carried to the King, who examined what they were, from whence they came, and whither bound, with what they were loaded, and several other Interrogatories, and then ordered them Provisions, and Men and Boats to assist them in saving their Treasure, for there was but very little lost besides the Ship and Stores that were
of the East Indies. 149

were worth the Trouble of saving. The King gave him Pearls and Bees-wax for his Silver, at such reasonable Rates, that the Armenian gained 40 per Cent. at Batavia, (whither he went in a China Vessel) for the Goods he disposed of there. At Batavia he took Passage on board a French Ship for China, and in their Way called at Tran-gano, where I met with him in the Year 1719. I had the whole Account from himself, and saw some beautiful Pearls that he was carrying to the China Market, and among them a Pair of Pears worth 50 L. Sterl.

The Chinese drive a small Trade from Siam and Cambodia, to the Town called Borneo, that lies about 80 Leagues to the Northward of Sambas, and these are all the trading Places that lie about the North End of this Island, that I could hear of. The Religion in Borneo is Pagan, except in some Places on the Sea Coast there are some Mabometans, and so I must leave Borneo, and steer my Course towards the Coast of Johore on the Continent, but in my Way there are two Clusters of Islands that lie half-way. One is called Anamba, and the other Natuna, but by the Natives Sciantan, is the common Appellation for both Clusters. Their Inhabitants are called Bougies, a fierce desperate People, and the only Product of those Islands is Betle-nut, and the Religion Mabometan. The Islands are very high, and may be easily seen in a clear Day above fifteen Leagues.

C H A P. XLVI.

A Continuation of the Dominions of Johore on the Continent, and the Islands adjacent.

The Johore Islands to the North-eastward of the Promontory of Romana, (from whence I took my Departure, when I steered among the Islands) are first Pullo-tingi, then Pullo-aure, then Pullo-pisang, and then Pullo-timoun, the highest and largest among them. They are all inhabited, and produce Poultry, and small Goats, and some Fruits, but no Commodities for Export. Their Religion is Malometan.

Pabaung lies North-west of Pullo-timoun, about 20 Leagues distant. Pullo-varella lies in the Way, but it is rather a Rock than an Island, therefore hardly worth noticing. Pabaung River has a pretty large Island lying in its Mouth, which makes two Channels into it. The North Entry has no less than four Fathoms and an Half at High-water, and the Channel is about an hundred and fifty Yards broad. Just within the Bar is good secure Anchoring in six Fathoms, and there are good fresh Water Springs within two hundred Paces of the Sea-shore. The River is a Mile broad, but so full of Banks, that it is with Trouble a small Vessel of thirty Tuns can can go to the Town, which lies about twelve Miles up the River, where I left Rajah Bowen-cea, before I took my Ramble among the islands. He was there in Anno 1719, with five or six hundred Men to keep that Country firm to his Father.

Pabaung River runs far into the Country, and washes the Foot of Malacca Hill. There is Abundance of Gold Dust found in it, and I have seen some Lumps, of five or six Ounces each. They do not dive for the Dust above three Fathoms, tho' there are some Places in the River above Ten deep, and generally where the deepest Water is, most Gold-dust is found. It has exported some Years above eight hundred Weight. Along the Sides of the River Pepper is planted for Export, but not above 300 Tuns in a Year, because they want Vend for more, tho', if they had a Market to carry it off, in five Years Time they could make a Product of 3000 Tuns. Besides Pepper and Gold, there are Tin and Elephants Teeth, but in no great Plenty, and the best Canes in the World grow hereabout. The Country is woody, and is stor'd with wild Game and Fruits, their Rivers and Sea with great Plenty and Variety of excellent Fish, but the Country is not reckoned very healthful, because of the Abundance of Rains. Trangano is the next Place of Note for Commerce, and in Anno 1720, the Place of Residence of a poor Distrest King, who by a senseless Devotion to Superstition, ruin'd his Country and his own Family.
I gave an Account before of his Brother's tragical End, and the daring Boldness of a Youth that shewed him the way to die by his own Hand. In 1719, I saw the Youth waiting on the King, and fanning him with a Peacock's Tail. In my way to Siam, I called at Tran-gano, and went to wait on him, and he remembered he had been acquainted with me five and twenty Years before. I staid about a Week, and every Day he wanted to see me. He often repented his taking the Weight of Sovereignty on his Shoulders, and feared that his End would prove as tragical as his Brother's.

Trangano stands pleasantly near the Sea, on the Side of a River that has a Shallow Bar, and many Rocks scattered to and again within the River, but room enough in many Places to moor small Ships very securely, to keep them safe from the Dangers of the Winds or Floods. There may be about one thousand Houses in it, not built in regular Streets, but scattered in ten or twenty in a Place distant a little Way from another Villa of the same Magnitude. The Town is above half-peopled with Chinese, who have a good Trade for three or four Tonks yearly, besides some that trade to Siam, Cambodia, Tunqueen and Sambas. When I came back from Siam with my Cargo unfold, as I mentioned before, I came to Trangano to dispose of what I could of my Goods, and to procure a new Cargo for Surat, the kind King assisted me in doing

doing both, with all the Readiness and Cheerfulness imaginable.

While my Ship lay in the Road, the Bougies came with a Fleet of two hundred Sail of Praws, designing to plunder the Town of Trangano; but they were afraid to pass so near our Guns as they must have been necessitated to do before they could get into the River. When they came to a Place about five Leagues, they sent a Praw to my Ship, and the Officer told me, that he had a Commission to profer and pay me 3000 Spanish Dollars, if I would let them pass quietly into the River. I ordered him away, and threatened, that if they came, they should feel the Force of my Powder and Shot. When I came ashore, the King ask'd me if I would protect him. I told him I would with all the Force I had. He wept, as if he had been diffident, and desired that I would take him on board of my Ship, and carry him whithersoever I went, for his Life was burdensome to him, and he could trust none of his People. I persuaded him that I was sincere in my Resolution to protect him, and that it would look too mean to run away from his Kingdom, while there was a Possibility to regain it.

He told me, that he had sent Ambassadors to the Dutch at Malacca for Assistance, according to the ancient League between his Ancestors and them, when they joined their Forces to expel the Portuguse from Malacca; but instead of finding Relief there, his Enemies were assisted with with Powder and Shot, and his rebellious Subjects had a safe Retreat Malacca.

I advised him to take Protection from the Dutch, and allow them the Monopolization of the Trade of his Country, and to part the Revenues between him and them. He seemed to be offended with the Proposal, but said he would be glad if the English would settle in his Dominions, and fortify what Places they pleased, and that he would willingly come under their Protection, and that there were none that ever entertained the Dutch in their Countries as Guests, but would willingly be quit of them again, if they could.

There happened to come a French Ship thither at that Time, being bound to China. The King gave the Captain and me an Invitation to Dinner, and after we had regaled ourselves, we entred on a Discourse of the miserable State of a Country under the malignancy of a Civil War. He asked us, if such Calamities had happened to England or France. We assured him there had been often such Distempers among us, but that when the Disease was cured, our State became as strong and vigorous as ever.

He had several Times asked me if I thought the English might be persuaded to settle a Colony in his Country, that Pabaung might be made a Place of great Trade, if there were Shipping and Stock to carry off the Pepper and Tin which that Country alone could produce. I told told him, I could give him no Encouragement to believe they would.

He then despairing of getting an English Colony settled, proposed to Mr. Pedro-Villamont Garden, who commanded the French Ship, if he thought the French Nation might be induced to settle in his Dominions, and the French Gentleman gave him Hopes that the King of France might be induced to accept of his Friendship, and settle a Colony, providing he would certify his Request by a Letter, which the King of Jobore readily agreed to. It was written in the Malayan Language, and translated by a Chinese into Portuguez, and I translated it from that Language into English. The Original and the English Translation were delivered to the French Captain, but I never heard of it since.

He told me, that when I came to Bombay, I should acquaint the Governor of the Desire he had to live under the Protection of the English, and that with 150 Men they might bridle the Insolence of his own rebellious Subjects, and their Allies the Bougies too.

Trangano is a very pleasant and healthful Country, and affords a fine Landskip from the Sea. The Hills are low, and covered with ever-green Trees, that accommodate the Inhabitants with Variety of delicious Fruits, such as Lemons, Oranges, Limes, Mangoes, Mango-stans, Ramboftans, Letchees and Dureans: And in the Vallies, Corn, Pulte and Sugar-canases. The Ground is cultivated by the Chiefe, for the lazy Malayas cannot take that Trouble.

The Product of the Country is Pepper and Gold, which are most exported by the Chinese. About 300 Tuns are the common Export of Pepper, and we have it almost for one half of the Price that we pay for Malabar Pepper. From the Month of October till March, their River is shut up by the Bar, which fills up by the Impetuosity of the great Seas sent on that Shore by the North-east Monsoons; but in the Months of July and August their Seas produce the finest Fish that ever I saw or tasted. There is one Sort exactly like a Salmon, both in Shape and Taste, but the Fish is white, as the Salmon is red. Their Poultry are large, plump and sweet, but Beef is scarce, except Buffalo Beef, and that is plentiful enough.

In Anno 1720, the Bougies came to Pullo-capas, which is but five Leagues from Trangano; but there are other Islands that lie 12 Leagues more Southerly, called in the Maps by the Name of Pullo-capas, but their right Name, which the Natives call them by, is Pullo-tetang.

However, from Pullo-capas, the Bougies sent an Ambassy to Trangano, pretending an Accommodation with the King, to see if he would allow them to enjoy the Continent and Islands beyond the Promontory of Romano, and they would leave him the quiet Possession of the rest; and while they were in a large Hall conferring, some unusual sudden Noise happened...
ed to be heard from without, which the guilty Bougies taking to be some Design in Execution against them, one of them runs to the King, and creft him to the Heart, which made a very great Disorder, and many were killed on both Sides; and what Bougies remained, got on board of their Gallies, and posted to their Fleet at Pullo-capasi, with the News of what had happened at Trangano, and next Day the Bougies went into the River, and plundered the Town, except certain Houses which belonged to the Dattabandaar, or first Minister, whom the King, in his Life-time, ever mistrusted, but by the ill Situation of his Affairs, was obliged to hide his Thoughts, and defer his Resentments till a proper Time.

The next Place, to the Northward, in the Jobore Territories, is Patany. It was formerly the greatest Port for Trade in all those Seas, but the Inhabitants being too potent to be afraid of the King's Laws, they became so insolent, that Merchants were obliged to remove their Commerce to Countries of more Security. It was the staple Port for Surat Shipping, and from Goa, Malabar and Chormondel they had a good Trade, and so they had from China, Tonquin, Cambodia and Siam; but the Merchants finding no Restraint on Robbers and Murderers, were obliged to give their Trade a Turn into another Channel, which was a great Advantage to Batavia, Siam and Malacca, where they were kindly used, and in those Ports it has continued ever since.
A New Account

The Jobore Dominions reach but four or five Leagues farther North, which like most Borderers, are inclined to Rapine, and lying so near another's Dominions, where they may be screened from the Power of their own Laws, when they commit Depredations, it makes them exercise their Villanies with Impunity. Between Trangano and Patamy lie the Islands of Redang. They are uninhabited, but sometimes the Saleeters or Malaya Freebooters frequent them, and when they meet with trading Vessels that they are able to master, they make Prize of them, and carry the Men into other Countries than where they belong to, and sell them for Slaves; and when they meet with no Purchase at Sea, they go ashore in the Nights, and steal all they can get. Men, Women and Children go all into the Booty; but the China Vessels afford them most Prizes.

The Kings of Jobore ever paid Homage to the Kings of Siam, by sending them a Rose made of Gold in a golden Box once in three Years. The Year 1719, happened to be the Year that the Rose came, for I saw the Messenger that brought it at Siam, where he had Orders from his Master to know how my Affairs went, with a Proffer of the King's Service, if I came back into his Country.

of the East Indies.

C H A P. XLVII.

Gives an Account of the Dominions and City of Siam, with Remarks on the Revolution that happened there.

SANGORE is the first Town on the King of Siam's Dominions. On that Side is under the Government of Ligore, which was once the Metropolis of a Kingdom of the same Name, but by civil Disaffections, it became a Prey to the King of Siam.

Sangore stands on the Side of a large River. It yields some Tin, Elephants Teeth, Agalawood and coarse Gold, but the Inhabitants meet with so great Discouragements in digging for Tin, that there is very little to be procured; and what is manufactured, is bought up by the Dutch Factory at Ligore.

Ligore lies about 12 Leagues to the Northward of Sangore, and between them lies a low uninhabited Island, called Papier. It reaches from Sangore within three Leagues of Ligore River. It is well stored with wild Buffaloes, Hog and Deer, which are free for all Persons to kill at Pleasure. The Road of Ligore lies two Leagues from the River and about a League within the River's Mouth stands the Dutch Factory, a pretty commodious House, built of Brick, after the Dutch Fashion. The Town stands stands about two Miles above the Factory. It is built of Bambous, and thatch'd with Reed. There are many Pagan Temples in it, which have Steeples built very high, in Form of very sharp Pyramids. They are so small, that, in the Road, they look like Ships Mafts. It produces Abundance of Tin, but the Dutch engross it all.

Pullo Cara, an high Island, lies about 12 Leagues off Ligore. The next Place of Note is Cui; a Place that produces great Quantities of Tin and Elephants Teeth, but all are sent to the City of Siam or Odia for the King's Use. The rest of the Coast being little frequented, I will pass by it, and steer for the Bar of Siam. The City stands on an Island in the River Memnon, which, by Turnings and Windings, makes the Distance from the Bar about 50 Leagues. The Country is low, and as fruitful as any Spot of Ground in the World, in Rice, Legumen, Fruits and Roots, Cattle wild and tame. And the River abounds in many Species of excellent Fish, which plentifully indulge the Inhabitants, and make them indolent and lazy, and consequently proud, superstitious and wanton.

The City is reckoned ten Miles round the Walls, and many Canals, from the River, pierce thro' the City from all Quarters. The Walls of the City are high and thick, built of Stone and Brick; but the Houses of the Natives, tho' large, are low, built on Stakes driven into the Ground, about 10 or 12 Foot high; but the

of the East Indies.

Mahometans, Chinese and Christians raise the Grounds they build on high enough to be secure from the yearly Inundations. The Natives Houses are raised on those Stakes on the same Account, and as their Walls are built of Bamboo and Reeds, their Roofs are built of the same Materials, and are all thatched, except what are built on Terra firma, and they are generally tiled. There are many arch'd Bridges in the City, built of Brick or Stone, and some of Wood. The Floors of the Natives Houses are made of split Bamboo or Reeds made fast together, so that one cannot move on them without both Noise, and shaking them.

The three Palaces of their Kings, and some Temples, are the only magnificent Edifices in the City; and some Steeples belonging to the Temples are gilded with Gold on the Outside, and in a Sun-shine they reflect the Rays so strongly, that, at two or three Miles Distance, they disturb the Eye when look'd upon.

They have many large Temples well decorated after their Way, and well stock'd with gilded Images of Gods and Goddesses, of the Priests Contrivance and Canonizing, and they never want Devotees to adore them, who pay their deceitful Impostors very well for deceiving them; but they are not the only People that are so cunningly deluded, for the fatal Custom has spread universally in all the Corners of the World.
The great God, who created the Universe, they have no Image of, nor can they make any of him, because he never shewed himself in any bodily Shape, and therefore they can form no Idea of his Shape, Dimensions or Beauty; but Tipedab, the great God’s Partner, has often shewed himself, and him they worship in his Image with the highest Adoration. Praw Prumb and Sammo Guddem his Friends they adore with the second Degree in Worship; and Prapout and Sanjey have the third Sort of Veneration paid to their Images.

They have many little Deities inferior to those above mentioned, whom they adore as Patrons or Protectors of several Tribes of Men, and other Animals of different Countries and Cities, of Health, Prosperity and other Chances and Casualties, so every one is at Liberty to choose his own Patron or Protector, and worship him according to his own Mind; but none are persecuted for the Opinion of the Way he is to worship, either the great or the little Gods. That heavenly Frenzy is only a raging mad Distemper that affects the melancholick Brains of the western World.

I was in one Temple pretty large, built exactly four Square, and each Square contained just an hundred Images. They were placed in Notches or Domes about four Foot from the Ground. There were more Goddesses than Gods, and all were in a sitting Posture cross-legged, as Taylors sit on their Shop-boards. Their Noes

Noses were low and small, their Village long, their Ears large, and the Lappets of them thick and plump. They sat promiscuously in those Notches, and all clothed in one Livery of Gold-leaf. They were almost as big as full-grown Men and Women, but very different in their Substances. The Priests told us, that some were of pure Gold, others of Tecul Silver, which has no Alloy in it, some of Copper, and some of Bras, and some of bak'd Clay; but, for Want of sumpture Laws among them, it was hard to know the Gentleman from the Beggar by their Garb, or a Lady from a Lawndress.

In one Temple, as I was informed, stands the famous Samfay twenty Yards in Height. He is in a right lineal Descent from little Samfay, who caused so much War between Siam and Pegu, which never ended but with the Dissolution of the Pegu Empire. In most of their Temples there are frightful Dragons standing Sentinels at their Gates, but whether they are placed there to keep in the Gods, or to keep out Devils, I know not.

There are reckoned no less than fifty thousand Clergymen or Tallapoyts belonging to the Temples in and about the City of Siam; but they are easy to the State, having no stated Benefices or other Revenues, and yet they are plentifully supplied with all the Necessaries of Life by the Charity and Benevolence of the Laity.

There is one Temple about three Miles below the City, on the opposite Side of the River, called called the Fishes Temple, because annually in the Month of September, when the Floods overflow the low Ground, (as in Egypt) there are good Numbers of Fishes almost like small Salmon, that frequent a Pond close to that Temple, and are to be found in no other Place in the Siam Dominions, and they are so tame, that they will come close to our Boats, and frisk and play on the Surface of the Water. If any Body has a Mind to feed them with Bread, Cocoa-nut, Meat, or other Food that does not easily separate, 'tis only to hold some near the Surface of the Water, and they will take it familiarly from the Hand. I have often taken Pleasure to feed them, and see them play, but as soon as we leave off feeding them, they will withdraw, so that hardly one is to be seen till a new Supply of Vi\textit{v}tuals is offered to them.

But none dares offer to take one of them, for fear of raising a zealous sanctified Mob, who punish small Faults with the greatest Severities, and those Fishes being consecrated to the God of that Temple, are securely protected by the Consecration. They continue about the Temple till the Middle of December, that the Floods begin to draw off the Ground, and then they depart, and are seen nowhere in any River or Pond belonging to Siam, till September brings them back to their Temple.

Whatever Animal comes within the Verge of a Temple, it is secured from Pursuit or Violence. I knew a Portuguese Inhabitant of Siam, who

who shot a Crow as it sat on the Branch of a Tree that grew near a Temple, on which the Priests raised a Mob, who broke both the poor Man's Legs and Arms, and left him in the Field for dead, but some Christians coming accidentally by, carried him in a Boat, in that deplorable State, to a French Surgeon, who set his Bones, and cured him. I saw him alive and well in Anno 1720.

The French have a Bishop at Siam, with a Church and a Seminary for the Education of Converts. They stand a little above the City, on the opposite Side of the River. They make but few Converts, except when Corn is dear, and then some of the poorer Sort receive Baptism, which intitles them to a Maintenance from the Church; but, when Plenty returns, they throw away their Beads and brazen Saint, and bid farewell to Christianity. In Anno 1720, there were not above seventy Christians in and about Siam, and they the most dissolute, lazy, thievish Rascals that were to be found in the Country.

The Bishop was one Mr. Coffee, a Man of about 80 Years of Age, who, in a Famine that happened there in Anno 1708, took up about 3000 Pounds Sterl. from the King, to buy Corn for the Support of the Church, and such poor Siamers as were converted by the Necessity of the Times, who relapsed again afooth as the Famine ceased, and the poor old Bishop cannot leave the Country till that Debt be discharged. He is superstitiously zealous for his Religion, and would fain go to Coubini-china or Tunquin to die a Martyr, because it is Death by their Law to preach any foreign Doctrine without Leave first obtained from their Kings.

Whatever Principles he may have had in Religion I know not, but I am sure that he was a diminutive Moralift, which I knew by Experience, in seducing some of my Seamen, who were black Christians, to leave my Ship at Siam, contrary to his Promise, which obliged me to buy Slaves to supply their Places; but I left him some Cause to repent of his Folly and Breach of Promise.

There were four or five Priests there besides the Bishop, one whereof always attends the College, and the others officiate daily in the Church. They live abstemiously, but, I believe, rather thro' Force than Choice, for their Incomes are very small, as Charity and Piety are very cold among their Flock. The Portuguese have also a Church there, built on the Side of the River opposite to the lower End of the Town; but their Priests are generally so scandalous in their Lives, that few frequent their Church, or care for their Conversation. The Chinese being very numerous in Siam, have several small Temples, but none remarkable for their Structure or Beauty.

The Dutch have a Factory there, about a Mile below the Town, on the same Side of the River. Their greatest Investments are in Tin, Sapan-wood and Deers Skins, which they buy up up for the Japon Market. The Siam Market takes off but little European Goods; however, the Dutch Chief makes a pretty good Figure there.

The English, for many Years, had also a Factory there, till about the Year 1686. the East India Company seeking Occasions to pick a Quarrel with the Siamers, in order to withdraw, they took hold of such as they could first find, tho' never so frivolous. The first was about Anno 1684. The Carolina, bound from England to China, had the Misfortune to lose her Passage, and coming to Siam to pass away the North-east Monsoons, and the King of Siam having Occasion for some Stores for Shipping out of the Carolina's Cargo, to equip some Ships that he had built in order to humble the Cambodians and the Couchin-Chinese, who disturbed the Navigation of his Country, he civilly requested the English Chief to supply him at the Prices the same Commodities used to be sold at to Merchants, but he could not find that Favour, which he resented, and threatened to disturb their Commerce. At length they supplied him with some Part of what he demanded, to avert the ill Consequences that might happen by a total Refusal. This was represented to the Company in the darkest Colours, and they thought that sufficient to ground a War on; but they had, at that Time, a Fleet of large Ships, which they had equip'd to regain their Trade of Bantam and other Places, which the Dutch had insolently robbed robbed them of; but they were disappointed by the deep Politicks of King Charles II. as is before observed.

However, the King of Siam continued his Indulgence to the Company and their Servants, in much Affluence and Luxury, continually carousing in Debaucheries with Wine and Women, till their common Salaries and Gains by Trade, were in no Proportion to their extragant Expences; however, that being a free Country, they had Liberty to spend their own and their Masters Estates, as they pleased.

The King of Siam having formed the Design of a War, as above mentioned, with Cambodia and Couchin-china, employed a good Number of English who had resorted to Siam, to partake of the King’s Indulgence and Bounty, and to help the Company’s Servants to spend their Money.
All the English who had a Mind to lift themselves on board of his Fleet, had great Encouragement of honourable Posts and good Salaries well paid, and they did perform Actions in the War worthy of the Bravery and Courage of the English Nation, by which the King’s Favour to the English increased more than before the War.

One Mr. Pots happened to be Chief of the English Factory at that Time, who by his extravagant Luxury had rioted away a great Part of his Masters Goods and Money, and had run his own Credit out of Doors.
He then began to form Projects how to clear Accounts
Accounts with his Masters and Creditors, without putting any Thing in their Pockets. The first was on 500 Chests of Japan Copper, which his Masters had in Specie at Siam, and they were brought into Account of Profit and Loss, for so much eaten up by the white Ants, which are really Insects, that by a cold corroding liquid Quality, can do much Mischief to Cloth, Timber, or on any other soft Body that their Fluids can penetrate, but Copper is thought too hard a Mortel for them; however, I saw that Article in the Company's Accounts, as they were remitted from Siam to Bombay, and were in Mr. Vaux's Custody at Surat afterwards.

But that small Article of 2,500 Pounds, went but a small Way towards clearing of his Accounts. So after Supper one Night as they were merrily carousing, the Factory was set on Fire, and that balanced all other Accounts. Mr. Pots allledged to the King, that his Subjects the Siam-ers had done that Mischief, and expected the King to be accountable for Losses and Damages, sustained by the Company and their Servants.

The King, on the other hand, profered to prove, that Mr. Pots and his drunken Companions had done it, and that he expected the Company should be accountable to his Subjects for the Loss they had sustained by the Fire, which had burnt several Houses that lay near the Factory. However, the Company adhered to the just Complaints of their honest Servants, and thought that the King's Refusal to make good good their Demands, was a sufficient Piece of Ground to build their War on. However, the Company considering that a War could bring them no Advantage, thought it enough to bully the Siamers, but never declared a War.

In the Year 1685, the Company sent two Ships to the Bar of Siam. One was the Herbert of 800 Tuns, the other the Prudent Mary of 400, to frighten the Siamers, but they did no Damage to them, and the Siamers treated them civilly.

About the Year 1680, there was one Constantin Falcon, a Greek by Birth, that some Years before had shipp'd himself Steward of an English Ship at London, bound to India, and being ordered for Siam, and finding some ill Treatment on board, he deserted from the Ship, and fled to a small Village some Distance from the City, where he amused himself in learning the Siam Language. He being a sober, ingenious, and industrious Person, soon made himself Master of the Language, and served as an Interpreter for the English at Court, where he was remarkably taken Notice of, and got a Post there. His Behaviour recommended him to greater Preferments, so that in a very few Years he became prime Minister of State, and behaved himself so well in that high Station, that every Thing belonging to the State of the Country prospered, so that Siam became the richest and powerfu lest Kingdom in that Part of the World.
The Jesuits hearing that one of the Roman Communion sat at the Helm of the Siam Affairs, and it being a rich Country, brought whole Troops of them into Siam, who got the whole Management of Affairs into their Hands, thro' the Interest of the Barkalong, that being the Appellation of first Minister. They tickled themselves with the Fancy of bringing the whole Kingdom of Siam under the Pope's Jurisdiction, and in Anno 1683, the first Year of his Ministry, they got the King to send an Embassy to the King of France, which Ambassador came also to London, and settled a Treaty of Commerce for the English that should trade in Siam.

The Jesuits imposed on the King of France, and made him believe, that if he would send an Embassy to Siam, that King would leave his own Superstition, and embrace theirs. Accordingly an Ambassador was sent, with many valuable French Curiosities, and among them a very fine Mass-book, with beautiful Cuts of all the first Rate Saints in the Roman Kalendar.

On the Ambassador's Arrival, he was received with the Respect due to his Character, and when the Presents were laid before the King, according to Custom, he seem'd much pleased with their Curiosity, but when he viewed the Pictures in the Mass-book, he asked a Jesuit who was Interpreter, what they were, who answered, that they were the Pictures of holy Men now in Heaven, and such as his Brother the King of France adored, and as he designed an an eternal Friendship with his Majesty, he hoped that he would also adore those Pictures, and worship the Images of those Saints, rather than those Idols that were worshipped all over his Dominions. The King returned Answer, that the Gods of his Country had been auspicious to them who lived in it for Time out of Mind, and as it would be unjust and ungrateful to banish those Gods that had been so long very kind to his Predecessors and himself, so he could not turn his old Gods off, and take new ones in their Places that he did not so well know, and that he would oblige his Brother of France in any Thing but that.

The King of France complimented Mr. Falcon with the Order of Knighthood, and in his Letter to him, wherein he recommended the French Affairs to his Care, particularly that of Religion, he stiled him loving Cousin and Coun-fello.

After the Embassay was gone from Siam to France, the Jesuits thought of nothing but bringing the Trade of Siam under the Power of the French, and in order to that, got the King to order the building of a Fort on the River's Side, opposite to the Fort of Bencock, a Town about 20 Leagues below the City of Siam, and to have it mann'd with a Garrison of French, to be paid by the Exchequer of Siam, and all this was granted according to their Mind.

The Fort is a regular Tetragon, and can mount about 80 great Guns. When the French got Possession, they grew intolerably arrogant, which made the Siamers uneasy, and murmured at the King's Weakness, but that was in private, for certain Destruction is the sure Reward of talking publickly of any Mismanagement of the State, for a King of Siam can no more err in Politics, than a Pope can in Matters of Faith.

Yet about the Year 1688, by some malevolent Planet that over-ruled his Actions, he made a War with his Neighbours the Kings of Cambodia and Cochinchina. He sent an Army by Land, and a Fleet by Sea, to carry on the War, but was not successful by Land. However, in the Land-army there was a mean Person, a Citizen of Siam, who kept a Fruit-shop; he had a bold daring Spirit, and behaved himself so well on all Occasions, in the Land War, that he came to Preferment, and at last was made Generalissimo, and then ended the War to the Satisfaction of the whole Army abroad, and his Prince at home; but when he brought back the Army to Siam, seeing the King wrapt up in the Opinion he had of the Jesuits Counsels, and the Management they had in the Affairs of State, by the Countenance of the King and his first Minister my Lord Falcon, he pick'd a Quarrel with the King, and having most of the Army at his Devotion, seized his Master and put him to Death, after the manner of royal Criminals, or as Princes of the Blood are treated when convicted of capital Crimes, which is, by putting them them into a large Iron Cal'dron, and pounding them to Pieces with wooden Pestles, because none of their royal Blood must be spil’d on the Ground, it being, by their Religion, thought great Impiety to contaminate the divine Blood, by mixing it with Earth. And after he had murdered his Master, he summoned all the Mandareens in the City, to hold a Council in Palace.

My Lord Falcon, for that was generally his Designation, had by his civil Deportment towards People of all Ranks and Degrees, so ingratitated himself, that he had a stronger Party by far, both in the City and Country, than the General; and besides, had all the Fleet at his Devotion. Many of my Lord’s Friends dissua-ded him from obeying the Summons, but to raise the Forces of the City, and revenge the Death of the King, and many Officers of the Army that detested the Regicide would have come over to his Party, which at least was above 50000 strong, but being infatuate, he was deaf to all good Advice, and went to the Palace, where as soon as had set his Foot, he was seized by the General’s Guards, and beheaded, so the Usurper took the Sovereignty into his own Hands, and at that Instant was by jure divino made an infallible Favourite of Heaven, and the Sun, Moon, and Stars, had the Honour to be his near Relations.

Had my Lord Falcon followed his Friends Advice, or had Courage answerable to his other good
good Qualities, he had certainly been honoured with the Diadem in Siam, and if he had introduced Popery in the Place of Paganism, he had been honoured with a Place in the Pope's Almanack, but his Pufillanimitv made him unworthy of both.

I had this Account from my Lord's Secretary Mr. Bashpool, who on his Master's Death, was clapp'd up in Prison, and lay three Years with his Neck in the Congoes, which are a Pair of Stocks made of Bamboes, and was never taken out, but in order to be severely whipped, to make him accuse rich Men whom the Ufurper had a Mind to destroy, that he might seize their Estates under the Umbrage of Justice and Law.

I saw my Lady Falcon in Anno 1719, and she was then honoured with the Superintendency of his Majesty's Confectionary. She was born in Siam of honourable Parents, and at that Time much respected both in Court and City, for her Prudence and Humanity to Natives and Strangers, when they came into Difficulties, or under the Weight of Oppressions from the Officers of the Court or City.

When the Siam Ambassador returned from France and England, in the murdered King's Time, his Master, among many other Questions, ask'd him if the King of France had any Palaces like his at Siam, for Beauty and Magnitude, and the poor Man unadvisedly told him Truth, that in France were many finer, nay, that the King of France's Horse Stables in Paris, exceed-exceeded any Buildings in India, which his Majesty took so ill, that he disgrac’d him, and was very near losing his Head for his telling Truth.

The King of Siam is as fond of lofty Titles as the King of Pegu. Besides his Proximity with the heavenly Luminaries, he is a God on Earth, in whose Court are to be found Justice, Mercy, and Benevolence to Mankind, with such a Train of senseless Hyperboles, and at last to illustrate all the rest, he is King of the white Elephant, a Title that none disputes with him but the King of Pegu.

The King bestows his anniversary Blessing on his People in the Month of September, when he passes through the City attended with a numerous Train of Elephants, among whom is the white Elephant, but he is only of a Cream Colour, and I have seen several at Bangarie, a Village near Jonkceyloan, as white as him. All the Elephants that Day are drest in their finest Trappings, with Drums, Trumpets, Hautboys, and other musical Instruments making a Noise as they go along, but whether it is to divert his Majesty or his Elephants, I know not, but I am sure the Noise was harsh in my Ears.

While he is making his Elephantine Cavalcade through the City, the Populace dares not look him in the Face, but prostrate on their Knees and their Elbows on the Ground, with their Hands open and joined above their Heads, and their Eyes fix’d on the Ground, or shut till he
he has past by them, then they are permitted to rise, and look on his back Parts or Side.

In the Month of November he also shews himself on the River, in a Ballong or Barge of 30 or 40 Yards long, about two Yards broad, and two Foot deep, with a Throne placed near the Middle of her Length, about seven Foot high, and a rich Canopy over his Head, and being seated on the Throne, his greatest Lords or Minions sit under the Throne, and about 50 or 60 Rowers are seated a-fore and be-aft the Throne, (cloathed in Carnation coloured Waistcoats, with fine Caps or Turbands on their Heads) to row or paddle his Majesty wherever he orders them, and there are ordinarily above 1000 other Barges to wait on his Majesty, besides several Thousands of other common Ballongs, insomuch that for five or six Miles, the River is covered with Boats, except near his Majesty’s Barge, and there is half a Mile of the River clear for his Barge to move in.

About four or five in the Evening, he goes in his Barge to a Temple about three Miles above the City, on the opposite Side of the River, where the Priest prays for him, and present him with two Yards and an Half of Cotton Cloth, that must be spun and woven the same Day that the King comes to receive it. After Sun sets, he embarks again (leaving some royal Gratitude to the Priests for their miraculous Present) and is attended in State to his Palace.
His Reason for honouring the River and his People that Time of the Year, is to forbid the River formally to flow higher or longer than such a Number of Inches in Height, or of Days in Time, as he sets it; yet sometimes it disobeys his royal Commands.

All the Mandareens belonging to the Government, whose Affairs require their Residence in the City, whose Numbers generally amount to 3000, must daily attend in the Palace, except they have leave to be absent, and if any one transgresses, he is severely whip'd with split Rottans, which cut pretty deep into the Flesh, and leave conspicuous Marks behind them. The greater the Marks appear, the greater Honour they take them to be. And the pretty Ladies are not exem'd from the Flagellation, for very small Faults. And I have seen some pretty agreeable young Gentlewomen with Rotten Marks on their Backs, which they are so far from covering, that as they pass the Streets, they expose their Backs, tho' their Breasts, Bellies, and Necks are covered with a Scarf, seeming to glory in being so much taken Notice of by the greatest King on Earth.

The Women in Siam are the only Merchants in buying Goods, and some of them trade very considerably. The Husbands in general are maintained by the Industry of their Wives. And the Europeans that trade to Siam, accommodate themselves as they do in Pegu, with temporary Wives, almost on the same Conditions too, and it is thought no Disgrace to have had many temporary Husbands, but rather an Honour that they have been beloved by so many different Men. The Christian Priests cry down that way of marrying, and want every Heretic, as well as Christian Catholic, to be tied to some young Lasses of their bringing up; but the Heretics, according to their innate Principles, generally continue deaf and obstinate to the grave Advice and sound Doctrine of the holy Fathers, and marry according to the Siam Way. The Catholics dare not do so for fear of Excommunication, but the Siam Wives generally prove the most obedient, loving, and chaste, for which Reason, when the Catholics once go from Siam to follow their Business in other Countries, they seldom return to Siam, but leave their beloved Wives a Legacy to the Church, who is a very indulgent Mother to her termagant Daughters.

The Natives of both Sexes go bare-headed, and their Hair cut within two Inches of the Skin, and gumm'd, and comb'd upwards, which makes their Head seem very big, and all in Bristles like a Boar's Back. They are well-shap'd in Body and Limbs, with a large Forehead and a little Nose, and handsome Mouth with plump Lips, and black sparkling Eyes. Their Ears of a moderate Size, but large thick Lappets. The Men have but little Hair on their Chins, and they are of an Olive-colour, but the Women of a Straw Complexion, and some of the Ladies have a little Tincture of red in their Cheeks and Lips, but whether it is natural or artificial I know not. They are very prolific and long-lived, which may be partly imputed to their Temperance in eating and drinking.

After the Usurper had settled himself on the Throne of Siam, he ordered the French to deliver their Fort at Bencock, to an Officer that he sent to take Possession of it, but they refused, without first making Terms for themselves, on which he sent a Part of his Army to attack it, and threatened every Man's Life that returned before it was taken. His Orders were punctually put in Execution, and all the French got, was the Honour of dying bravely in the Defence of their Liberty. The Fort stands still undemolished, but no Artillery is in it.

In Siam they have several Ways in punishing Criminals with Death; for Theft and other such like Peccadilloes, beheading is the common way. For Rebellion or Mutiny, they are rip’d up alive, and their Guts and Intrails taken out, and their Carcasses woven up in a Twig-case, and tied up to a Stake for Vultures and other voracious Fowls, or Dogs to feed on. I saw eighteen one Morning going to be executed for Mutiny. They were each put on a triangular Seat, with their Necks and Hands in wooden Fetters, and carried by three Slaves in Chains through the Streets to the Place of Execution, but they look’d as if they had been almost starv’d in Prison, for they were very meagre. Some were weeping, others joyful that they were near the End of a miserable Life.

For Treason and Murder, the Elephant is the Executioner. The condemned Person is made fast to a Stake driven into the Ground for the Purpose, and the Elephant is brought to view him, and goes twice or thrice round him, and when the Elephant's Keeper speaks to the monstrous Executioner, he twines his Trunk round the Person and Stake, and pulling the Stake from the Ground with great Violence, tosses the Man and the Stake into the Air, and in coming down, receives him on his Teeth, and shaking him off again, puts one of his fore Feet on the Carcase, and squeezes it flat.

In Anno 1717, the King of Siam made War on his Neighbour of Cambodia, and invaded his Country with an Army of 50000 by Land, and 20000 by Sea, and committed the Care of his Armies to his Barkalong, a Chinese, altogether unacquainted with War. The China Man accepted of the Charge with much Relunctancy, but the King would not be denied. The War proved unsuccessful, but I'll leave the Particulars till I treat of Cambodia, and return to Siam, where I had some Difficulties to meet with.

In Anno 1719, I went thither with a Cargo to dispose of, expecting to trade on the Footing of the old Treaty concluded at London with the King of England, and the King of Siam's Ambassador, in Anno 1684, but on my Arrival, I found that Mr. Collet, Governor of Fort St. George,
George, had cancelled that Agreement by his Ambassador Powny, as I have already observed, and the new Conditions being too hard for me to stand to, I solicited for Liberty to depart again with my Ship and Cargo, which I could not obtain in less than four Months.

Collet’s Attorney at the Court of Siam, was a Persian by Birth, but had come to Siam with his Father when very young, and had remained about 40 Years at Siam. He was as complete a Rascal, as Collet could have found for his villanous Purposes, for by false Informations to the King, he had brought many honest Men into Trouble, and some Treasure into the King’s Coffers.

When I understood that he was the Remora that had put a Stop to my Commerce, I tried if I could remove him by large Presents, but all to no Purpose, for if I traded, it must be on the Scheme laid down by Collet, by the Negotiation of Powny, who kept one Collins as his Resident at Siam, to consult and inform the Persian of the best Methods to ruin the English Traders that had not Collet’s Letters of Protection.

This Persian, (whose Name was Oia Semecrat) and I, were diicoursing one Day of my Affairs in the Indostan Language, which is the established Language spoken in the Mogul’s large Dominions, and among other Things, I was laying down to him the Difficulties that might attend the King of Siam’s Trade, carried on from Merjee to Fort St. George, because if the rest rest of the English Colonies were forbid trading with Siam, they had just Cause to forbid his Subjects to trade to Fort St. George, or any where else, and that other Troubles might arise to the King's Affairs; by thus imposing on the King, who was ignorant of the Consequences that might follow in breaking the Agreement made in England, without so much as once giving Warning to the English Colonies of other Parts of India.

He answered me, that the King of Fort St. George could best give me an Answer, who was able to protect the King of Siam's Trade thither, and that his Majesty had no other foreign Trade but Japan, that he valued, and the English had no Trade that Way to disturb his Master's Commerce, and that if I did not comply with the Agreement made by Poum in Collet's Name, I might go away when I could.

I told him that I had a mind to see the King, and would make him a Present of a thousand Dollars, if he could find Means to introduce me to his Presence. He answered me, that the English had not good Manners enough to be admitted into the Presence of so great a King, and therefore I ought not to expect to appear before him, and for fear I should have made Application to some other Court Favourite to introduce me, about two or three Days after our Confabulation, I heard that there was a Proclamation published, all over the City, that no Foreigner should dare to approach within such a Distance of the King's Palace, under very severe Penalties.

About a Week after I had a Summons to appear before a Tribunal, to answer to an Indictment of speaking Treason of the King. I knew myself innocent, and appeared at the Time appointed, which was about Eight in the Morning. The Court was held in a large, square, oblong Hall, open on all Sides. About Nine the Judge came with some Thousands of Attendants, and as he passed by me to take his Place, he viewed me very narrowly, as I did him with much Attention. He was a Man of a middle Stature, about 50 Years of Age, of a pleasanant, but grave Countenance, and had a quick sparkling Eye. He spoke to my Interpreter to bid me have a Care of my Tongue, lest I should prejudice myself in answering to intricate Questions. I thanked him for his Admonition, and told him, A Word to the Wise was sufficient.

Having placed himself, he ordered my Indictment to be read, which was accordingly done, and in about half an Hour's Time it was ended. He ask'd me by my Interpreter, if I understood what was labelled against me. I answered, No. He then bade the Interpreter inform me of the Meaning of each particular Paragraph, as they were read a second Time with Deliberation, and having heard my Impeachment, which was grounded only on my saying, That the King had been imposed upon, I thought fit to deny deny all, and put my Adversary Oia Sennerat o prove that I had said so; but, by the by, I found, that saying the King of Siam was capable of being imposed on, is rank Treason.

The Judge chose out of the Assembly two Procurators for each of us, and there were no small Debates for three or four Hours, Whether or not a Stranger, who was ignorant of the Laws of Siam, could come under the Penalty annexed to the Transgression of their Laws, when they were broken through Ignorance, and not with Design; but my Antagonist at last carried it in the Affirmative, tho' the Judge seemed to incline towards the Opinions of my Advocates.

Then the Judge put Oia Sennerat to prove what I was accused of, and he produced two of his own Servants, who stood at some Distance when were discoursing of my Affairs; but my Advocate challenged the Laws of Siam for their Insufficiency, for that Law admits not of a Servant's Testimony, either for or against his Master. Then he proffered to bring an undeniable Witness against me, who was the only Person with us when we discoursed, and that was Collison, who was presently sent for, and being set by my Adversary, the Judge ask'd him by the Interpreter, if he was present at such a Time, when Oia Sennerat and I were in warm Discourse. He answered, He was. He then interrogated him, if he had heard me say in my Discourse, that the King had been imposed on. He affirmed he had, on which I perceived a Cloud overspread spread the Judge's Countenance; and many others, who had come to hear the Trial, seemed sorrowful.

After a little Pause, the Judge, by the Interpreter, ask'd me what I had to say to Collison's Evidence. I answered, that I had little Knowledge of him, but that he might be an honest Man, or otherwise, as his Interest led him. All continued mute for a little Space, and I broke the Silence by desiring the Judge to ask Collison in what Language I held that Discourse in with Oia Sennerat, which the Judge did, and was answered, that he did not well know, but that he believed it was in the Indusian Language. I begged the Judge to ask him if he understood that Language, and he did so. Collison, after some Pause, answered, No. Then the Judge ask'd him angrily, and with an Air of Disdain, how he could come in as an Evidence of Words spoken in a Language that he did not understand, and he simply said, That he thought I had said so, at which the whole Crowd gave an Huzza, and clap'd their Hands, and seemed joyful. The Judge reprimanded Oia Sennerat for putting him and the Court to so much Trouble, and complimented me on my safe Delivery, and so departed seemingly well satisfied:

I had two British Gentlemen that accompanied me all the Time of my Trial. One was Commander of a small Ship from Bengal, called Mr. Alexander Dalglish, and one Mr. John Saunders, who was second Supercargo under me; and

and when the Judge came, some Executioners followed him with their Instruments of Death, to put the Sentence in Execution as soon as the Judge pronounces it. Our Debates held so long, that it was near Eight at Night before we got Home. Had I been caft in my Process, my Head had been a Sacrifice to my Adversary’s Revenge, and my Ship and Cargo to the much injured King, and to sum up all, my Ship’s Company had been the King’s Slaves. On my returning Home victorious, I had the Congratulations of all my Friends, particularly the Chinese Merchants, whose Lives and Estates might have been endangered by the like villanous Informations.

My Adversaries being shamefully disappointed in that Project, had one more to try their Skill in, and that was to bring me in for Piracy; for, about four Years before, Mr. Harrison, then Governor of Fort St. George, had sent a Ship to Amoy in China, and some China Merchants having taken Goods and Money, to the Amount of 20000 Tavals, or 6700 Pounds Sterl. when the Term of Payment came, they eloped, and the Super cargoes could have no Redress, which made them give Orders to the Captain of the Ship to make Reprisals, which they did on a large Jonk belonging to the Barkalong of Siam, which Jonk they carried with them to Fort St. George, and which Fact my Adversaries fixed on me, tho’, at that Time I was in Arabia or Persia, which I proffered to prove by some Mabometan
Mahometan Merchants that saw me there; but all that I could alledge would have been ineffectual, if I had not accidentally found some Chinese who belonged to the Fak when she was seized, and who knew both me and Captain Jones, who was the Captor, and so it never came to a Trial.

It being high Time for me to get from Siam at any Rate, I applied myself to my Judge for his Assistance, and carried a Present of four Yards of scarlet Cloth, and some Pieces of Surat Goods, to the Value of 20 L. in all. He received me very courteously, and promised me his Assistance, but would accept of none of my Presents. At last on my pressing him to take it, he accepted of the scarlet Cloth, but would not touch any of the Surat Goods, tho' they were very fine in their Kind, but recommended me to two Officers more, whom I must address to make my Request be the easier granted, and he told me, that those Surat Goods would serve to make them my Friends. I took his Advice, and in three Days had my Clearance, for paying about 200 L. for my Ship's Measurage, (an Imposition of Mr. Collet's) and so I fell down to Bencock, where, according to the Siam Custom, I was obliged to put my Guns a-shore, before I could go up to the City. I lay there four or five Days before Orders were sent to deliver my Guns, which, as soon as I had got on board, and mounted, I told the Officer that delivered them, to give my Service to Oia Sennerat, and tell him, that that if the King's three Fonks arrived on this Coast this Season, he would hear farther from me by them.

By that Time I was clear at Bencock, Captain Dalgleish arrived there also, in order to proceed to Bengal. He had fallen into the Trap laid by Collet, and had paid Measurage and Customs, besides the usual Presents to the Court, according to the old Constitution, but he could not get ready to go so soon out of the River as I, otherwise I designed to have brought some Troubles on Sennerat, if not on Collet and Powney's Affairs at Siam, but Captain Dalgleish being still in their Power, tied my Hands.

Siam Bar is only a large Bank of soft Mud, and, at Spring-tides, not above ten or eleven Foot Water on it. It is easy getting into it in the South-west Monsoons, because, in two or three Tides, with the Motion the Ship receives from the small Waves and the Assistance of the Wind, she slides thro' the Mud. My Ship drew thirteen Foot, and we had not above nine on the Bar when we went into the River, but coming out with the North-east Monsoons, the Sea being smooth, we are obliged to warp out with Anchors and Halfers, and, if the Ship draws any considerable Draught of Water, we are sometimes two Springs in warping over, but, at twelve Foot Draught, I got over in four Tides.

And now, having given some particular Accounts of my Observations on and in Siam, I will also give some general Remarks, and begin with with the Fertility of the Country, which, on that Point, is inferior to few (if any) in the World.

There are but two Parcels of Mountains to be seen in the Places that I passed thro', and they lie between East and North-east from the City of Odia, about ten Leagues distant, and they produce good Timber for Building, and Agala-wood for Perfumes. They have also Mines of Iron, Tin, Lead, Silver and Gold, but they are all entailed on the Crown, who has the sole Benefit of them. They breed vast Numbers of wild Deer, which are hunted and killed for the sake of their Skins, which they yearly send to Japon.

The Plains produce all Sorts of Grain necessary for animal and human Sustenance. They plentifully bear as good, if not the best Oranges, Lemons and Limes in the World. Their Rivers superabound in Fish of several Species, very good in their Kind. Their Villages are numerous, and well inhabited with Artificers and Peasants; but there are but five walled Towns in all the Siam Dominions, and Odia is one of them.

They have Abundance of wild Animals in their Woods, such as Elephants, Rhinoceroses, Leopards and Tigers, and tame Cattle, as Bullocks, Buffaloes and Swine, in Abundance about their Farms. Temples and Priests are more numerous here, in Proportion to the Laity, than in any Country I ever saw out of the Dominions of Portugal. Their Talapoys or Priests are distinguished from the Laity by a cinnamon or orange-orange-coloured Cloke which they wear, they again differing among themselves by distinguishing Badges, by which they know their Degree and Dignity. Their Heads, Beards and Eyebrows are kept close shaven. They are forbidden Marriage or meddling with Money, and if any of the Priesthood is convicted of Incontinency with Women, he is burned for it alive, and, if only suspected and brought to a Trial, he is degraded and banished.

They have Sermons or Lectures four Times in a Moon, the Gates of the Temples being set wide open, and the People meet in good Order. Their Sermons consist in recommending moral Duties to the People, and Charity towards one another; but particularly to the Church, by which Acts it subsists; and, after the Priests Benediction, every one goes to an Image, and kisses it, or bows to it, and marches off in good Order. They have Morning and Evening Prayers, and sing Anthems. They visit the Sick, and pray for the Dead, and accompany the Corps to the funeral Pile, and sing Obsequies. They go to Weddings, and make Sacrifices for the Prosperity of the Bridegroom and Bride, but have no Hand in joyning them together.

Marriages are there made up by Parents or near Relations, without the Consent of the Parties to be married, for that Reason they are commonly married very young; but, if they are come to the Years of Discretion or Maturity, then the Spark gets some female Friend to acquaint quaint his Mistriifs with his Passion for her, and if she will permit a Visit from him, the Bargain is as good as made. The civil Magistrate with them officiates the Priest's Part with us, and when once they are married, they seldom sue for a Divorce, which is very hard to procure, except in Case of Insufficiency in the Man, or Barrenness in the Woman; for Adultery, in either Party, is not reckoned infamous; and Fornication is either allowed or tolerated.

The Children are carefully educated in Schools by Priests set apart for that Service, and it is rare to find a Stamer but who can write. After Schooling, they are put to such Callings as suit best with their Genius and Quality: And there is generally a reciprocal Harmony between Parents and Children. The Children are obedient, and the Parent indulgent. In Childhood and Youth the Parent furnishes the Child with what is necessary, and in old Age the Child supplies all the Wants of his Parent, as far as he is able. In Marriages they make no Account of Consanguinity, farther than between Father and Daughter, Mother and Son, and Sister and Brother; all other Degrees are lawful.

And now it is Time to steer my Course to the Southward again as far as Cambodia. Coasting along Shore, the first Place we meet with is Banjay, a Place not frequented by Strangers, tho' it produces much Agali and Sipen-woods, and Elephants Teeth; but all are sent to the King, who, for all his gaudy Titles, yet stoops to

to play the Merchant. I suppose he makes Use of Trading in Honour of his Kinsman Mercury, who superintends Merchandizing, but was never reckoned a fair Dealer, and in that Point the King is nearly related to him: But Bankasoy is famous, chiefly for making Ballichang, a Sauce made of dried Shrimps, Cod-pepper, Salt and a Sea Weed or Grass, all well mixed, and beaten up to the Consistency of thick Mustard. Its Taste and Smell are both ungrateful to the Nose and Palate; but many hundred Tuns are expended in Siam and the adjacent Countries.

Bankasoy River lies but 4 or 5 Leagues to the Eastward of Siam Bar, and there are two Islands, called the Dutch Islands, where great Ships are obliged to stay in the South-west Monsoons, when they cannot get Water over the Bar that bears off it South-east and by South, about nine Leagues distant.

I observed before, that the Company sent the Herbert and another Ship from England in Anno 1685. and in 1686. as the Herbert lay at those Islands, one Captain Udal, who commanded her, died, and the succeeding Captain carried his Corps ashore, and buried it in a pretty deep Grave. Two Days after, some of the Ship's People going ashore, had the Curiosity to go and see the Grave. When they came near, to their great Wonder, they saw the Corps strip'd of its winding Sheet, and set upright against a Tree. It was afterwards put again into the Coffin, and buried in the same Grave, with a Quantity of heavy heavy Stones on it, and next Day they came to the Grave, and found it opened a second Time, with the Corps standing upright against another Tree, so they made fast some Stones to it, and carried it a pretty Way into the Sea, and buried it in the Water, where it remained undisturbed. This strange Resurrection left Room for various Conjectures, but the most probable seemed to be, that some Sorcerers took it up, and put it in that Posture, whilst they, by their Sorceries or incantations, interrogate it about future Events, and received Answers thro' human Organs. The Matter of Fact I have heard often affirmed by several who were there at the Time and saw it, which made me enquire, if any People in Siam used to enquire about future Events after that Manner, and I was told that they did.

The Coasts of Liampe and Chiampo are the Territories of Siam, but for 50 Leagues and more along the Sea-shore, there are no Sea-ports, the Country being almost a Desert. It produces good Store of Sapan and Agala-woods, with Gum-lack, and Sticklack, and many Drugs that I know but little about.

C H A P. XLVIII.

Gives an Account of Cambodia its Trade, also of a late War brought into their Country by the Siamer, and the ill Success they had.

The first Sea-port to be met with is Cupangsoap, a Town in the Dominions of Cambodia. It affords Elephants Teeth, Stick-ack and the Gum Cambouge or Cambodia; but there is no free Commerce allowed there, without a Licence from the Court of Cambodia.

The next Place is Ponteama, a Place of pretty good Trade for many Years, having the Convenience of a pretty deep but narrow River, which, in the rainy Seasons of the South-west Monsoons, has Communication with Basfack or Cambodias River, which Conveniency made it draw foreign Commerce from the City of Cambodia hither; for the City lying near 100 Leagues up the River, and most Part of the Way a continual Stream running downward, made the Navigation to the City so long and troublesome, that few cared to trade to it, for which Reasons foreign Commerce chose to come to Ponteama, and it flourished pretty well till the Year 1717, that the Siam Fleet destroyed it.
When the Siam Army and Fleet threatened Cambodia, the King knew his Inability to withstand the Siames, so the Inhabitants that lived on his Borders had Orders to remove towards the City of Cambodia, and what they could not bring with them, to destroy it, so that for fifty Leagues the Country was a meer Desart. He then addrest the King of Cochinchina for Assistance and Protection, which he obtained, on Condition, that Cambodia should become tributary to Cochinchina, which was agreed to, and he had an Army of 15000 to assist him by Land, and 3000 in nimble Gallies well mann'd and equip'd by Sea.

The Siam Army by Land was above double the Number of the Cambodians and Cochinchinese in Conjunction, and their Fleet above four Times their Number. The Land Army finding all the Country desolate, as they marched into the Borders of Cambodia, soon began to be in Distress for want of Provisions, which obliged them to kill their Carriage Beasts, and their Elephants and Horses which they could get no Sustenance for, and the Soldiers being obliged to eat their Flesh, it being a Diet they had never been used to, an epidemick Flux and Fever seized the whole Army, so that in two Months one Half was not left, and those were obliged to retreat towards their own Country again, with the Cambodian Army always at their Heels.
of the East Indies. 197

Nor had their Navy much better Success, for they coming to Ponteamasi, sent their small Gallies to plunder and burn the Town, which they did effectually, and, of Elephants Teeth only, they burnt above 200 Tuns. The Ships and Jonks of Burden lying in the Road, above four Miles from the Town, the Couchin-chinese taking hold of that Opportunity, attack’d the large Vessels, and burned some, and forced others ashore, whilst their Gallies were in a narrow River, and could not come to their Assistance till High-water that they could get out. The Couchin-chinese having done what they came for, retired, not caring to engage such a superior Number, and the Siamese fearing Famine in their Fleet, steered their Course for Siam with Disgrace. In Anno 1720. I saw several of the Wrecks, and the Ruins of the Town of Ponteamasi.

The City of Cambodia stands on the Side of the great River, about 50 or 60 Leagues from Ponteamasi by Land, or by Water in the Southwest Monsoons. The Country produces Gold of twenty one Caracts fine, raw Silk at 120 Dollars per Pecul, Elephants Teeth at 50 to 55 Dollars for the largest. The small are of different Prices. They have also much Sapanwood, Sandal-wood, Agala-wood, Sticklack, and many Sorts of physihal Drugs, and Lack for Japaning. They are very desirous of having a Trade with the English; but they will not suffer the Dutch to settle Factories in their Country.

Provisions of Flesh and Fish are plentiful and cheap, and are the only Things that may be bought without a Permit from the King. I have bought a Bullock, that weighed between 4 and 500 Weight, for a Spanish Dollar; and Rice is bought at Eight Pence per Pecul, which is about 140 lb. but Poultry are scarce, because the Country being for the most Part woody, when the Chickens grow big, they go to the Woods, and shift for themselves. Tigers and wild Elephants are numerous in Woods, and there are also wild Cattle and Buffaloes, and Plenty of Deer, all which Animals every Body is free to catch or kill.

There are about two hundred Topasses, or Indian Portuguezse settled and married in Cambodiam and some of them have pretty good Posts in the Government, and live great after the Fashion of that Country; but they have no Priests, nor will any venture to go among them, for in Anno 1710. a poor Capuchin went there to officiate, and finding one of the toppingest of his Congregation to have two Wives, ordered him, by virtue of his sacerdotal Power, to put one of them away, but his Parishioner would not obey in that Point, which made the Priest use the Weapon of Excommunication against him, which the other took in such Dudgeon, that he knocked his spiritual Guide's Brains out for his unseemly Severity. Since that Time they wrote to Siam and Macao in China for some more ghostly Fathers, but not one will go, tho' perhaps they might have the Honour of dying Martyrs.

They all of them have small Pensions from the King, but too narrow to maintain them, so they go to the Woods with Fire-arms, and kill wild Elephants for their Teeth, which they fell to Foreigners; and their Way of killing them is very singular, for they form a Piece of Iron like a Slug, and the foremost End is made sharp. In the Woods grow certain Trees with a thick Bark of a violent poisonous Quality. They drive the sharp End of the Slug into the Bark, and let it stay a short Time in it, then put the Slug into their Gun charged with Powder, and coming near the Beast, fire the Slug into its Body. The Elephant being thus wounded, flees from the Man, but the Man keeps Sight of it for a small Space of Time, and then it drops down dead.

And with the same poisoned Slugs they kill Cattle and Buffaloes, for their Tongues. This subtile Poison has also another strange Quality, that if Men become hungry or thirsty, (as they often do in the Woods) they squeeze a few Drops of it on a Leaf of a Tree, and they licking the Leaf, it gives immediate Refreshment; but if the Skin be broken, and the Juice touch the Part, it proves mortal without Remedy.

When I arrived at Ponteamajis, an Officer came on board, who could speak a little Portuguese. He brought a Present of Refreshments along with him, and advised me to send to the King,
King, to give him an Account of my Arrival, and acquaint him that I designed to trade with his Subjects by his Permission, which I did, and in twelve Days, received an Answer that I might, but desired me to send some Person up with Musters of my Goods, that he and his Merchants might see them, and sent two Portuguese for Interpreters, one to stay with me on board of my Ship, while I staid, and the other to accompany the Person I designed to send to him with the Musters. On their Arrival I dispatched my second Supercargo, with an Equipage of 25 Men, well armed with Fuzees and Bayonets, with two small Bales of Musters, and Presents for the King, with Instructions to let me hear from him once a Week by an Express, if no other Opportunity offered.

After he arrived at that City, he had a large House allowed him for the Accomodation of him and his Retinue, and had store of Provisions sent him, and many Folks of Distinction visited him, but ten Days past before he could see his Majesty, who at last received him in great State, sitting on a Throne like a Pulpit, with his Face veiled below his Eyes, and after many gracious Speeches, some whereof were pertinent to my Purpose, but many not, he gave me Liberty and Encouragement to trade.

I had staid above three Weeks in Expectation to hear from my second Supercargo, but could get no Account from him. I beginning to be uneasy, got an Express to carry Letters Letters to him, and ordered him to send it back with as much Speed as was possible, but had the Mortification to find he had been stop'd at the City. I was extremely uneasy for want of Advice, what was become of my People, and the approaching of the South-west Monsoons, which would have made that Coast a Lee-shore, and would have oblig'd me to take Sanctuary in one of their Harbours for five or fix Months, was not certain whether I was in a Friend's or an Enemy's Country. In this Labyrinth I continued a Week, and at last resolved to depart by a certain Day, and leave my People to come after me to Malacca, if they were alive and at Liberty. The Goods I had sent up with them, would have been sufficient to have hired a Vessel to carry them thither. I told my Resolution to my Interpreter, and that I should be obliged to carry him and some more of the King's Subjects along with me as Hostages for the civil Treatment of my People at Cambodia. He seemed surprized at my Resolution, and got a Person to go to the City in all haste to give an Account of my Impatience and Design, who returned in fourteen Days, about two Days before my Term was expired, that I had set for my Departure. There accompanied him three PortuguezE, who brought me Letters from my second Supercargo, that he had taken leave of the King, and was coming to me with all haste, and in three Days after the PortuguezE came, he arrived with all his Retinue, with a Letter of Compliment to me in the Portuguese Language, and one directed to the Governor of Bombay, to invite the English to settle in his Country, and to build Factories or Forts in any Part of his Dominions to protect Trade.

The Reason why he kept us so long in Suspence, was that he would enter into no Correspondence with us, without the Knowledge and Consent of his Guardian the King of Couchinchina, who at last consented to allow us Commerce both in Cambodia, and in his own proper Dominions, but that the Siames had destroyed the Country where they had been, and they had nothing ready for Barter with my Cargo then, but in a Year or two they would be provided.

When the King bestows his Favour on any Person whom he has a Mind to honour, which he never does without a considerable Present, he presents the Person with two Swords to be carried always before him when he goes abroad in public, one is the Sword of State, and the other of Justice. All People that meet him when those Swords are carried before him, must give him Place, and salute him by a set Form of Words, but if he meets with another Court Minion, then they compare the Dates of their Patents, and Segniority takes Place, and must be first saluted. Wherever those Mandarcens go in the Country, they hold Courts of Justice, both civil and criminal, and they have the Power of laying on Fines, but they are paid into the King’s Treasury; but in capital Crimes, his Sen-

Sentence is Law, and speedy Execution follows Sentence.

The Cambodians are of a light brown Complexion, and very well shap'd, their Hair long, and Beards thin. Their Women are very handsome, but not very modest. The Men wear a Vestment like our Night-gowns, but nothing on their Heads or Feet. The Women wear a Petticoat reaching below the Ankle, and on their Bodies a Frock made close and meet for their Bodies and Arms, and both Sexes dress their Hair.

I saw none of their Priests, but understood from my Interpreter, that they worship the same Gods that are adored in Siam. They worship the great God under the Name of Tipedab, and Praw Prumb, and Praw Pout, are his Sons. The Church subsists by Free-will-offerings, and their Priests are not much respected, being generally chosen from among the lower Sort of the Laity.

The Kingdom of Laos borders on Siam, Cambodia, Couchin-china, and Tonquin. It produces Gold, and raw Silk. Elephants Teeth are so plentiful, that they stake their Fields and Gardens about with them, to keep out wild Hogs and Cattle from destroying their Fruit and Corn. They are all Pagans in Religion.

The Natives of Laos are whiter in Complexion than their circumjacent Neighbours. I saw some of them at Siam, of both Sexes. Their Women were little inferior to Portugueze or Spanish Ladies.

There
There are several Islands that lie off the Coast of Cambodia, but none are inhabited, because the Saleeters, or Pirates that infest that Coast, rob them of what they get by Pains and Industry, tho' there is one about three Leagues West of Ponteamasi, called Quadroil, that has good Qualifications for a Settlement. It is about three Leagues long, and one broad. Wood and fresh Water are plentiful, the Ground of a moderate Height, the Soil black and fat, except along the East Side which faces Ponteamasi, and that has several fine sandy Bays, and they are good safe Harbours in the rainy and windy Seasons.

About 30 Leagues East-south-east from Ponteamasi, is the West Entrance of Cambodia River, generally called Bocca de Carangera. The shallowest Place in the Channel in going in, is four Fathoms, and within it deepens to Twenty in some Places. The North Entrance is broader, but much shallower, and lies about ten Leagues distant from the West Channel, but is little frequented. Between Ponteamasi and the River, are several small uninhabited Islands. Pullopanjang is the largest, and consists of a Cluster of eight Islands, which form a pretty good Harbour. Pullo-ubi is the Eastmost, and affords good Masts for Shipping.

Pullo-condore is the largest and highest, composed of four or five Islands. It lies about 15 Leagues South of the West Channel of Cambodia River. Pullo-condore had once the Honour of an English Colony settled on it, by Mr. Allan Ketchpole, in Anno 1702, when the Factory of Chusan, on the Coast of China, was broke up, he being then Director for Affairs of the English East-India Company in those Parts.

He made a bad Choice of a Place for a Colony, that Island producing nothing but Wood, Water, and Fish for catching. He got some Maccassers to serve for Soldiers, and help to build a Fortification, and made a firm Contract with them to discharge them at the End of three Years if they were minded to quit his Service, but did not perform what was contracted, which was the Cause of his own Ruin, and the Loss of the Colony, for those Eastern Desperados are very faithful where Contracts and Covenants are duly observed when made with them, but in Defaillance, they are revengeful and cruel. Mr. Ketchpole having detained the Maccassers beyond their Time of Agreement, still entrusted them with the Guard of his own Person and the Garrison; and they taking the Opportunity of the Night, when all the English were in their Beds, who lodged in the Fort, they inhumanly murdered them all. There was some Noise made by those who were awake, which a few who lodged without the Fort hearing, took the Alarm, and ran to the Sea-side, where kind Providence directed them to a Boat ready fitted with Oars and Sails, which they embarked in, and put off from the Shore, and were not a Stone's-throw off, till the bloody Villains on the Shore were were in Quest of them. So those in the Boat, with much Fatigue, Hunger, and Thirst in failing, and rowing above 100 Leagues, got to some Place of the King of Jobore's Dominions, where they were treated with Humanity. The reverend and ingenious Doctor Pound, was one of those that escaped, and Mr. Solomon Lloyd (an old Acquaintance of mine) was another.

There were two Harbours, or anchoring Places, at Pullo-condore, but neither of them good. One at the North-east End, they were forced to use in the South-west Monsoons, the other on the West-side for the North-east Winds, the Bottom of which is rocky, and therefore dangerous for losing Anchors and Cables, yet that was the Place chosen to build their Fort on, but since a Factory was thought necessary to be settled on that Coast, I wonder why they chose these Islands, rather than Quadrolo which I mentioned before.

The City of Cambodia is reckoned to lie 100 Leagues up from the Bar, and the River fill'd with low Islands and Sand Banks. The Country of Laos is about 40 Leagues farther up, but what Navigation is used above the City of Cambodia, is done by small rowing Vessels, and the River being one of the longest in the World, employs great Numbers of those rowing Boats.
C H A P. XLIX.
Treats of Couchin-china, and Tonquin, their Religion, Laws and Customs.

C O U C H I N - C H I N A is only divided from Cambodia, by the River, which in some Places is three Leagues broad. It is a Country far larger than Cambodia, and much richer, and the Inhabitants more courageous and hardier for enduring Fatigues in Labour or War, than the Cambodians, but are not so conversable and civil to Strangers. The Couchin-chinese draw one half of the Customs and Taxes raised in Cambodia by Commerce and Merchandizing, but they give little Encouragement for Strangers to trade with them. Their Country abounding in Gold, raw Silk, and Drugs, they bring them to Cambodia, to dispose of there, except what they send yearly to Canton in China; and I have seen some of their Jonks trading at Jobore and Batavia.

Their Religion is Pagan after the China Way, worshipping the same Gods, after the same manner as the Chinese do. Their Laws are severe and bloody for Crimes of Treason, for not only the guilty Person suffers a painful Death, but the Relations within the Bounds of Consanguinity suffer Death also. Their Cities and Towns are divided into Wardships, and at the Ends Ends of each Street are railed Gates, placed to confine each Ward within its own Limits. These Gates are shut and lock'd every Night, so that they have no Communication by Night, but if a Fire breaks out in one of the Wards, its whole Inhabitants are cut off except the Women and Children.

There are but few Christians tolerated in Cochinchina, yet there was (and perhaps is) a French Priest in great Esteem among them, but it is capital for any other Priest to be found in their Country. This Frenchman kept a Correspondence by writing, with Mr. Ciffie Bishop of Siam, and he having a Relation of the Danger Christian Priests were in there, made the old Zealot half-mad to get thither, to receive the Honour of Martyrdom, and had he been honest in his Promises to me (which was only not to protect any of my fugitive Seamen at Siam) I would have favoured him with a Passage to Cambodia, from whence he might have easily gone to get that glorious Crown.

Cochinchina has a large Sea-coast of about 700 Miles in Extent, from the River of Cambodia, to that of Quambin, and it has the Convenience of many good Harbours on it, tho' they are not frequented by Strangers; and along the East Coast it is very deep, for in several Places I found the Depth, and found between 60 and 80 Fathoms within half a League of the Shore.

There
of the East Indies. 209

There are several Islands on this Coast. Those nearest the Shore are not dangerous. Pullo-feca de Terra, lies most Southerly, and nearest the Shore. It is uninhabited, and looks only like a Parcel of scorch'd Rocks, without either Tree, Bush, or Grass to be seen on it. I past within a Mile of it, and it lies about a Mile from the Shore. Pullo-feca de Mare, and all the Chain of Islands that stretch from the dangerous Shallows of Paracel, are rather to be accounted Rocks than Islands. Pullo-cambir lies about 15 Leagues off the Shore, near the Paracels. It is uninhabited, tho' pretty large. Pullo-canton lies near the Shore, and so do the Islands of Champello, but there are no Dangers lie off from them. There are strong Currents that run to the Southward in the North-east Monsoons, which makes Pilots take Care to keep near the Couchin-china Coast, for fear of being driven among the Paracels, which are a dangerous Chain of Rocks, about 130 Leagues long, and about 15 broad, and have only some Islands at each End. There are several Inter-currents among those Rocks, but no known Marks to keep clear of Dangers by; yet I knew an English Ship from Surat, that drove accidentally through them, and neither knew nor saw their Danger till it was over, when they unexpectedly saw the Coast of Couchin-china.

In Anno 1690, a Portugueze Ship was lost on one of the Northermost Islands of the Paracels, and all were lost but three or four Persons who swimm'd ahoare. There were many Pieces of the Wreck followed them, and some Canisters of Flour were accidentally thrown ashore, whereby they were supported. They built a Hut of what Timbers and Boards they could use for that Purpose, and they found some fresh Water in the Caverns of the Rocks, and in one Place they built a Cistern to save the Rain-Water for the dry Season. They took Sea-Weeds and mix'd with Mud, that they found about the Coast of the Island, and placing that Mixture in a convenient Part to retain the Rain-Water, they subsisted by that Means a dry Season. Their Food was Sea-Fowls, and Tortoises which frequented that Island in great Numbers. In three Years they all died but one, and in Anno 1701, a Ship bound to Maccao, coming near the Island against their Will, seeing the Figure of a Man waving his Hands over his Head, they had Compassion and sent their Boat to the Island, and were astonished to find the Person to be one of their own Countrymen, and much more when he told them his Misfortunes, and how long he had been alone on that Island. They clothed him and fed him, and carried him to Maccao, where I saw him in Anno 1703, and had the Account from his own Mouth.

But it is Time to return back to Cochinchina, which about three or four Centuries ago, was but a Province of Tonquin, at least they were both under the Dominion of one King, who dying without Issue, divided the Government of

his Dominions between a Brother and a Sister of his, whom he very much esteem'd for their good Qualities. He ordered his Brother to reside in Cochbin-china, and take Care of Affairs there, while the Sister took Care of the Government of Tonquin, but to have a Meeting once a Year to consider and consult of Matters for the good of the State.

The Lady being young, thought fit to marry, and the Harmony of State soon ended by the Marriage. The Husband grew ambitious, and wanted the Government wholly in his own Hands, but carried fair with his Brother-in-law, and one Time talking with the Queen of the Necessity of uniting both Kingdoms into one, as formerly, and that of Right both belonged to her, as being possesse of the most ancient and noble Kingdom, and that in order to get both Kingdoms into her Hands, he would find a Way to cut off her Brother, without Suspicion of their being accessory to it. The Queen seeming to approve of the Design, privately let her Brother know his Danger; being then at the Court of Tonquin, she advised him to pretend to go a hunting for a few Days, but to make what haste he could unto his own Government, where he might be secure from Conspiracies on his Life; which Advice he followed, and got safe into Cochbin-china, and calling a Council of his Nobles, related the whole Affair to them.

The Cochbin-chines took the designed Injury to their Prince, so ill, that from that Time they renounced renounced all Friendship and Commerce with the Tonquiners, and the River Quambil being made the Bounds of Tonquin Dominions to the Southward, and of Couchin-china to the Northward, they both raised Armies of 40 or 50000 Men each, and they continue still facing one another, the River lying between them, and nothing of Action has happened all this while. If any Couchin-chinese happens to flee from the Justice of his own Country, to the Tonquiners, they receive him kindly, and treat him civilly, but if a Tonquiner fall under the same Circumstances, and go for Sanctuary to the Couchin-chinese, he is condemned to Slavery, and so must continue till he gets a Pardon from his own Court, and pay his Ransom.

Tonquin is the next Kingdom I must steer to of Course, where the English and Dutch both had their Factories, but the English Company’s Affairs being a little out of Order, they withdrew theirs in January 1698, and the Dutch finding but little Advantage by their Trade in Tonquin, withdrew theirs about six Years after. However, the English had a private Trade pretty good till the Year 1719, that an English Ship from Bengal ruin’d it by an Act of Violence.

The Ship being laden and ready to sail, fell down the River from Catches, the capital City of Tonquin, and in Defiance to the known Laws of the Country, the Supercargo got a Tonquin Girl on board, in order to carry her with him, but her Friends missing her, informed the civil Magistrate,
of the East Indies.

gistrate, who sent to demand her, but the Supercargo would not resign his Mistres; whereupon Acts of Hostility ensued, and some were killed on both Sides, and Captain Wallace who commanded the Ship, had the Fortune to be one of the Slain; however, the English bravely carried off their Prize, but I never heard any more of the Tonquin Trade since.

Tonquin is bounded with Couchin-china on the South, Laos on the West, Quanshi, a Province of China on the North, and the Ocean on the East.
The Country is prodigiously fruitful in all Things necessary for the Conveniency and Support of Life.

It produces Gold and Copper, but neither of them fine. They have Abundance of raw Silk, and manufacture Part of it in wrought Silks, but none fine. Their Baax is the best, which they generally dye black. It wears very long, because it is soft and well spun, and the oftner
it is washed, the Colour looks brighter, if blacker may be so called. They make Bowls, Cups, and Tables of Rottans, and cover them very neatly with Lack of divers Colours, and gild them. They have also some Porcelline, but ever coarse and ill painted. And those are the Commodities for Exportation from Tonquin.

There is a great Chain of impassable Mountains, that run from the Sea above 150 Leagues, along the Confinies of Quanshi and Quichero, Provinces of China, which secure Tonquin from any Invasions that may come that Way from China,
and
and those Mountains are covered with thick Woods well stock'd with wild Elephants, Tigers, and Deer, but the Use or Oftentation of training up tame Elephants, is not much minded in Tonquin, nor in China.

The Christian Religion is strictly forbidden to be preach'd in Torquin, yet there are some Christians of the Romish Church there. Their own Religion is Pagan, according to the Doctrine of China. And they have a Tradition, that many Ages ago, Tonquin and Couchin-china were both Provinces of China.

The Tonquiners used to be very desirous of having a Brood of Europeans in their Country, for which Reason the greatest Nobles thought it no Shame or Disgrace to marry their Daughters to English and Dutch Seamen, for the Time they were to stay in Torquin, and often presented their Sons in Law pretty handsomly at their Departure, especially if they left their Wives with Child, but Adultery was dangerous to the Husband, for they are well versed in the Art of poisoning.

The Men and Women are both well shap'd, and tolerably beautiful, but of a low Stature. The Maids keep their Teeth very white, till they have lost the Blue of their Plumb, and then they dye them as black as Jet, with the Juice of a certain Herb which they hold in their Mouths for three Days successively, and the black Tincture continues ever after; but while that Juice is in their Mouths, they dare not swallow their Spittle, it being of a poisonous Quality.

of the East Indies.

CHAP. L.

The Island of Aynam lies in the Bay of Tonquin, and not above 12 Leagues distant from its Northern Confines. The Island is large, being about 180 Miles in Length, and 120 in Breadth. It was formerly under Tonquin, but at present a Part of the Dominions of China. Its greatest Product is Salt, and is not frequented on account of Trade. There is no Passage for Vessels of Burden, between it and the Continent, being so full of dangerous Banks and rapid Currents. The mid Lands seem very mountainous. The East and South Sides are low, but clear of Danger. About two Leagues from its Shores, is from 20 to 25 Fathoms Water.

The next Course I steer, is into Quanfi, the Southermost Province of China, and as yet has not been brought to acknowledge the Tartar Domination. It admits of no Commerce either with Foreigners or Chinese, that are under the Tartar Government, but on all Occasions commit Acts of Hostility on them, and are so bold and courageous, that one of their little Gallies will attack four of the Emperor's, and make them flee before them, for they give Quarter to none that bear Arms under the Tartar Prince, as they call the Emperor. The Country is fruitful and populous, and produces much raw Silk and Drugs, such as China Root, Gallingal, &c. It has 80 Leagues of a Sea-coast, and is bounded by the Limpaco Islands, and Canton River.

Canton or Quantung (as the Chinese express it) is the next maritime Province; and Maccaw, a City built by the Portugueze, was the first Place of Commerce. This City stands on a small Island, and is almost surrounded by the Sea. Towards the Land it is defended by three Castles built on the Tops of low Hills. By its Situation and Strength by Nature and Art, it was once thought impregnable. Indeed their Beautiful Churches and other Buildings, give us a reflecting Idea of its ancient Grandeur, for in the Forepart of the seventeenth Century, according to the Christian Era, it was the greatest Port for Trade in India or China.

The largest Brass Cannon that ever I saw are mounted in proper Batteries about the City. I measured one (amongst many) out of Curiosity, and found it 23 Foot from the Breech to the Muzzle Ring, nine Inches and a Quarter diameter in the Bore, and it was 12250 Rotullae or 78 Weight of solid Metal.

The City contains five Churches, but the Jethe best, and is dedicated to St. Paul. It
of the East Indies.

It has two Convents for married Women to retire to, when their Husbands are absent, and orphan Maidens are educated in them till they can catch an Husband. They have also a Nunnery for devout Ladies, young or old, that are out of Conceit with the Troubles and Cares of the World. And they have a Sancta Casa or the holy House of the Inquisition, that frightens every Catholick into the Belief of every Thing that holy Mother Church tells them is Truth, whether it be really so or no.

The Forts are governed by a Captain-general, and the City by a Burgher, called the Procurador, but, in Reality, both are governed by a Chinese Mandereen, who resides about a League out of the City, at a Place called Casa Branca. The Portuguese Shipping that come there, are admitted into their Harbour, and are under the Protection of the Town; but the Chinese keep the Custom-house, and receive Customs for all Goods imported.

That rich flourishing City has ruined itself by a long War they made with Timore, as I have observed before. They exhausted their Men and Money on that unsuccessful Project of Domination, so that out of a Thousand creditable House-keepers that inhabited the City before that War, there are hardly fifty left; and out of forty Sail of trading Vessels, they have not above five left, so that in the whole City and Forts, there are computed to be about two hundred Laity, and six hundred Priests, and about about fifteen hundred Women, and many of them are very prolific, for they bring forth Children without Husbands to father them.

In Anno 1703. I was bound from Surat to Amoy, and off the Maccova Islands, in the Month of August, I met with a severe Hurricane. We had visible Signs of an approaching Storm before it came, the Air was in great Agitation by much Lightning continually flashing, but no Thunder nor Rain. We prepared for its coming from Noon to Sunset, making every Thing in the Ship fast, our Yards lowered as low as conveniently they could be, and our Sails made fast with Coils of small Ropes, besides their usual furling Lines. At Nine in the Night it laid our Ship's Gunnel under Water, and I wish'd our Main-mast had been away, which about Ten was effected, and it carried our Mizzen-mast along with it. On its going over board our Ship came to Rights a little, and her lee Gunnel was clear of the Water, but much Water getting down at the Hatches, we had five Foot Water in the Ship, and no Possibility of getting it out by pumping, for our Main-mast breaking in the Partners of the Upper-deck, disabled both our Pumps. About Midnight we had cleared the Ship of the Main and Mizzen-masts, by cutting the Rigging that kept them fast to the Ship. By this Time the Wind had shifted from North-east to South-east, and had rather increased than asswaged, and those two Winds had put the Sea into violent Motions; however, we got our Ship before the Wind, but broachtoo brought her Head almost to the Sea, ich met her so violently, that it broke quite r the Ship, carrying away our Fore-mast and itspit, two Anchors from the lee Bough, ec great Guns of twenty two Hundred each,
th our Pinnace and Yole. We soon cleared elves of the Anchors, by cutting the Cables,
l, before Day, we were quit of our Fore-ft and Botsprit. About Eight in the Morn-
the Storm abated, and at Ten I called over Muster-roll, and found none wanting, but ween seventy and eighty bruised and wounded,
o were carefully dressed by our Surgeons, and covered. The Sea continued turbulent, but having two spare Top-masts, rigg'd them up,
I having saved our Mizzen-yard and Ensign-
, fitted them for Yards, to which we bent ls, and stood towards the Land, and, before was dark, anchored near some Islands called Ilbos de Viados by the Portugueze. Next orning we had much Trouble to get our Long-it out of the Ship. It was about 10 Tons Burden, and strongly built; but, after four urs Labour we put it into the Sea, and sent shore to try if we could get a Pilot, but found Body on that Island; however, they met th two Pieces of Masts of small Vessels that been cast on the Islands, and those they ought with them, which did us very great vice in bringing us to the Maccao Islands, ich were about 15 Leagues from us.

We
We kept the Boat sounding the Depths before the Ship, till we got about 8 Leagues on our Way, and anchored in good oazy Ground, under an Island that kept the rolling Seas from disturbing us, and in the Morning, by break of Day, we dispatched the Boat in Quest of Maccao, and to bring us Pilots. Before Night they landed at the City, and next Day returned with a Pilot and a Jonk to attend us, and, in two Days more, the Pilot brought us safe to an Anchor in Teipe Queberado, a very secure Place for Shipping to ride in. It is about four Miles from the City of Maccao, where I found a Company Ship called the Canterbury, commanded by Captain Kingsford, who had come from Amoy in March, and could not reach the Streights of Malacca, so was forced to pass the South-west Monsoons in this Harbour.

I went to the City, and applied myself to the Captain General and the Procuradore for Assistance, and they made large Promises. I addressed each of them with a Present of scarlet Cloth, and Surat Atlases, which they thankfully received, but soon after I found they were in no Condition to assist me. They indeed designed to compliment me with some fresh Provisions, but had not Interest enough with the China Mandereen to get Liberty to send them on board of my Ship.

Nor would he suffer any Body to supply me with Necessaries, till he received Orders from the Chontock or Vice-roy of Canton. That Incivility vility presaged but ill Success to my Affairs there; however, I went and paid him a Visit, and presented him with a Silver Salver and a Piece of Atlass on it, both in Value about 45 Tayals, or 15 L. Sterl. which he received, and made an Apology for his prohibiting Commerce with my Ship till he had received Advices from the Vice-roy.

He treated me with Tartarian Tea, which I took to be Beans boiled in Milk, with some Salt in it, and it was served in wooden Dishes, as big as Chocolate Cups. When our Regalia was over, I took Leave, and he loaded me with fair Promises, and sent after me a Present of an Hog, two Geese, a Goat and some Wheat Flour, and a small Jar of Samhew, or Rice Arrack.

Having nothing to do till the Vice-roy's Orders came, I went among some Islands to find a Watering-place, and, on a pretty high Island about a Mile long, and half as broad, I saw a fine clear Stream trickling down the Face of a Rock, about half a League from our Ship. I ordered my Men to fill about 20 Tuns of it, and being clearer than we had before, we made Ufe of it for drinking and boyling Rice. About ten Days after we had made Ufe of it, all my Men were affected with a violent Head-ach, and, among the rest, myself, which was a Diff-temper I never had been troubled with before.

I began to suspect that the Water might be the Cause, and ordered a large Copper-pot to be filled
A New Account

filled with it, and to boil one Half of it away, and set the rest to cool a Day and a Night, which was accordingly done, and, on pouring off the Water, I found about a large Handful of a dark gray Salt at the Bottom, of a sharp unfa doury Taste, which made me empty what remained of it into the Sea; but there was an high large Island about two Leagues from our Ship, that had many Springs of Water, which I tried, and found it to be good.

One Day I was discoursing with a Portuguese Physician of the Quality of the Water we first used, and he told me, that most of the Springs in China had pernicious Qualities, because the subterraneous Grounds were stored with Minerals, as Copper, Quick-silver, Allom, Toothnague, &c. and the Springs running thro' or near those Mines, the Water becomes affected with their natural Qualities, which was one Reason why the Chinese boil'd all their Water before they drank it, and as the Boiling causes the Spirits of the Water to evaporate, they used Tea to infuse new Spirits in the Place of the old, so that it was more out of Necessity than Choice that the Chinese drank so much Tea, tho' they do not drink it half so strong as generally we do in Europe.

It was near a Month after my Arrival before the Vice-roy's Order came to settle my Affairs. They had represented to him, that our Ship was a Wreck, and by the Laws of the Country, the fell to the King; but the Vice-roy distrusting the

the Report of the Chinese, sent a French Gentleman to bring him true Accounts of our Condition, and what Merchandize we had to dispose off. When the French Man came on board, I entertained him civilly, and gave him a Sight of the Musters of our Goods and their Quality, and we had fished up some small Fir-trees, which we had converted into Masts and Yards.

On the French Man's Return, and giving the Vice-roy an Account of what he had seen, he seemed amazed at the false Information he had from Maccao, and ordered the Hapoa or Custommaster to go and take an Account of our Goods, and take the Emperor's customary Dues, and give me a free Toleration to trade. Accordingly, the Hapoa came, and brought three Merchants along with him to buy our Goods. When they came on board, they were surprized to see so large a Ship, with so many Guns, having forty mounted, and such a Number of Men, I having above an hundred and fifty. I saluted the Hapoa with some Guns, and treated him with a Dinner after the European Fashions, and gave him good Store of Wine to wash it down; but he lik'd Canary beft, and drank of it till he was well flustered. Then he ordered the Length of the Ship to be measured on the upper Deck, and the Breadth at the Main-mast, and departed.

Next Day I went to visit him, and carried him a Present as customary. In our Discourse he told me, that he had brought a very honest Man along with him, who spake the Portu-

guex Language, and that he must be my Interpreter at Maccao, and buy all my Provisions spent in the Ship, and on my Table ashore, and that he had also brought three Merchants to agree for my Cargo, all Men of Substance. I answered, as to the Buying Provisions, I had no Occasion for any, and for making a Contract with those Merchants, I had no Mind to it, because I designed to carry my Cargo to Canton in small Jonks, and when I arrived at Canton with my Goods, and had enquired into the Market, it would be Time then to make Bargains. He seemed to be angry, that I was not directed by him, and told me, that he had taken much Pains to serve me, but that I slighted his Service.
I answered, that being a Stranger, I might be allowed to walk cautiously till I had informed myself of the current Prices of Goods, and the King’s Duties to be paid on them, but I should always have a great Regard to his Friendship.
He alleged that there was great Danger in carrying Goods between Maccao and Canton, because there were many Pirate Vessels in the Way, belonging to Quanfu, and that neither the Emperor nor the Vice-roy could be accountable for what Robberies might be committed by these Pirates. I replied, that I desired none to answer for such Losses, but would be very glad to meet with those Scar-crows, that I might have an Opportunity to make a Present of some of them to the Vice-roy.

When
of the East Indies. 225

When he found that none of his Arguments prevailed, he gave Orders to have my Goods put on board of small Jonks, and that I might put five Men of my own in each Boat for a Guard, and ordered one of his Merchants to accompany me in that which I went in, so that we were twenty five Europeans well armed, in our little Fleet. We took the inland Passage, which was the nearest, and failed by several Islands on both Sides of us. I kept in the headmost Jonk, and a good Officer in the Sternmost; and every Vessel we saw, they told us they were Pirates. I answered them, I wanted to be near them, but I could not persuade them to steer towards them.

After we had failed about 18 Leagues from Maccao, we came to a small City called Fanfan. The Teytock or Governor sent me a Compliment, and invited me ashore; but I excused myself, because the Wind was fair, and I was in Hast to be at Canton. About five Leagues above Fanfan, we entered into a Canal cut thro' a large Plain of Corn-fields, where we saw many large flat-bottom'd Boats built to breed Ducks, which they bring up for Sale, and to weed the Rice Grounds for Hire. They have three or four Stories over one another, where are the Ducks' Nefts. On the uppermost they sit and hatch Eggs. In the others they lodge all Night; and it is wonderful to see what Order and Oeconomy those Ducks keep; for some old Drakes (on the Winding of a Whistle) drive all the younger Novices into the Water, some going foremost to shew the Way, while others take Care that none loiter behind. There is a small Port made about a Foot high from the Water, and a Piece of Deal Board laid in it, whose other End lies in the Water on a gentle Descent, that serves them for a Bridge to go out, and come in at, when they are out about Service. The Master goes in a small Boat among the Rice Grounds, (for that Grain always grows among Water) and winding his Whistle, they all follow his Boat, and fall to their Work, to destroy Frogs and small Fish, with the Weeds that would hinder the Growth of the Corn. About Noon he winds his Whistle again, on which they all repair on Board of their own Vessel in good Order, some of the old Drakes bringing up the Rear, whilst others guard the Bridge, to take Care that no Stranger Ducks enter with their own Tribe; and when all are in, the old Guardians enter also and take their proper Posts.

Sometimes when two or three of those Boats are employed in one Field, and their Ducks mingle, and some young Novices, which do not understand their proper Master’s Whistle, chance to come in Company to another Boat, and would enter with the rest, the old Guardian Drakes soon spy them out, and beat them away from the Bridge, and on no Account will they suffer them to enter, more than an established Company will admit Interlopers to enter into their Trade.

Between
of the East Indies.

Between Fanzan and Canton, which is about twenty Leagues, there are many pretty Villages seated in the Plains, and the Peasants bring Fish, Fowl, Eggs, &c. Eatables to sell at very moderate Prices; and there are also some small high Towers built on high Grounds. The Reasons why they were built I could not be informed of by my Companions, but the Foot of their Covering is hung round with Pieces of Glass of several Sizes, so near, that, with a small Gale of Wind, they beat against one another, and make a pretty agreeable Noise.

When I arrived at Canton the Hapoa ordered me Lodgings for myself, my Men and Cargo in Haung or Inn belonging to one of his Merchants, where none but the French, who had then a Factory there, had Liberty to visit me; and when I went abroad, I had always some Servants belonging to the Haung to follow me at a Distance. I had staid about a Week, and found no Merchants came near me, which made me suspect, that there were some under-hand Dealings between the Hapoa and his Chaps, to my Prejudice, but I could not be informed what they designed. At length, one Night I had supp’d in the French Factory, and began to make my Complaint to Mr. Pitchbertie the Chief, of the strange Method I was treated in, that all Merchants shunned my Company, but for what Reason I knew not. He wink’d on me to follow him into his Bed-chamber, and, shutting the Door, he told me, that those three Mer-

Q₂ chants,
Chants, or rather Villains, Linqua, Anqua and Hemseaw had paid to the Hopoo 4000 Tayals for the Monopolization of my Cargo, and that no Merchant durst have any Commerce with me but they; but withal advised me to carry fair with them, and bargain with them on whatsoever Terms they would allow me.

Accordingly I had a Meeting with my Chaps, and, in my Discourse, I told them what the current Price was in Town for every Species of my Goods, and desired to know what they would give. They seemed surprized that I knew the Market, and would fain have known who had informed me of the Prices, but I desired to be excused on that Point, and to proceed to bid for themselves. My Cargo consisted in Cotton, Putchock or Radix dulcis, Rosamalla or liquid Storax, and Surat coarse Chints, which, according to the current Market, would have come to 14000 Tayals, but they would not come within 80 per Cent. of the Market-price.

I finding myself insulted, had a Mind to wait on the Vice-king, who resided at a Town called Sackow, about 20 Miles up the River, and, in order to go thither, I applied myself, by the Assistance of the French Linguist, to a Manderen called the Chumpin, for Licence to go to Sackow, and for his Letter of Recommendation to the Vice-roy. The News of my being with the Chumpin alarmed the Hopoa and my Merchants, who found no Way to impede my going but seizing any Linguist that should serve me either either in Canton or in my Journey; and accordingly, as I was going next Day to receive my Letters, and the French Linguist along with me, he had a small Iron-chain thrown over his Head, (a Custom that is among the Chinese when they arrest a Man) and he was dragged before the Hapoa, and was accused of assisting the French in running Goods on board of their Ships, for they had two lying at Whampoa, a Village about four Leagues below the City. The poor Man was kept in Prison as long as I stayd at Canton, and his Imprisonment so terrified others, that I could get none to serve me, but whom those Villains of Merchants recommended to me, and none durst serve me as Linguist.

I finding no Remedy, but Patience, to my disturbed Mind, was forced to comply with the unjust Impositions of the Hapoa, and so struck up a Bargain at the villainous Merchants Rates, but to receive Silver for my Goods; and after I had delivered them, I desired to settle Accounts, and to have my Money according to Contract. They made up a large Account of Charges, as 3000 Tayals for the Measurage of my Ship, 1000 for Liberty to buy Mafts, Cordage and Provisions, and 1000 Tayals for Presents to some Mandereens, and then they told me, for what remained I should have Goods at the current Price of the Market, tho' I was obliged to take them between 40 and 50 per Cent. higher. They made me pay 13 Tayals per Chest for Japon Copper, which I could have bought for 9 Tayals, and for China Copper I was charged ten and an half, which I bought at Maccao for seven, some Fir Masts that I cheapned for 60 Tayals they made me pay 250. It was the Middle of January 1704. before I had ended my Accounts with them, and I wanted Permission to go to Maccao, but that I could not have. They put me off, from Day to Day, about a Week. At length I visited the French Chief, and he frankly told me, that they would not let me go till I laid out 10000 Tayals of Silver with them, which they were informed I had on board of my Ship, and that my Merchants had told him so. I answered, that being bound to Amoy, I had Bills on Merchants there for near that Sum, which, with my Goods had been sufficient to have loaded my Ship there, for which Reason I had brought no Silver with me; but I found there was no End to their Villainy, and therefore I would go without Leave, if I had it not in three Days. He told me of many ill Consequences that would attend violent Courses; but I answered him, that I could no longer bear their Insults, and, if I had not my Permission in three Days, I would run a Muck, (which is a mad Custom among the Mallayas when they become desperate) and that I thought twenty five Men well armed, were sufficient to go off by Violence, when by fair Means they could not obtain it, that being the last Remedy, what Blood might be spilt in the Action, the Isooa and his Chaps would answer to the Emperor for, who, no Doubt, would enquire into the Cause.
of the East Indies.

I then bade farewell to all the Gentlemen of the French Factory, and left a Present of fifty Tavals for the Linguist that lay in Prison, and came Home to my Inn, and acquainted my Men with my Resolution, who unanimously approved of it, promising to live and die with me, and immediately we new cleaned our Arms, and new loaded them with Powder and Ball, which the Servants of the Haung taking Notice of, went and informed my Merchants what we had been doing, and that we look'd brisker than usual. The Merchants went to the French Chief, to see if he knew what Design we had, and he frankly told them all that I had told him. They immediately acquainted the Hapoa, who forthwith sent us a Permit for ourselves and Goods, and next Day I departed with twelve of my Crew, and some Goods, leaving the rest to follow with the rest of my Goods and Mafts.

In three Days we got to Maccao, and got all Things in Readiness to sail. There were two Portuguese lay in Tiepe-queberado waiting for me to accompany them for fear of a French Cruiser of 32 Guns, that had been at Manila. One Mr. Burno commanded her, who had made his Brags to the Spaniards, that he would bring all the English and Portuguese that were bound from China to the Streights of Malacca, into Manila, and make a Present of our Ships to the Spaniards, which frightened the Portuguese. One was a Ship of two and twenty Guns, and the other of sixteen.
However, some China Merchants contracted with me to carry them, and about 150 Tuns of Bricks and China Ware, to Pullo-condore, and were to pay me 1000 Tayals. Three Days after my Arrival came my Mafts, and as they were passing through the Harbour of Maccao, towards my Ship, they were stop'd by the Procuradore of the City. When Word was brought me, I sent my Purser, who spake good Portugueze, that if my Mafts were not delivered the same Day, I would take the Mafts out of their Ships that lay close by me, let the Consequence be what it would. So to avoid Trouble, my Mafts were cleared.

Two of my Merchants came to Maccao, under Pretence of clearing Accounts fairly. I invited them on board to dine with me, but they would not do me that Honour. They had heard of the Contract I had made with the China Merchants, to carry them and their Goods to Pullo-condore, which Contract they broke, for that strong Reason, that they had bought me of the Hapoa, and that Freight I had no Power to contract for, but they would furnish them with a Passage for them and their Goods, on the same Terms that I had agreed on, so I was obliged to lose my Freight.

I received what Goods they were pleased to bring me, but I found wanting 80 Chests of Japon Copper, and some Toothenague that I had weighed off at Canton, and put the Stocks Mark on them. I ask'd the Reason why they did not deliver those Goods, since, according to
of the East Indies.

to their own Account, there was a Balance due to me of 1800 Tayals. They told me that they would give no more, and the Balance they would keep, for fear they should lose on my imported Cargo. I bid them farewell, and promised to let them hear from me by the first Jonk of theirs that I met with. Next Day I sent them my Account, wherein I shewed that they and the Hapoa had cheated me of 12000 Tayals, and that I should not fail to make Reprials when I met with any Effects of theirs. Accordingly I did at Jobore, by the King's Permission, seize a Jonk of theirs, and secured their Books of Accounts, having two Portuguezze Natives of Maccao, who could speak and write Chinesè, and they found out what Merchandize belonged to those Villains, which I took on board of my Ship, among which was my 80 Chests of Copper, and 200 Peculs of Toothenague, with my own Mark on them. I drew out a fair Account, and sent them with a Letter of Advice, that I had received but one third Part of the Balance due to me, but upon their fair dealing with the English for the future, I would forgive the rest, but if they continued to act like Villains, I would prosecute my Resentment till I had recovered the last Penny of my Balance.

When I gave the King of Jobore an Account how they had used me in China, he wondered that I did not seize all the other Merchant Goods that were in the Jonk, and fell the Men for Slaves. So having ended this short Digresfion to Jobore,

I return back to Canton, to give an Account of my Observations on that fine City and Country.

C H A P. LI.

Some Observations and Remarks on the Province and City of Canton or Quantung, and of the Province of Fokien, with some Occurences that happened there.

C A N T O N was once a Kingdom of itself,
and was called Nangwee. It had been several Times conquered by the Emperors of China, and shak'd off the Yoke when they found Opportunity. At last, about three Centuries ago, it was subdued and made a Province of China. It borders on Quans to the Westward, Kiangsi to the Northward, Fokien to the Eastward, and the Ocean washes about 100 Leagues of its Coast to the Southward. The Country is as pleafant and profitable as any in the World.
The Ground yields two Crops a Year of Rice, Wheat, and Legumen. The People are ingenious, industrious, and civil, but are too numerours, which makes them tolerate a base and cruel Custom, that when a Man thinks he has

too many Daughters, he may destroy as many as he pleases of them, but they do not kill them outright, but serve them as Moses was in Egypt, by laying them on an Ark of Reeds, and letting them float on the Stream of a River, while they are Infants, and if any charitable Persons see them, and commiserate their Condition, they may take them out, and bring them up as their own, either for Marriage, Concubinage, or Slavery.

The abominable Sin of Sodomy is tolerated here, and all over China, and so is Buggery, which they use both with Beasts and Fowls, in so much that Europeans do not care to eat Duck, except what they bring up themselves, either from the Egg, or from small Ducklings. Whoredom is not punished in this Province, tho' very severely in some others.

The City of Canton stands upon the East side of a pretty large River called Taa. Its Walls are high towards the River, but towards the East the Ground is a little hilly, and the Walls are much lower. The Walls are about 10 Miles in Circumference, but some reckon them twelve, tho' there are large Spaces towards the East and South, kept for Gardens, and no Buildings but Summer-houses are there.

There is a large Building of Timber on the highest of the little Hills to the East, that stands close to the Wall, and it bears the Name of the King's Banqueting-house. It is four Story high, supported with great Fir-Masts, very finely ly painted with Vermilion, and japanned and gilded, as are all the Walls and Ceilings within it. From it a very fair Prospect of the City and Suburbs may be had. The Suburbs are so large, that some of them look like Cities. Half of the Number of Houses built in the Garden Plots, would fill them up, and all the other vacant Places in the Town.

There are many stately Buildings in the City of Canton, and above a Dozen of triumphal Arches in several Places of the City, and a great Number of Temples, well stock'd with Images. The Italian Church makes an handsome Figure, but the French Chapel is but mean on the outside.

There was a new Temple built by the King of Couchin-china, and dedicated to one of his Gods called Migleck, whose Image is placed in it, in a lazy Posture, sitting on a Carpet, with his Heels drawn almost to his Buttocks, clothed in a loose Robe, with his Breast and Belly bare, and leaning on a large Cushion or Bolster. He is very corpulent, and always laughing, which merry Aspect made me think that he might pass for Democritus of Abdera in Greece. There is another Image of a young God that died before he reach'd Twenty. He is plac'd sitting on a Chair, and as we approach near him, he nods his Head, by Means of some Springs that reach from the Pavement that we tread on: However, this young dead Fellow shews as great a Wonder in nodding to his Visti-

tants, as St. Charles of Milan does to his Devotees on the anniversary Day of his Canonization.
Canton was the last great City of China that the Tartars conquered, when they over-ran that Country about the Year 1650, and had it not been for the Cowardice and Treachery of the Governor, it might still have been an independent Province as well as Quansí. The Tartars lost above 100000 Men in reducing it, for they lay nine Months before it, and the City nowise distress’d for want of Provisions, having the River free for Communication with foreign Places;
but upon the Governor’s Surmise that it might be taken at last, and he and his Family sacrificed to the Resentment of a barbarous Enemy, he secretly articulated with the General of the Tartars, and perfidiously opened two Gates in one Night, and the Tartars entering Horse and Foot, soon made the City a Theatre of Horror and Misery.

I made a Calculation of the Number of Inhabitants within the Walls of Canton, by the Quantity of Rice daily expended in it; for they reckon 10000 Peculs is the daily Import of that Grain. It is also reckoned, that every Person consumes one Pecul in three Months, so that by that Calculation, there must be above 900000
People in it, and the Suburbs one Third of that Number; and there is no Day in the Year but shews 5000 Sail of trading Jonks, besides small Boats for other Services, lying before the City.

A little
A New Account

A little Way below the City, are two small Islands in the River; they have each a Castle built on them, and their Garrisons examine all Vessels and Boats that pass by them.

The Product of the Country, besides Com and Fruits, is Gold, Quicksilver, Copper, Steel, Iron, raw and wrought Silks, and besides the Silk Manufactory, there are lack'd or japann'd Ware; and at Sachow there are much Porcelline or China Ware made. We have the same Sort of Clay in several Parts of Great-Britain, that Porcelline is made off, but we want the warm Sun to prepare it.

They reckon that the Province of Canton or Quantung, pays yearly to the Emperor 120000 Peculs of Rice, and 20000 Peculs of Salt, out of which is served out to the Military (who are reckoned 80000 continually kept in the Emperor's Pay) 32000 Peculs of Rice, and 8000 Peculs of Salt. The rest is sold in Markets, at the common Price of five Macies a Pecul, which may amount to 446000 Teyals, which is appropriated towards the Payment of the military Expense, which may amount to 1000000 of Teyals yearly. The Customs on Merchandize and Toll-money amounts to prodigious great Sums, all which are gathered according to the Book of Rates, and sent to the Treasury of the Province, for the Use of the Empire, which makes the Emperor's Treasury always full.

Fokien is the next maritime Province to the Eastward of Canton, a very mountainous Country, and has about 90 Leagues of a Sea-coast. It reaches from the Island Lamoia, which lies directly under the Tropic of Cancer, and makes a very spacious secure Harbour for Shipping, between it and the Continent, but no Stranger frequents it, but to shelter them from Storms, because they admit of no Trade with Foreigners. About three Leagues without the great Lamoia, are some small Islands uninhabited. They are called the small Lamoias. There is a good clear Channel between those small Islands and the great one, of 15 Fathoms, on a good oazy Bottom.

The next Place of Safety for Shipping, is the Island of Amoy, where the English once had a Factory, and a good Trade, but now it is shut up from foreign Trade, by the Emperor’s Order. There are several small Islands lie off it, particularly the Island Tanghs, by the English called Chapel Island, and by some the Hole in the Wall, because there is a large Hole that passes quite through it, being undermined by the Sea below, but above all is fast without Fracture. It appears like the Arch of a large Bridge. About seven Leagues within it, is the Inner Harbour of Amoy, where Ships lie very secure in 12 Fathoms oazy Ground, within 200 Yards of the Shore. The Town is built close to the Sea, and some Houses in it at high Water, are washed by the Sea.

About the Year 1645. the Dutch had a great Mind of possessings Amoy, for the Conveniency of of its Situation and Trade. They came to Anchor with five large Ships in the outward Harbour, and landed about 300 Men. There were none to oppose them but a few Merchants and Mechanicks, who were soon frightned, but were so cunning, that before they left their Town, they left their Houses well stor'd with Samshew, a Kind of strong Arrack made of Rice, and with Hockshew, a Kind of strong Ale made of Wheat-malt, by Fermentation.

The Dutch fearing no Enemy, or Design against them, entered the Town, and some inconsiderable People being left in it, were civilly treated by the Dutch, and those poor Chinese shewed their new Masters the best Houses in the Town, where the Dutch took up their Lodgings, and according to Custom, caroused heartily, that before Midnight there were but few of them sober, and so went to sleep. The Chinese who were left in the Town, went and informed their Country-men what Posture the Dutch Affairs were in. They armed all they could get, with Swords, Lances, Bows, and Arrows, to the Number of 2000, and came on the Dutch, before they could put themselves in a Posture of Defence, and cut them all off, which Disaster, made the Dutch depart without making any farther Attempt.

This History is written in large China Characters, on the Face of a smooth Rock that faces the Entrance of the Harbour, and may be fairly seen as we pass out and in to the Harbour.
of the East Indies. 241

Amoy was famous in the Tartar War, between the Years 1648, and 1675, by the Diversion it gave to the Tartar Forces at Sea, by the Courage and Conduct of one Cocking a Native of Amoy, who gave them many Defeats, and could never be brought to comply with the Tartar Usurpation, tho' he had many advantageous Offers to submit, but his Death gave the Tartars a quiet Possession of the whole Province.

About the Year 1648, the Tartars took Chinchew, a very large City, reputed to be as large and rich as Canton. They did not stand out above nine Weeks, because they foresaw that Want of Provisions would compel them to a Surrender at last, upon worse Terms than they might have had, if the Siege had been but short, however, they capitulated to have their Lives and Fortunes secured, and submitted in all other Things to the Tartar Government and Customs.

This Province of Fokien, borders on Castel to the North-east, on Kiamfi on the North-west, on Quantung on the South-west, and the Sea washes the South-east Part of it. There are several Islands lie on its Coast, and Quamos is but two Leagues from Amoy, and is much larger, but not so well inhabited, because of the near Neighbourhood of Chinchew.

In Anno 1693. I was at Amoy, and then the Island was governed by a Chungcoun, or a General of 10000 Men. He was a Man of about 80 Years of Age, of a very agreeable Aspect.
He had done many singular Services to his Country, particularly in suppressing Pirates that mightily disturbed the Province, and governed with much Justice and Moderation, but next Year he died, and was succeeded by a Teytock, or a Deputy General of 5000. In Anno 1697. I went thither again, and found a new Temple built in Honour to the old Chungcoun, and his Image placed in it, as much like his Person while alive, as ever I saw any Thing represented in my Life, with every Lineament and Feature in his Face, and I saw many Votaries worship his Image. It seems the Chinese are speedier in their canonizing than the Romans are.

The Teytock has a Deputy called the Chungnea by Title, and another Officer called the Chungpin, who superintends the Affairs of the Sea and Rivers. In those three Persons Hands is the Management of the Affairs of the Island, except the Customs on Goods imported and exported, and these are in the Hands of the Hapoa, who farms those Customs of the Court at Peking, but the other three are put in by the Chungtock, who keeps his Court at Hocksow, a large City about 200 Miles North east of Amoy.

There are no beautiful Buildings in or about Amoy, but some Temples, in one of which I saw Hell painted in Fresco, on a Wall according to Des Cartes's System of Demonology, the Demons being painted in the same Shapes and Figures as are in the Cuts of Des Cartes's Book, their Methods of tormenting the Damned, very near the Notions delivered by Christian Doctors, and Purgatory better represented according to the Doctrine of the Church of Rome, than I saw it in a Church in the City of Antwerp.

There are some Curiosities in Amoy. One is a large Stone that weighs above forty Tuns, that is set so dextrously on a Rock, in such an Equilibrium, that a Youth of twelve Years old can easily make it move, but an hundred Men can make it move in no greater Motion, than that single Youth can. I saw it tried with a Pair of Hand-screws, but to no Purpose.

Another Rarity is of five large Stones, as big, or bigger than the last mentioned, placed in an Hallow at the Foot of a Mountain (whether by Nature or Art I cannot tell) they are each about thirty Foot long, and twelve or fourteen Diameter. They lean their Heads against one another, and form an Alcove at their Feet, wherein is placed a Table, and Benches around it, of Stone, and there is a pretty clear Rivulet runs close by the Table. We Europeans frequented that Table on Sundays, for we often dined there.

There is a fine large Citadel at the Backside of the Town, with good high thick Stone-walls, and two Gates that face one another, and in the Middle stands the Tryock's Palace. The Front of it is built of Wood, and the Back and Sides of Stone, as most Mandarinens Houses are in this Province, as well as the Temples. There are Sentinels and Guards always in the Gate-ways, but I saw none any where else, except when he gave publick Audience to Strangers, then he had about fifty Men attending at the Palace.

There are about fifty Christians in Amoy, and they have a Chapel served by French Missionaries, but the Parishioners are of the Scum of the People, as they are of Christianity.

I heard a pleasant and true Story about the famous Chungbee, who died in Anno 1723, and the Countock of Fokien, who was alive in Anno 1700. which I had from Mr. le Blanc, a French Missionary, as well as from some eminent China Merchants, and it happened about the Year 1690. the Chungtock being then Chungnae, or Deputy-governor of the Island of Quamoy, that Island having about 30,000 Inhabitants, not reckoning Women and Children, they were all poor, and had their Sustenance by their hard Labour, in manuring the Ground, and Fishing.

A great Part of the Island being low and marshy, by the Overflowing of Spring-tides, made Travelling very inconvenient. The Chungtock being a Man of Pleasure, could not bear living at Home in rainy Weather or Spring-tides, and in going to hunt, he was obliged to go a great Way about, before he could reach the Places where the Game was.

One Day in Council he proposed to take one Half of the miserable Inhabitants from their daily Labour, to bring Stones from some neighbouring Mountains, to build a Bridge or Cauley over the Morals, which was above three Leagues long,
of the East Indies. 245

Long, and being the Emperor's Work, it must be done gratis.

The Chungnae opposed it, laying down the Difficulty, if not the Impossibility for those poor People to carry on such a Work, which could not be finished in less than three Years. He laid before the Council, that the Inhabitants could hardly live by their Labour, when every one of them were employed, and how could they subsist on the Labour of one Half; that he could foresee the Ruin of the Whole by taking off the Half from their manuring the Land, and Fishing. However, it was put to the Vote, and the Chungcoun carried it, on which the Chungnae laid down his Commission, and protested that he would not be accessory to the Destruction of so many Innocents, whom he foresaw would be wrought and starv'd to Death, and so bade the Chungcoun, and the rest of the Council, adieu.

The Chungnae having spent most of his Time in the Study of Letters and Philosophy, had made a good Progress in both, and having a small Fortune of ten or twelve thousand Tayals in Money, took a Journey to Peking, to try if he could get into some convenient Post in the Government there, but found that none was to be got, without Friends and Money, so that he took a Resolution to lead a private Life on the Interest of his Money, and to follow his Studies.

And hiring a Chamber in a By-lane of the City, he fell to writing a Tract of moral Phi-

Hofophy, being well qualified in writing a good Hand, and a good Style. He began to write on the Imbecility of human Nature, when our Passions were more followed than Reason, of the dismal Consequences of Tyranny when supported by Power, and several other such useful and commendable Topicks; and having carried his Work pretty well forward, one Morning he went to a Neighbour's House to drink Tea, and forgot to shut his Chamber-Door or Windows, which being on the lower Story of the House, and facing the Lane, any Body that past by could see what was in the Room.

The Emperor had gone abroad that Morning incognito, to hear what News past current in the City, and accidentally came into that Lane, while the Gentleman was at his Tea, and looking in at the Window, saw a Book lying open on the Table, and the Writing seem'd to be extraordinary fine, which made him have the Curiosity to enter at the Door, and to fit reading till the Owner should come in, that he might know both the Subject written on, and the Author.

It is the Custom in China for a Stranger, to read on any Book that he sees lying on a Table. If it be a Merchant's Book of Accounts, they take that Liberty; and the Emperor having read above half an Hour, was mightily pleased with the fine Writing, and ingenious Reflections made on each Subject by the Author. At last the Gentleman came in, and was surprized to find find another in his Chamber, but the Emperor address'd him in so obliging Terms for his intruding into his Chamber without Leave, led by the strong Chains of Curiosity, and the Opportunity that offered to give him Satisfaction, by the Door being accidentally left open, that the Chungnae could take nothing ill that was done.

The Emperor asked him of what Country he was, and what had brought him to Peking, and the Chungnae satisfied him that he was a Native of Fokien, and recounted the History of his Affairs in Quamoy. The Emperor was much taken with his Story, and the modest Way he express'd himself in it, and told him that he found his Actions to quadrate with his Doctrine. Then he ask'd the Chungnae if he had an Employment, or if he had a Mind to accept of one. He answer'd, that he had been in Peking above a Year, and could observe, that Merit was but a weak Recommendation to Preferment, and he did not design to buy it.

The Emperor told him, that he was nearly related to a great Mandareen at Court, and that if he would accept of a Post, he would use his Endeavours to procure him one, for he found him recommended by two good Qualifications, Ingenuity and Honestly. The Chungnae thank'd him in very obliging Terms, and told the Emperor, that he was willing to accept of a Post, providing it was not too high, because his Fortune was too low to support the necessary Ex pense, nor too low, lest it should make him contempcontemptible. The Emperor assured him, that his Kinsman had several Posts to dispose of, and that he might depend on one suitable to his Mind, and giving the Chungnae his Fan, ordered him to call at a Gate of the Palace, called the Elephant Gate, and deliver that Fan to the Captain of the Guard, and tell him, that you want to speak to a Mandareen of such a Name (as the Emperor borrowed for that Time) and the Captain would conduct him to his Apartment; but withal he begg'd the Use of his Books for a few Days, and as he was Man of Honour, he would return it.

The Chungnae complimented him with the Use of the Book, making a modest Apology for its Incorrectness, and so they parted for a short Time.

The Emperor sent for some Coleas, Mandareens of the first Order, and gave them a pleasant Account of his Morning's Adventure, and shewed them the Book, which they were highly pleased with; and the Emperor told them, that he had promised the Author an handsome Post, and desired to know if any were vacant. One Mandareen told his Majesty, that he had received private Advices that Morning, that the Chungtock of Fokien was dead, and that there would be certain Information next Day at Court, if it was so or not, and that if it was true, his Majesty might bestow that Post on him, he being a Native of that Country, and

and consequently knew the Manners and Customs of his own Country better than a Stranger could. His Majesty approved of his Advice.

And next Morning, according to Appointment, the Chungnae went to the Elephant Gate, and enquired for the Emperor by the borrowed Name, and on sight of the Fan, was conducted by the Captain of the Guard to an Apartment in the grand Palace, and was ordered to stay till the Captain came back to him. When the Emperor knew of his being in the Palace, he ordered a Council of Mandareens to be summoned forthwith, and when they were convened, and himself seated on the Throne, the Chungnae was sent for, and he paying the usual Compliment of falling on his Knees, and bowing his Head three Times to the Ground, the third Time to continue in that Posture till he was ordered to rise, the Emperor ordered him immediately to stand up. The Chungnae soon knew who had been his Guest the Day before, and would have begg'd Pardon for the Freedom of Speech he had used to the Emperor in Disguise; but the Emperor prevented him by beginning an allegorical Discourse, recounting the Chungnae's Adventure at Quamoy, as if it had happened in a foreign Country, and when he had made an End, he ask'd the Opinion of the Assembly, what both the Chungcoun and Chungnae deserved. They unanimously condemned the Chungcoun, and commended the Chungnae, and were of Opinion, Opinion, that the Chungnae deserved a better Post than he had before.

The Emperor told them, that this was the Case of the Person before them, and that the Government of Fokien, was vacant by the Death of the Chuntock, which Advices he had received that Morning, and that he had Thoughts of bestowing that Place on him before them, which they all approved of, on which he ordered Robes of the second Order to be brought, and invested him in the Office and Dignity, and ordered 100000 Tayals to be paid to him, in order to equip him for his Journey, and withal told him, that he expected he would govern his Province according to the Doctrine that he preached to others.

Accordingly the new Chuntock took his Journey to Hockshew, where on his Arrival, all the Mandareens of Note in the Province came to compliment him, and none must wait on him, till first introduced by a Present, which is punctually set down in a Book kept for that Purpose.

And among the Crowd of Visitors came his old Friend the Chungcoun of Quamoy. After the common Compliment of Genuflexion and Prostration was done, he ordered him to stand up, and asking him if he did not remember him, he received a negative Answer. He ask'd him how his Government of Quamoy thriv'd, and how far the Bridge was brought forward. The Chungcoun gave him a sad Account of the State
State of his Island, which he allledged, was occasioned by a raging Plague, that had swept off above the half of the People, and the Bridge was not carried one quarter of the Way forward.

Then the Chungtock made himself known to him, and upbraided him with his Cruelty, and the Chungcoun having little to say in his own Defence, fell at his Feet and implored Mercy. The Chungtock bid him rise, and told him, that for the sake of his Family, he would save his Life, which he had justly forfeited, but withal banished him to a Palace on the Side of an Hill on the Island of Quamoy, where he should be allowed 2000 Tayals yearly, for the Subsistence of his Wives and Children, but he was never to meddle in Government again, and so dismiss'd him, and sent one along with him to take Possession of his Government, with Orders to rectify all Things that had been amiss in his Government, and to invite People to the manuring of the Ground and catching of Fish, on better Terms than had been before. Those just and generous Actions of the Emperor and Chungtock were worthily admired by all who loved Justice and Generosity; and I have borne no small Veneration for both their Persons ever since.

I must now give an Account of the Chungtock's Justice and Generosity in an Affair relating to some shipwreck'd English at Amoy.
C H A P. LII.
Is a Continuation of the History of the Chungtock of Fokien, in relation to some Occurrences that happened among the English at Amoy in Anno 1700.

Being then bound to Amoy in a Ship from Surat, employed by Sir Nicholas Waite the new East-India Company’s President there, and Commodore Littleton being then at Surat with a Squadron of four Men of War, by some considerable Reasons was persuaded by Sir Nicholas, to let one of his Squadron go as far as Amoy, to look after the English Pirates, that then infested the Streights of Malacca.

The Harwich was the Ship pitch’d on, a 50 Gun Ship, commanded by Captain Cock, and we failed in Company as far as Atcheen, and there we were parted by a Storm. He called at Atcheen, but I made what haste I could for the Port of Malacca. I staid there above a Fortnight for him, and when he had taken in such Provisions as he wanted, and that I had paid for them, we failed from Malacca, in order to proceed for Amoy.

When we arrived there, we found three European Ships, and a Country Ship from Surat, employed by Sir John Gayer, President for the old East-India Company. The Super-Cargoes of those Ships, on Sight of a Man of War, sent a Compliment of 500 Tayals to the Teytok, to dissuade him from giving the Harwich Permission to come into the Harbour, for fear of losing a Feather that they had put in their own Caps, of wearing a Pendent at the Topmast Heads; so that when I went to pay my Compliment to the Teytok, and give him an Account of our Cargo, and to desire Liberty for the Man of War, and my own Ship to come into the Harbour; he told me, that my own Ship was welcome, but he could not, with Safety, admit of the King's Ship into the Harbour, but that he might be supplied with what he wanted, in the Road.

I told him, that the King's Ship's Bottom wanted Repair, and that if he would not permit her to come into the Harbour, both she and I must go to Canton, and if the Captain of the Man of War resented the ill Usage he was like to meet with at Amoy, those ought to answer who had given the Teytok that ill Advice, and so I took leave very ill satisfied.

The Linguist and I had been acquainted some Years, and on our Way from the Citadel, I told him, that if the Teytok continued his Resolution of denying our King's Ship the same Civilities, that he granted to Merchant Ships of our Nation, I could not answer for the ill Consequences that might attend that Affront; and if she had not Permission in three Days to come in,
in, that on the fourth we would proceed for Canton.

He then very frankly told me, that it was none of the Teytock's Fault, but the English Captains and Supercargoes, who had sent him with a Message to the Teytock, to acquaint him, that if the Man of War was permitted to come into the Harbour, their Men would be rude to the Merchants, and would be tied up to no Rules or Laws which the Merchant Ships observed; that the Women would be debauched, and many other aggravating Crimes, they alleged, the Man of War's Men would commit, and withal had sent the Teytock a Present of 500 Tayals, to keep her out of the Harbour.

I carried the Linguist into a Merchant's House that was my Acquaintance, to consult with that Merchant, about removing that Remora, that stop'd the Man of War from entering into the Harbour, which could be done no other Way, than by my being bound for the good Behaviour of the People belonging to the Man of War, and to give a Present superior to theirs, which I consented to.

Then we consulted how the Captain of the King's Ship, should be received by the Teytock, when he should make his Visit; and we agreed, that all the Captains and Supercargoes should be called to the Teytock's, in Company with Captain Coke, and that he should enter before us, and have an high Chair placed a little before the Teytock's Chair, on the left Hand, which among them, them, is the Place of Honour, and we Captains and Supercargoes to be set on felt Cushions on the Floor, and on the right Side of the Teytok's Chair, which was raised on a Platform of Decks, with three Steps of Ascent.

We had no sooner done with our Consultation, than I dispatch'd my Friend Shabban, for that was the Merchant's Name, with the Linguist, to acquaint the Teytok with what we had resolved on, and he approved of all, and two Days after sent a Summons for the Captains and Supercargoes to accompany Captain Cock; and all obeyed but one, who pretended Indisposition; however he sent his second Supercargo to supply his Place.

As soon as we were in the Citadel, we were conducted to the Teytok's Palace, and entered the Chamber of Audience, and were seated according to the Method before agreed on. The Teytok being seated before, he made a Speech pretty long, wherein he told how he had been informed of the loose Behaviour of Men of War's Men, which had armed him with Caution, but that he knew of a more convenient Place on an Island within three Leagues of the Town, for the Man of War to haul ashore, if we would be ruled by his Advice. The Captain made a Bow, and acceded to that Motion.

He then wanted to know who would be Surety for the Captain and Men belonging to the Man of War, that they should observe the Laws and Customs of the Place, without being More...

Leftation to the Natives. I found none cared to enter on so hazardous an Affair, so I stood up, and proffered myself, Ship and Cargo for Security. The rest not expecting that the Captain could have found such Security, one who made a good Figure among us, told me, I was too forward in my Proffer. I answered him, that I only engaged what I had the Command of, but meddled with no Body’s Affairs else.

The Teytuck seemed well satisfied, and gave us a very handsome Entertainment, and then dismiss’d us. The Man of War went to the Island, and landed some of her greatest Guns, but found so much Difficulty in carrying Things ashore, that we got an Order from the Teytuck to bring her into the Harbour, and accordingly she came in.

There is an Island opposite to the Town of Amoy, called Cullemfloe, about half a Mile distant, and it has two convenient Places to lay Ships on, in order to clean their Bottoms, or repair them, and there are some Rocks that lie between those Places, that appear dry at low Water. In one of those Bays the Harwich was haled ashore, and cleaned, and her Sheathing being much worm-eaten, it was repaired with a great deal of new Sheathing, all which Charges I had Orders from my Employers to disburse on their Account, in Expectation that carrying back 200 Tuns of China Goods would sufficiently reimburse them; but Captain Cock being a young Man, not very well vers’d in the Affairs of of Shipping, took Advice of some other Captains of better Knowledge, and daily carousing with them on board of his Ship, chanced that Day that his Ship haled off; to be a little inebriated, as well as his Tutors. I was none of the Cabal, and so staid in my Factory. The Tide of Ebb was made before they began to remove the Ship from the Bay that she had been fitted in, and in haling off, the Tide set her upon the Rocks above-mentioned, and on them she was lost.

As soon as the Ship sat fast on the Rocks, his Counsellors left him to think on his Misfortune. Next Morning all the Captains and Super-cargoes went over to the Island (where he and all his Men were lamenting their Condition) to con- dole his Misfortune, but not one had the Cha- rity to invite him to a Dinner. About Ten I went over to visit him, and found him weeping. I dissuaded him from grieving at what could not be remedied, and invited him to dine with me, if he was not pre-engaged. He then wept very bitterly, and told me, that not one of all his Companions that had been visiting him, had the good Manners to give him an Invitation, and that I, who had just Cause to be angry with him for his Foily and Contempt of my Counsel, had shewed him more Humanity than those who had sworn eternal Friendship to him.

I carried him and his two Lieutenants along with me to Dinner, and allowed them a Cham- ber in my Factory to lodge in, and to shew a good good Example to the rest of the Captains, I took forty of the poor Seamen on board of my Ship, and gave them Provisions. They were in all One hundred and eighty two Men and Boys in the Crew, and there being five Ships, I thought I had taken a large Quota for my Share, but not one of the rest would follow my Example, so the Remainder of the Crew were in Distreß for Want of Food and Raiment. I went over one Morning to see what Condition the poor Men were in, who had made Tents of the Ship's Sails, and I saw one newly dead for Hunger and Cold.

I used all my Rhetoric amongst my Brethren the Captains and Supercargoes, to take Pity on the poor ship-wreck'd Men, but they were all deaf to my Petitions, which obliged me to allow them a Pound Weight of Rice per Day each Man: And to cloath them, I bought three thousand Yards of blue Cotton Cloth, about a Crown per Yard Value, and bought them Needles and Thread, and gave them about 1000 lb. Weight of Cotton for quilting, and so every Man was his own Taylor.

But finding my Charges would be very great in maintaining such a Number of Men, and in carrying them, Passengers would take up too much Room in my Ship, which I could much better employ in carrying China Goods to Surat, I went to my old Friend Sheroban, with my Confident the Linguist, and held a Consultation how we might compel my Brethren to be humane, and force them take their Quota's of the poor distress'd Men, and we fell on the Project to write to the noble and just Chungtock at Hock-sew before-mentioned, to get an Order from him, that no Ship should have Liberty to lade their Goods aboard, that did not first take their Quota of the ship-wreck'd Men. We went to the Teytok, and acquainted him with our Design, who much approved of the Project, and he seemed surprized, that any of those Ships durst go into our King's Dominions, who had denied to assist, not only his Subjects, but immediate Servants. He was very humane, and sent the poor Seamen Presents of Pork and Hock-sew, (a strong fermented Liquor like our strong Ale) for me distribute among them, and those Presents he frequently sent.

I provided a Present to accompany my Letter to the Chungtock, to the Value of Forty Pounds Sterl. and got the best Scribe in the Place to write my Letter, laying down the Misery the poor Men were in, and how easily and justly they might be reliev'd by such an Order.

I sent my Letter and Present by an Express, who returned in sixteen Days with a satisfactory Answer, and an Order to the Hapoa, to suffer no Goods to be shipp'd off without consulting me. The Hapoa came to my Factory, and congratulated me on the Honour that the Chungtock had done me, and promised to obey his Orders in relation to shipping Goods off.
A Gentleman who was Supercargo of the Ship Dorrel, bound directly from Amoy to England, was the first that was denied a Permit to ship Goods off. He had sent for the Ship's Boat to carry off some Chests of Silk, but the Waiters stopp'd them from putting them into the Boat, on which the Linguist was sent for to know the Reason; and he told the Supercargo, that the Hapoo had received Orders to let no Goods be shipp'd off without consulting me first about taking a Quota of the Man of War's Men; on which my Antagonist held a Council, and resolved to continue obstinate, and that Supercargo before-mentioned came early next Morning to my House. When my Servants informed me that he was in the Court, I went and invited him in. I gues'd his Errand by his Countenance, and ask'd him to sit down, but he refused. I ask'd him if he would drink any Coffee or Tea, but he would not. He then, in a Fret, ask'd me if I was Governor of his Affairs. I answered no, nor did I know how he could ask me such a simple Question. He sware that he found I was, and that if I were in another Place than Amoy, I durst not act as I had done, and sware again, that not one Man of them should be entertained on board the Dorrel. I told him, that I durst do any Thing that was honest and just, and was always ready to defend what I had so done; but as to his taking his Quota of the ship-wreck'd Men, he must comply with it, if he had a Mind to save his Passage to England that Season. He
He still continued cursing himself if he took any of them, and went away in a very great Huff, which I little regarded.

It was, and, I believe, is still the Custom on board the English Company's Ships, for the Captain to give a Remonstrance, and a Protest thirty Days before the Expiration of the Term for their Departure, to the Supercargo or Factor for the Company, according as it is stipulated by Charter-Party. Accordingly the Captain of the Dorrel gave in his Protest about that Time, to the aforesaid Supercargo, which aggravated his Chagrin, and he told the Captain, who was my Friend, what Troubles I had brought him and the rest into. The Captain advised him to consider what Time might be spent in Contention, and that I, having the Government on my Side, would certainly carry my Point in spite of all the Opposition they could make, and that it would be much better to comply in Time than to stand out, and be forced to comply at last.

He told the Captain that he might do as he pleased, but he was resolved to give him no Orders on that Head. The Captain bade him look what was agreed on in Charter-Party, where they found, that the Commander of a Company's Ship was to take no Passengers on board of his Ship, on Penalty of 100 l. for each Passenger, without a written Order from the Company's Agent where he should happen to be; but where no Agent was, he was then at his Liberty.
After a little Deliberation, he bade the Captain speak to me of the Hardships they would be under in carrying such a Number of Passengers so long a Voyage, and to try me, whether I would favour them in the Number of the Quota, that they must be obliged to carry: And the Captain came to discourse me about it, and I agreed, that Captain Cock, his Lieutenants, and seventeen more should have their Passage on board his Ship to England, and that those seventeen should be such as Captain Cock should choose; that the Captain and his two Lieutenants should have Captain Hide's Table, they paying him 20l. each for that Favour, all which the Captain consented to, and the Supercargo and I became Friends again.

The other Sticklers soon complied, and took thirty-six each for their Quota, and the rest I provided for, and they were as forward to work, and obey my Orders, as my own Seamen; tho' they were not so on board of the other Surat Ship, where they were like to mutiny for Want of Victuals, even before they went to Sea, for the Captain of that Ship pretended that he would allow them no Victuals before they went to Sea, and the poor indigent Fellows failed twenty-four Hours on that Pretext. At last Hunger compelled them to make their Complaint to me, and I furnished them with a Supper, and bade them to be easy till next Noon, and if there was no Provision made for them, when the Ship's Company's Dinner was ready, to seize on it

it for their own Use, and let the others stay till more was dreft, which Advice they took to be very wholesome, and punctually followed it.

The Captain complained to me of the Passengers Rudeness. I told him, that they only followed my Advice, for I could not see what Pleasure he could take in starving poor Men, since what they did eat was nothing out of his Pocket, for I knew the Charges would be allowed in his Accounts with his Employers, and advised him to treat them civilly at Sea, since they being superior in Numbers to his Ship's Company, might make them use Force to obtain what they ought to have by fair Means: Nor was I out in my Conjecture, for at Sea he put them to so small an Allowance, that they mutinied, and threatened to carry him and the Ship to Madagascar, and deliver him to the Pirates.

About Christmas I broke up House-keeping, and paid House-Rent for Captain Cock and his Officers, to remain in it a Month after me, and knowing the Scarcity of Money among him and his Family, I gave him a Bag with 1000 Spanish Dollars for his Subsistence on his Voyage to Europe, on Condition, that when he was in a Capacity to pay me, he would not forget to repay me. I gave his first Lieutenant 100, and the second Lieutenant 50 of the same Pieces, but without Provision of Repayment.

imprecatmg Vengeance to pursue him if he did not thankfully repay with good Interest, when he was able. I also wrote to the Lords Commissioners of the Royal Navy, about the Charges I had been at on Account of the Loss of his Majesty's Ship in China, and petitioned that I might be re-imbursed, and made Mr. Matthew Cock, a Brother of the Captain's, my Attorney, to solicit for, and receive what their Lordships would please to allow me.

I received a Letter from the Captain, then at Cape Bona Esperance, in his Way home, wherein he gave me an Account of their hard Usage aboard of the Ship, and of the Death of his second Lieutenant, and that was all I had from him in Twenty-three Years. When I arrived in England, I did myself the Honour to write to him from London to Leatherhead, to try if I could furnish up his short Memory with the Remembrance of what had past between us in China, but he protested that he had quite forgot it. I answered him, that his first Lieutenant, Captain Falconar, still remembred it very well, and had made a grateful Acknowledgment of the small Favour he received above twenty Years before. My Affairs calling me to Holland, in Anno 1724, he called for me at London, when he knew I was in Holland, and before I returned to England, he had paid his great Debt to Nature, without taking Notice of the small one due to me.
C H A P. LIII.

A Continuation of Observations on the Gods, Clergy, and Devotion of the Chinese.

And now I have followed him to his Grave. I'll return back to Amoy, and observe some of their Customs, religious, civil and criminal. Their Temples are built all after one Form, but, as in other Countries, very different in Beauty and Magnitude. Their Josses or Demi-gods are, some of human Shape, some of monstrous Figures, but in the Province of Fokien, they are more devoted to the Worship of Goddesses than Gods. Quanbiem has the most Votaries. She is placed in State, sitting on a Cushion with rich Robes, and her little Son standing before her, with a charged Trident in his Right Hand, ready to throw at Offenders of the Laws of Humanity and Nature, and also at those who make no Free-will-offerings to his Mother. The Chinese who have seen the Roman Catholic Churches and Worship, say that she is the Chinese Virgin Mary.

There is another Goddess called Matsoa, who swimm'd from a far Country, through many Seas, and came in one Night to China, and took up her Residence there. She sits on a Platform, with a Cushion laid on it, and her Head is covered with blue Wool instead of Hair.
She is the Protectress of Navigation, for which Reason none go a Voyage but they first make a Sacrifice of boiled Hogs Heads, and Bread baked in the Steam of boiling Water. It is set before the Image when reeking-hot, and kept before her till it is cold, she feeding on the Smoke, and the Devotees on the Substance, when it is cold.
On their Return from a Voyage, they compliment her with a Play, either acted on board of the Ship, or before one of her Temples.

They have another Goddess in form of a Virgin, called Luyoun, who has many Votaries, but is mostly worship'd in the Provinces of Peking and Nanking, but being a Virgin, she has many Lovers all over China.

The God Fe has an human Shape, except his Head, which has the Figure of an Eagle's.
Gan has a broad Face, and a prodigious great Belly. Fo is a very majestick God, and is always placed with a great Number of little Gods to attend him. Miniso in Fokien, I take to be the God Miglett at Canton, being alike in Shape and Countenance. He is called the God of Pleasure. Puffa is set cross-legged on a Cushion, bespangled with Flowers and Stars, and she has eight or nine Arms and Hands on each Side, and two before that she holds in a praying Posture.
In every one of her Hands (except the two that are dedicated to Prayer) she bears some Thing emblematical, as an Ax, a Sword, a Flower, &c.
The great God that made the Heavens and Earth, they
they bestow an human Shape on him, like a young Man in Strength and Vigour, quite opposite to the Church of Rome, who make his Picture like Salvadore Winter, old, cold, and hoary. I have seen many more whose Names I have forgot, some with human Bodies, and Dragons, Lions, Tigers, and Dogs Heads; and one I saw like Stour Yonker in Finland, with a Man's Body and Cloaths, and with Eagle's Feet, and Talons in the stead of Hands.

The Priesthood are in no great Esteem among the People, being generally of low Extract. They have many different Orders among them, which are distinguished by Badges, Colour of Habit, or Fashions of their Caps. They are all obliged to Celibacy while they continue in Orders, and that is no longer than they please. But while they continue in Orders, and should, or chance to be convicted of Fornication, they must expiate the Crime with their Lives, except their high Priest, who is called Cliam, and he always keeps near the Emperor's Person, and is in very great Repute, and he has Liberty to marry, because the High Priesthood must always continue in one Family, as Aaron's did for a long while, but not half so long as it has been in this Family, who has kept up the Custom above 1000 Years successively, without Intrusion of Interlopers.

There are no Persons of Figure or Fortune that care to have their Children consecrated to serve at the Altar, so that the Priests who can have have no Issue of their own, are obliged to buy Novices of such mean Persons as Necessity forces to sell their Children; and their Study being in the large Legends of their Divinity, and not having the Benefit of Conversation with Men of Letters or Polity, they are generally ignorant of the Affairs of the World, which makes them contemptible among so polite a People as the ingenious and conversible Chinese Laity are.

Confucius, or, as the Chinese call him, Confuc, was the Prince of their Philosophers. He was near contemporary with Artaxerxes, Nebuchad, and Maodchi, about 450 Years before our Saviour Jesus Christ. He both taught and practised Moral Philosophy to Perfection, and acquired so great a Veneration among his Countrymen, that his Sentences are taken for Postulata to this Day, not one since having offered to contradict any Thing that he has left behind in Writing. They have another Doctor of Philosophy called Taofio, who was almost as ancient as Confucius, and wrote many excellent Tracts of a virtuous Life, and the Methods to attain to it, but his Character is inferior to Confucius’s.

Their Preachers take some Apophtegm out of those great Mens Writings, for Texts to comment and expatiate on. They live very abstemiously, and rise early before Day to pray. Every Temple has a Cloister or Convent annexed to it, and has a certain Stipend allowed by the Emperor to support the Priests and Novices, but they get much more by letting of Lodgings to Travellers,
of the East Indies.

Wellers, who generally lodge in their Cells, than the Emperor's Allowance. Besides, they have a genteel Way of begging from Strangers, by bringing Tea and Sweet-meats to regale them.

The Chinese don't bury in or near their Temples, but in the Fields, and when Bouzi or Priest tells a rich dying Person, that such a Piece of Ground is holy, and that the infernal Spirits have no Power to haunt such Ground, they'll persuade the poor Man that is distemper'd both in Body and Mind, to buy it at any Rate to be buried in, and sometimes they will pay a thousand Tayals for ten Yards square of such holy Ground.

The Fishers and Carriers by Water, who are born and bred in their Boats, and on the Water, must also be buried in it, unless they have Money enough to purchase a Burying-place afloat.

They have many Sects among them, but all agree in the Transanimation of Souls, yet not one Sect persecutes another, but allow free Liberty to believe what they think best, and it is very natural for Men to embrace what they think is best, whether it is the best or not.

The Christian Missionaries have converted many by the Indulgence of several Emperors, particularly of Chungtee, and those Apostles indulge their Proselytes in many Things opposite to the System and Canons of the Western Christianity, as Polygamy, Concubinage, and the Invocation and Adoration of Pagan Saints, as well as

as Christian, in their Apotheosis, which has caused no small Disturbance at Rome.

When a Mandareen of any Consideration, passes through a Street or High-way, he goes in great State, either on Horse-back, or in close or open Chairs, carried by Men, and he has Flags carried before him, and large Peels lacquered, and painted black or red, with large golden Characters writ on them, that gives the Designation of his Titles and Dignity. The foremost of his Retinue in their particular Habit, with an high crown'd Hat in Form of a close Stool-pan, and two long Feathers of a Pheasant's Tale, standing upright in it, and they make an hideous Noise as they go along, crying incessantly Ho--ot, to warn every one to off the Streets or High-way, till he pass by. Next to them are Fellows with small Chains in their Hands, ready to throw over any Body's Head, and catch them by the Neck, that do not obey the Call of the foremost Men. And next them are Executioners with their Ensigns of Cruelty, as a great Sword, an Ax, and some large Pieces of Wood, painted black, and trailing on the Ground as they pass along, to bambow the Delinquent, which is by throwing them on their Faces, and giving their Buttocks as many Blows with those Battons as his Worship the Mandareen shall order, and they have Caps like Sugar-loaves. I knew an English Gentleman now alive in England, that underwent the Chastisement of the Bambow.
Yet I heard of a comical Passage that happen'd at Amoy, between a Mandareen and an English sailor. The Mandareen going in his Chair, with his usual Retinue, met a Sailor coming with a Keg of Arrack under his Arm. Everybody went off the Street but the jolly Sailor, who had been tasting his Arrack, he was so mannerly as to walk aside, and give the Mandareen the Middle of the Street, but one of the Retinue gave the Sailor a Box on the Ear, and had almost shov'd him down Keg and all. The sailor d---n'd him for a Son of Whore, and ask'd what he meant by it, and at the same time gave the Aggressor a Box on the Ear in Return. The poor Seaman was soon overpowered by the Retinue, but the Mandareen ordered to do him no Harm, till he had sent for the English Linguist, who forthwith came. The Mandareen told the Linguist what had happened, and bid him ask the Sailor why he gave him that Affront. The Sailor swear that the Mandareen had affronted him, in allowing his Servants to beat him, while he walking down the Street civilly, with his Keg of Sambrow under his Arm; and swar by G---d that he would box the Mandareen, or every one of his Gang, for a Spanish Dollar, and with that put his Hand in his Pocket and pull'd a Dollar out.

The Mandareen ordered the Linguist to tell him verbatim what the Sailor said, and why he pull'd his Money out. When the Linguist had told him all, the Mandareen was ready to fall off of his Chair with laughing. And after he had composed himself, he asked if the Sailor would stand to his Challenge, who swore he would. The Mandareen had one Tartar in his Retinue, famous for boxing, who had won many Prizes at it, and called for him to try his Skill on the Englishman. The Tartars was a lusty Man, and the Sailor short, but well set. The Tartar promised an easy Conquest, and to the Combat they went. The Tartar used to kick high at the Guts, and the first Time he kick'd, the Sailor had him on his Back. The Tartars was much ashamed of the Foil he had received, and at the Sailor again, but Jack soon tripp'd up his Heels again. He desired then to have a fair Bout of Boxing without Tripping, which Jack agreed to, and batter'd the Tartar's Face and Breast so with his Head, that he was forc'd to yield to old England. The Mandareen was so pleased with the Bravery and Dexterity of the Seaman, that he made him a Present of ten Teyals of Silver.

In the Punishment of Crimes there are Laws made to proportion the Punishment according to the Notoriety or Quality of the Crime. For Faults not capital, they use the Bambow and Whip, or a Pair of wooden Stocks, or a wooden Collar, being some Boards fix'd together, with a Hole in the Middle for the Head to go through. It is generally about five Foot square, and between 60 and 80 Pound Weight, that they are obliged to carry a considerable Way in the Day, and and sleep in it at Night, sitting with that continual Weight on their Shoulders, because there is no lying down, which Punishment lasts as long as the Judge determines in his Sentence. Some they lay in the Stocks by the Neck, laid flat on their Back in the open Sun, with their Face continually towards it while it shines, and this lasts for one, two, or three Days, as the Judge thinks fit to order.

Traitors, Murderers, and Pirates, are carried to Nankin to be tried and punished, except a special Order from the Emperor carry Custom out of her Road. Those Goals in Nankin are only cleared of Malefactors once in three Years. In those Prisons they live in great Misery, and often wish for Death before it comes.

Every one of those Sort of Criminals has particular Prisons belonging to such Crimes; and when the Judge receives the Emperor's Orders to reprieve such a Number, the Judge has it in his Power to save whom he pleases of that Number specified, and the rest are immediately put to Death, as fast as they can dispatch them with the Sword and Ax. I have been credibly informed, that 30000 have been executed in one Month, and half that Number reprieved.

When the Emperor gives special Order for the Punishment of Piracy or Murder, the Delinquent is tied to a Stake, and an Executioner cuts the Skin of his Forehead round from Ear to Ear, and pulls it over his Eyes, and then delivers him to the Friends and Relations of those that had suffered Injuries by him, and they have the Pleasure of tormenting him as they please. I have heard of some who have been tortured three Days and Nights before they expired. Others have had a Brick or Stone Cloke built round them close to their Bodies, by the Side of an High-way, and a Guard set over them, who commanded all Passengers to spit on their Heads as they past by, and they are generally much longer a dying than the others.

Parents have the Power of the Life and Death of their Children till they marry, and then that Power ceases. Husbands have the same Power of their Wives, if they are convicted of Adultery. I knew an Instance of the latter in Amoy, by a Chinese that went a Voyage to Fort St. George, and from thence to England. He had a good agreeable young Woman to his Wife, and he pretended when he returned, to make his Wife use the Freedom of England, in bringing his Wife into English Mens Company when they came to his House, and made her eat at Table, or drink Tea with them, but not when any Chinese Strangers were in his House. However, she did not know how to behave herself prudently in that State of Freedom, but was debauched by severals, and he going a Voyage to Canton, had stayed ten Months after the English Shipping was gone, and found her big with Child at his Return. He sent for her Relations and feasted them, and then before them upbraided her for her Disloyalty, and took a Piece of heard of an Instance of the other at Canton. One Merchant had a profligate Son, whom he sent abroad with a considerable Stock to employ in Trade. In a few Months he had consumed the Stock, and run in Debt. He gave his Executors Bill on his Father, who answered them in his own Credit. The Son came back, beggarly Father's Pardon, and protested, that for future he would lead a virtuous Life. The indulgent Father intrusted him with a modest Stock, and he, in a short Time, destroyed it also, and when his Credit was gone, relented to his Father, who seemed to pass by Folly. But one Day he made an Entertainment for all his Relations, and when the Entertainment was over, he began an Apologue that he pretty near his own Case with his Son, asked their Opinion what in Justice the Son ought to suffer for abusing his Father's Kindness, and ruining his Estate. They not knowing that he and his Son were the Persons mentioned in the Fable, under borrowed Names, unanimously agreed that the Son ought to be stoned with Death. On which the Father took a Knife and cut his Son's Throat, before the Son or his Relations had the least sight of it, and then he thanked them for being so just a Sentence, for that he and his Son were the real Persons represented in the Apologue.

T 2 If
If Children grow incorrigible, and despise the Threats or Admonitions of their Parents according to Law, the Parents are to complain of them to the Magistrate, and upon full Conviction, the Magistrate will severely correct them. For if a Son break the established Laws, the Parent suffers Punishment as well as the criminal Son, if he had not before made the Magistrate acquainted with his Son's Vices.

And if a Parent is brought to Poverty and Want, and has not brought his Son up to some Calling, whereby he might get his Living, the Son is not obliged to assist his Father, but otherwise he is.

In their Marriages the Bridegroom never sees his Spouse till they are married, for the Match is made by Matrons of both Sides, and he is obliged to pay a Sum of Money to the Bride's Relations, before he can have her, and when all Obstacles are removed, her Relations make a Feast for the Bridegroom and his Friends, and after that is over, she is brought veiled into the dining Room, and he presents her with some Jewel of small Value, or some Pieces of Silk Stuff, and a Priest sacrifices a Cock by cutting his Throat, and sprinkling some of the Blood on them both, and then they are married by Law, and he seldom marries another while she lives, except in case of Barrenness, and then he may take another, and so in case of Failure in Issue, as far as four, but they cannot go beyond that Number, yet he may buy as many Concubines.
as he pleases, and the Wives are ranked according to Priority, and the Concubines must attend and serve the Wives.

The Ladies Dress is very becoming. They wear fine Linen Breeches that reach to the Ankle, but they are covered with a Petticoat handsomely platted, that reaches below the Ankle, and a Gown that reaches mid-leg down, tied with a silken Belt round their Middle, and each Sleeve so large, that one would serve to put their Body in, and reaches almost to the Ground. They have a Collar of Embroidery handsomely cut, that comes round their Neck, and covers the Neck of their Gown, and reaches half-way between the Neck and Shoulder-bone. They have naturally a great Deal of Hair as black as Jet, which they set on Wires fitted to their Head, raised four or five Inches, and covered with their Hair in a becoming Manner, and those who can afford Pearl, have some of them bored on one Side, and set in their Hair, and they have two or more Gold Bodkins which keep all the handsom Fabrick fast.

Their Feet are bound up with Rollers of Cloth when they come to three Years of Age, and are always kept hard bound, so that all the other Parts of their Body grow in their natural Shape and Magnitude, but their Feet, which by Restraint, are always as small as they were when first bound up. Their pretty little Shoe has a Piece of Wood placed in the Middle between the Heel and the Toe, that serves for both Heel and Sole, which makes them rather trip along when they go, for their Ambulation cannot be called Walking.

Their Forehead is large, pretty small Eyebrows, well arched, their Eyes black, but almost hid with the Lids, their Nose small and flat at the Eyes, their Mouth little, and pretty plump Lips of a deep Vermillion Colour, their Cheeks and Chin in good agreeable Symmetry, and their Neck small, their Arms long and slender, a fine little Hand, and to grace the whole Structure of their Persons and Ornaments, the Nails of their Fingers are never pair'd but are let to grow to two or three Inches in Length, to shew that they are not employed in servile Works.

And this Fashion of long Nails is followed by the Men of Distinction, and are carefully kept clean, and formerly, before the Tartars were their Lords, they wore their Hair long, rolled up behind (as our Women in Britain formerly wore theirs) and a Net of Hair or black Silk to cover their neat Rolls and Gold Bodkins, with double or treble Prongs stuck in their Hair, to keep it in Order, but now they have only a Lock at their Crown, platted and hanging down their Back, and none are without that Lock, for if they have not Hair enough growing naturally on their Heads, they take small Locks of borrowed Hair, and twist in with their own to be in the Fashion.
of the East Indies.

The Men of Figure have a Coat of Silk that comes down to their Knees, and a short Doublet over that, that reaches no farther than their Loins. Their Breeches are large and full, which come under the Tops of their Silk Boots, neatly made and quilted, for great Men wear no Shoes. They generally wear on their right Thumb a thick Ivory or Agate Ring, very convenient for drawing their long Bows made of Buffaloe's Horn, they being all bred to Archery, and exercise themselves much in shooting at a Mark. They wear their Swords on the left Side, with the Point forward, and when they draw them, they lift up their lacqued Scabbard, that the Handle may reach above their Shoulder behind, so that at the drawing of them with their right Hand, they can make a good and nimble Stroke on whatsoever they attack.

And to dress our China or Tartar Gentleman completely, he wears a Cap made of fine Mat for that purpose, in the Form of a blunt Pyramid, with a Tassel of Horse Hair dyed red, that reaches from the Crown almost to the Bottom, and often an Amber or Coral Button fastned to the Crown of the Cap, and they use a Piece of Hair-tape to come under the Chin, to keep it from blowing off by the Wind, and to their Girdle they have a Purse for their little Tobacco-pipe, which is made of some Metal, and two other Purses, one small for their Tobacco, and the other pretty large, with several Divisions in it for their Money and Papers, all drawn close by silken Strings, Strings, and their Handkerchief is a Piece of coarse Cotton Rag stuck between their Girdle and Side, one End hanging to the Knee, and that serves for a Towel and a Napkin also, and so I have equip’d him either as Courtier or Cavalier.

But the Mandareens of the Pen have a long Gown to their Heels, with Badges or Blazons on their Backs and Breasts, to distinguish their Degree or Dignity, and before they are admitted to the Degree of Doctor, they must pass thro’ several Trials and Examinations. They also wear a distinguishing Cap on their Head, and look as grave as an old Advocate.

A Merchant and Mechanic wear the same Cap as the Courtier, but their Habit is a long Robe with narrow Sleeves, and Stockings made of coarse Cotton Cloth, with square-toed Shoes, without Heels or Latchets to tie them on. The Peasant and Fishers are not tied up to sumpture Laws, but wear what they please.

Every House, Ship and Fishing-boat keep a domestick God that they pay Adoration to Evening and Morning, and he has alway a small flat Table with Ledges before him, filled with Wood-ashes smoothed over, and small Furrows drawn thro’ the Ashes in Order, and those Furrows filled with Powder of Putechock or Radix dalcis mix’d with Powder of Sandal, Myrrh or Olibanum, and the Composition is fired at one End, and it gives a little, but pleasant Smoke the whole four and twenty Hours, without the least Need of mending or renewing it.
of the East Indies.

When two China Men quarrel, (for they are naturally a little choleric) if the Breach is so wide that it will be difficult to be made up again, then they'll threaten not to pay any Reverence or Respect to one another's God, and that Word cuts off all Means of Communion and Society ever after. And so I leave them, and proceed to my Observations on other Things.

C H A P. LIV.

Gives an Account of the natural Rarities of China, and of the Emperor's Revenue and common Expence.

THERE are many artificial as well as natural Rarities in China. Their artificial ones are in stupendous Bridges, that give safe and convenient Passages over great and rapid Rivers, and over Vallies between the Tops of Mountains, to make Roads easy and pleasant that would otherwise be very steep, crooked and dangerous; but I never saw any of them, tho' I have heard much Talk of them.

They have also great and convenient Sluices to check the Violence of Floods from Lakes and Rivers, and to serve out their Waters to lower Grounds, to moisten them and make them fit to yield good Crops of Corn; but I being confined fined to the Island of Amoy, could not have an Opportunity to see them, so that what I add more to my Observations, is only by Informations and Reports from others, (who had travelled where I had no Permission to go) whose Acquaintance I casually sought after to be informed.

I now begin again to continue my Course along the Sea-coast to the Northward: And in the same Province of Fokien is the River and City of Hockfow; but whether the City of Hockfow be the same with Fochew, I know not; it is very large however, and is famous for being the Residence of the Chungtock, and in brewing a Sort of good strong Ale in small Pots of coarse China Ware, luted over with a Clay Head as big as the Pot.

About twenty Leagues to the Northward of Hockfow begins the Province of Chequiam, whose chief City is Limpoa, by some called Nimpoa, and by other Ningpoo; however, it is a large City and drives a great Trade. Here the Portuguese were once well settled, and had a numerous Colony. When the Chinese were Masters of their own Country, and the Portuguese of the Seas, it is reported, that they had above one thousand Portuguese Families settled in Limpoa, and were governed by their own Laws. Their Trade thro' China and Japan, which they carried in Shipping to India and China, made them prodigiously rich, which brought them into into Luxury and Debauchery, and, at last, was the Cause of their Expulsion from Limpoo.

They began to be notorious Ravishers of Women. They would go into the Country Villages, and carry off young Virgins by Violence, from their Parents, and when they had abused them as long as they pleased, sent them back to their Friends. Many Complaints had been made, but no Redress could be obtained. At length, when a Parcel of Virgin-Hunters had gone into the Country upon an Expedition of that Nature, the Peasants fell on them, and killed them every Man.

This Slaughter made the Portuguese very loud in their Complaints, and demanded Justice to be done on the Peasants. The Peasants made solid Replications to the Complaints of the Portuguese, and desired their Case might be laid before the Emperor, which was accordingly done, and the Portuguese were ordered to clear themselves of the Crimes laid to their Charge, and they not being able to do it, were banished Limpoo, but had Liberty to carry off their Effects: And thus ended the most opulent Colony, at that Time, in the World.

Nanking is the next Province to Chequiam, and the City of Nanking is still reckoned one of the largest Cities in China, or perhaps in the World. I have heard many say, that saw both Peking and Nanking, that it occupies a larger Spot of Ground than Peking, and that the triumphal Arches, Arches, Palaces, and other public Edifices, are nobler than those at Peking.

The Province begins at Souchew, a large City, and one of the greatest trading Cities in China, in Gold, wrought Silks, Porcelline or China Ware. It stands near the Lake of Hamchew, which is about 20 Leagues long, and 16 broad, of fine clear fresh Water, and it produces many excellent Sorts of Fishes, some whereof are daily sent in Boats to Peking for the Emperor's Table.

Nanking City stands on the Banks of the River Kiam, the greatest, but not the longest River in China. It is situated about 100 Miles from its Mouth, in a fine, pleasant, fertile Plain. It was formerly the Metropolis of all China, till the Tartars grew troublesome and formidable, which drew the Court to Peking, to be nearer the Frontiers, in order to check their Insolence.

The Distance between Nanking and Peking is about 500 English Miles. They have a Communication by Water in two royal Canals, one from Naking to the yellow River, so called from the Colour of its Water, and the other from that River to the City of Peking, or very near it. They are the Work of Art, done by the hard Labour of many Thousands of poor Workmen, in Obedience to their Emperor's Order, to facilitate the Carriage of Merchandize between those great Cities.
The yellow River, or Corcei River, is much longer than any River in Asia, or perhaps in Europe, for there are 30 Degrees Distance between its Source and its Mouth: And I heard one Mr. Fountanay, a Missionary, who went to France on the Emperor of China's Account, about the Year 1694, say, that he believed, there were as many People that lived in Boats and Vessels on the Rivers of Kiam and Corcei, as in the three greatest Provinces of France, for in their Vessels they keep Fairs on these Rivers, one Season at one Place, and in other Seasons at other Places; and tho' there may be 10000 Vessels assembled at a Fair, yet there is as good Order and Decorum kept, as in a well governed City. All Ships and Boats who have the same Species of Goods are moor'd together along a certain Place on the River's Side allotted for them, by proper Magistrates, and at Night, Watches are set to prevent Thieving and Disorder, and Offenders are severely punished, without Respect of Persons.

There are also Fairs kept on the Royal Canal, between the Yellow River and Peking, in which all the Sorts of Commodities that China produceth are to be sold.

The Magnitude, Beauty, and Opulency of Peking, are so fully described by some who have been there, that my Hearsay Account can be of no Use, and for that Cause I omit it, but the aforesaid Mr. Fountanay told me, that the Winter Season is much colder than in France, and that that in the Month of November, the Fraternity bought three Deers, and hung them up in a Pantry without Salt, and when they had a Mind for some Venison, they cut what they wanted for their Use till the Beginning of March, and what was left then began to grow stale, but not before, which shews the subtile Coldness and Dryness of the Air there.

And now being at the End of my Journey on the Continent of Asia, I'll make some more general Observations on the Product of China, and return to the Southward, to take a view of the Islands that face the Sea-coasts of China, and steer back to the Northward as far as Japan.

As there are many Mountains in China, so they have many different Qualities. Some by their Situation and prodigious Height, shew their lofty Tops above the Clouds, always clear and serene, but none dare presume to go to their Tops, because the Air being too much rarified, insensibly takes away Perspiration, and causes Death. Others, tho' as high, by nitrous and sulphurous Mines in their Bowels, send up thick Vapours that always hide their Tops: And at the Foot of those Mountains are Springs and Wells of Fire, that continually burn in their own Cells, but never break forth in any other Places.

Other Mountains are cover'd with Trees of various Sorts. The Pine is the largest, some being six Foot through, and four or five Score
of the East Indies.

Covets high, or according to English Measure, an hundred and fifty Foot in Length, and they produce Bambows, as long, and so big, that one Joint between the Inter-nodes or Knots, can contain above ten Catties of Water, which are of great Use to Sea-faring Men, to hold their fresh Water in. They also produce the Rose-Tree, which preserves an agreeable Smell and Colour as long as the Woods lafts, which is not less than a Century or two.

In the southern Provinces, I have been told, that a Tree called Quanlang, has a soft Pulp growing within it, which the Inhabitants dry and pulverize, and apply it to all the Uses that Wheat-flour serves for, having the same Taste and Quality. I heard a Missionary assert, that not far from Limpoa in the Province of Che-quiram, he saw some Trees that bare a Fruit pretty hard on the Outside, but within a fat Pulp, which being put a while in the Air, becomes good white Tallow; and it serves for all Intents and Purposes, for the same Uses that Tallow is put to, only with this Advantage, that it does not defile the Hand, nor grease and stain Cloaths.

All the Provinces of China are well stor’d with Fruit-bearing Trees, and being of so large an Extent, and the Seasons so different, that in one Place it is Summer, while in another Place Winter predominates, as in the Provinces of Quans and Quantung it is pleasant Summer, while in Zanshi and Peking the chilling Colds of Winter and Storms disturb the Air, and shut up the Pores of the Earth.

All the Provinces produce Tea in abundance, but Nanking and Chequiam afford the best. I saw four or five Tea Shrubs growing on the East-side of Amoy, but it was in the End of September, when all the Leaves were off. It is pretty like a young Willow; and I was informed, that they plant once in three Years, and pull all up, or cut down all that are above that Growth. I was also informed, that about the Middle of June, they pulled off the first and best Leaves, and about the Beginning of August they had a Crop of Sungloa Tea, which is somewhat groser than the Bing or first Crop. Both those Sorts are put under a Shade to dry with the Wind, and in September they strip the Bush of all its Leaves, and for want of warm dry Winds to cure it, are forced to lay it on warm Plates of Iron or Copper, and keep it stirring gently, till it is dry, and that Sort is called Bobea: And I have heard others say, that some Grounds will produce none but fine Tea, and others again none but coarse; but they all agreed in drying the Bobea on hot Plates.

On the Skirts of the Mountains they plant their Mulberry-Trees for their Silk-Worms, and cut them down at two Years Growth, because the Insect delights most in a tender Leaf.

There are many useful Trees in China that bear no Fruit. Some bear Beans, but of those I have seen in India at Surat and Bengal. One Sort they have that provokes Sleep, by laying some of the Leaves in the Bed near the Patient. The Iron-Wood Tree is commodious for making Anchors for Shipping. It is prodigiously strong and hard, and has natural Gravity enough to sink it to the Bottom of the Sea.

On the Mountains of Zenzi, near the famous Wall that divides China from Tartary, grows Abundance of that useful and valuable Root Rhubarb, whose Use is so well known in Europe. The Root Genfing grows also in Woods there, and when the Natives go in Quest of it, to find it, they are forced to go in the Night-Season, with Torches in their Hands, for fear of being assaulted by the wild Inhabitants of the Woods, such as Lions, Tigers, Leopards, Rhinoceroses, &c. of the brutal Kind, besides dangerous Reptiles, as Serpents and Snakes, which all flee from Fire. I have heard of Serpents thirty Foot long, and five in Circumference, which lurk all Day in their Dens, and come out in the Nights, to prey on Animals that lie securely in theirs.

This Root Genfing, when dried, is like a little Carrot, of a light yellow Colour, and about mid-way down, it branches in two, which makes the Chinese call it the Man-herb. It has a sweetish Taste, but being much chew'd, it seems bitterish. It is cut in Shreds, and drunk with Tea, and then it is esteemed a very great Restorative of the animal Spirits. It is exceeding hot in Quality, and therefore to be avoided by Vol. II. U those those of strong Constitutions. It is excellent in Consumptions, and for its several good Qualities, is sold at a great Price, some at three Times its Weight in Silver; but after it is a Year old, it goes off at a Shilling per Ounce, because it is difficult to keep the Worm out of it. Radix China, or China Root, grows in many Parts of China, but the Island of Aynam yields the best.

The Emperor's Revenues, by Report, amount to 180000000 of Tayals, out of which he maintains fifty Caloes or Privy-Counsellors, at 100000 Tayals yearly. The Princes of the Blood are honoured with the Government of Provinces, and are allowed, out of the Royal Treasury, from 500000 to 1000000 Tayals yearly. He has fourteen Provinces, wherein he maintains 80000 Soldiers in each, and each Soldier is allowed 10 Tayals per Annum in Silver, and a Catty of Rice, and an Ounce of Salt per Day, which are delivered monthly out of the Emperor's Granaries. In a Word, I look on China to be the richest and best governed Empire in the World. And so having given the best Account I can of it, I steer my Course to the Southward among the Philippine Islands, whose Descriptions I take by Report.
CHAP. LV.

Gives some Account of the Islands of Mindanao, Luconia, Formosa and Japon, with some remarkable Occurrences that have happened on them.

MINDANOA is both the Southermost and Eastermost of all the Philippines. It has little or no Commerce with Strangers, and I never heard of any European Ship that went to it, since Captain Swan called there in his Way from Panama to India, when Captain Dampier was with him; who, no Doubt, has given a good Account of it in his Travels: And I know no more of it, but that it is divided into many small Principalities, and that the Sea-Worm eats so greedily Ships Bottoms, that in three or four Months they eat quite thro', and that there is Abundance of Rice and other Provisions to be had very cheap there, and that it produces very good Caffia-Lignum, or Baistard Cinnamon. It is about 140 Leagues in Length, but of a very unequal Breadth, having many large deep Bays running into it, which afford many Harbours for Shipping.

Papa-goa, or little Borneo, is a very long narrow Island, being 90 Leagues long, and but 14 or 15 broad. It breeds the best Soldiers and Seamen, that the Spaniards have in the Philippines, but produces nothing for Exportation. The Spaniards have a Fort on the North-East End of it, and so they have on the Islands of Panay, Negros, Cebu, Leyte and Samar. They are all large Islands, but have no Commodities for Export. And Mindora, that lies close to the Island Luconia, affords nothing for Trade.

Luconia is the largest of the the Philippine Islands, and is richest in its Productions, for it affords Corn, Fruits and Roots in great Plenty, as well as wild Game and Fowl. It produces Gold, but of a low Touch. It is not half conquered yet by the Spaniards, tho' they are possess'd of all the Sea-Coast, as the Dutch are of Zeeland; and the Natives lose no Opportunity of cutting off their Lords the Spaniards, when they can do it without Danger. They have fortified their Mountains and Vallies so well with thick Hedges of Bambous, that the Spaniards cannot easily molest them, tho' they have secret Ways to fly out and disturb their Enemy.

The chief City in Luconia is Manbila or Manilla, the Residence of the Spanish Viceroy, and the Port where all the Galleons that come yearly from New Spain, resort to. The Harbour is spacious, commodious and safe. They admit of Trade from India and China, but not with any European Nation. The Mahometans are tolerated in their Religion, but not the Pagans; so that all Chinese that go there for Commerce, get a little Brass Image hung about their Neck, with a String of Beads in their Hands, and learning

learning to cross themselves, cry Jesu Sana Malia, (for they cannot pronounce Maria, because the Letter R is excluded the Chinese Alphabet) I say, when they have got all those fore-named Qualifications, they are good Spanish Christians.

And when they have feathered their Nest by cheating the Spaniard, and taken their leave of Manilla or Manbila, at their passing by a Mountain dedicated to the Virgin Mary, they throw their Beads over-board, and thank the Virgin for her Kindness to them.

In Anno 1719, there happened a Mutiny in Manilla, wherein the Viceroy lost his Life, and he had a Son that might have saved his, but was obstinate, and would needs follow his Father. It was occasioned by Oppression and Avarice, for the Viceroy having a Mind to fill his Coffers at any Rate, set up a Tribunal, wherein the richest Merchants in the City were impeach'd for high Crimes and Misdemeanours, by suborned Informers. Evidences were not wanting to prove Things that never were done by the innocent Merchants, and on those false Informations and Evidences their Persons were imprisoned, and their Estates seized. Those that had not been prosecuted, seeing their Danger, carried their Goods and Money into the Churches and Convents for Security, and fled into the Country themselves, till the Times should amend; but those Places of Sanctuary were violated, and when the Merchants were summoned

Summoned, and did not appear, their Estates were confiscated, and brought out of the Churches and Convents by Force.

The Archbishop, and his Army of Priests, went to him, and laid the Peoples Grievances and his own Oppressions and Crimes before him; but he treated them rudely, which soon put the whole City in an Uproar. A cunning and bold Priest of the Augustine Order seeing the People's Disposition to Mutiny, took a large Crucifix on his Shoulder, and invited all who were true Catholic Christians to follow Jesus Christ's Banner, and afford Succour and Assistance to Christ's persecuted Flock.

The Citizens came thronging after the Priest and Crucifix, well armed, and they marched directly to the Viceroy's Palace. His Guards all deserted him on Sight of the Priest and Crucifix, and he and a few of his Domestics fired some small Arms, and killed some, and wounded others, which so enraged the Multitude, that they rush'd furiously up Stairs, and shot him dead. His Son was Governor of a Castle a little Way from the City, and he hearing that his Father was in Danger, came with his Garrison to rescue him, but being killed before the Assistance came, the Citizens complimented him, and desired him to return to his Post, for they had nothing to lay to his Charge, but he refused, and swore he would be avenged on his Father's Murderers, and beginning to use Violence on those next to him, begin-his Men deferted him, and he soon fell a Sacrifice to his own Folly. There were above a Million and an half of Spanish Dollars found in his Treasury, out of which those whom he had unjustly robbed were reimbursed.

It is about 120 Leagues from South to North, and the South End is about 100 Leagues in Breadth. It breeds good, hardy, small Horses, and if it were in the Hands of some industrious Nation, it is able to furnish good Materials to build a good Commerce with; but the Spaniards are rich, lazy and proud, and rather discourage than improve Trade, or to engage the Natives to be civil and industrious.

The next Island of Note is Formosa, but there are several small Islands between it and Luconia, which belong to China, tho' of no great Account, and because they are flat and low, they are called the Bashbee Islands.

Formosa is a noble Island, and produces many valuable Commodities, as well for the Sustenance of Mankind as for Pleasure and Luxury. It affords Plenty of Gold, raw Silk, fine white Sugar, Sugar-candy, and Copper finer than in China, but coarser than in Japan, and several Drugs, as Gallingal, China Root, &c. Before the Tartars subdued it, it had Kings of its own, but tributary to China. The Natives differ much from the neighbouring People of China and Luconia, both in Phisiognomy and Make. They are of a low Stature, with a large Head and

Fore-

Fore-head, hollow-eyed, and the Cheek-bone very high, a large Mouth, and a short flat Chin, with little or no Beard on it, long jaw'd, and a small long Neck, their Body short and square, their Arms and Legs long, small and ill-shaped, their Feet long, and broad at the Toes, and generally they are baker-kneed. The English and Dutch had their Factories there, but about the Year 1678, when all Fokien had submitted to the Tartars, they were ordered to withdraw their Factories from Teywon, a small Island close to the great one, on which their Factories stood. The English obeyed, and removed over to Amoy, but the Dutch received Supplies from Batavia, and endured a long Siege, but were at last forced to submit, tho' they sold their Factory, and many of their Mens Lives pretty dear, for the Tartars lost above 5000 Men in reducing it. It is now wholly under the Tartars, and the Chungtock of Fokien has the Superintendency of it.

When it was tributary to China, about the Year 1650, there was a strange Dislempur raged on the Island for three Years together, for most of the Virgins between twelve and eighteen Years of Age, had a Trick of hanging themselves, in so much that very few Maidens were left on the Island, nor could any Remedy be found to prevent it, before an old China Man found one out, and address'd himself to the King, desiring him to make a Trial of hanging all those that hanged themselves privately, up by one Leg on the Sides of High-ways, for Passengers to gaze on. The King took his Counsel, and hanged up some so, and in one Month's Time the Maidens refrained from hanging, and have continued good Girls ever since.

The Religion of Teywon (for that is the Name that the Chinese call the Island of Formosa by) is purely Pagan. They all worship the Sun and Moon, and the Stars their Children. Some worship the first living Thing they see in the Morning, except a Lizard.

Between Teywon and the Coast of Fokien, lie the Piscadores Islands, so called from the great Quantities of Fish caught about them. There are many Shallows lie a good Distance off them, on which an English Ship from Surat, called the Joseph, was shipwreck'd in Anno 1697, but all the Men were saved; and on the Report of a Jesuite Missionary who was Passenger, that had some Things on board for the Emperor, one Mr. Reynolds the first Supercargo, was forced to take a Journey to Peking, who cleared himself, but brought Scandal on holy Mother Church, for forging Things so palpably false, for the good Father's Trunk was saved, and opened by proper Officers, and not one Thing that he had reported to be in it, was found.

Many other Islands lie along the Coast of China, but of no great Note, till we come to the Island Chusan, which lies off the Mouth of Limpoo. It first became famous in the Tartar Wars, for many Chinese of Note repaired thither with their Families, who thought to have found a quiet Retreat there, but they were mistaken; for for by Coxinga from Amoy, and the Tartars continually warring thereabout, they were harassed between them, and at length a Garison of Tartars settled on it, and gave it their Laws.

In Anno 1700. the new East-India Company of England, settled a Factory on Chusan, by Mr. Allan Catchpole before mentioned, but by the Oppression of the Tartar Officers, and the Company's Neglect of sending Money sufficient to carry on their Trade, Mr. Catchpole removed the Factory again in the Beginning of the Year 1703. and carried it to Pullo-condore, as is before observed.

From the North End of Formosa, to the South End of Japon, the Distance is about 220 Leagues, and in the Fair-way are several Islands of no great Account in Commerce. They are most of them very high, and on one of them is a very great Vulcano, which continually sends forth a prodigious Flame that may be seen in the Night above 30 Leagues Distance from it.

Bungo is a Province of Japon, and was honoured with the Name of a Kingdom, but about the Year 1655. it lost its Title and most of its Inhabitants, for being too zealous in promoting Christianity by barbarous Ways. The Portuguese found this Island and Japon to be easily brought over to their Notions of Christianity, and that the Country abounded in Gold and Silver, drove a great and advantageous Trade there, for above one Century of Years. Nor were their Priests idle in making Converts, for in the Space of 100 Years, they proselyted 180,000 Families, when at the same Time, the Emperor gave great Encouragement to the Priests to go on in their Apostleship, every one having free Liberty to embrace Christianity, and had not the giddy-headed Christian Priests, been too zealously hot and haughty, it was believed that the Emperor himself would have become a Christian, but a civil War breaking out in Japan, and the Emperor’s Forces much diminished, the Christian Priests thought it a proper Time for them to settle their Religion on the same Foundation that Mahomet did his, by establishing it in Blood.

Their Thoughts run on nothing less than exterminating the Heathen out of the Land, and formed a Conspiracy of raising an Army of 50,000 Christians to murder their Countrymen, that so the whole Island might be illuminated by Christianity, such as it was there. But the Emperor having Intelligence of their holy Design, thought fit to prevent them, and coming to an Agreement with his rebellious Pagan Subjects, discovered the common Danger they all lay under from the Christians, and they, to secure themselves, joined their Forces with the Emperor’s, but lay silent till they saw where the Christians would begin their Tragedy, and it was not long before they began the Massacre, near a large City called Offaeca. The Emperor’s Army marched speedily thither to chastise their Insolence, and a very bloody Battle ensued, wherein the Christians had the Better. The Emperor soon soon levied a greater Army, and engaged the Christians a second Time with Success, and quite routed them, and never gave them Time to form themselves into another Army after, but followed his Blow, sparing neither Man, Woman, or Child that had been baptized, and the Pagan Bonzies or Priests, were very good Informers, so that in two Years, above 300000 Persons perished by the violent Zeal of bigotted Priests, and an Edict was published, that whatever Christian should, for the future, be found within the Dominions of Japan, should be put to Death without Mercy.

Many new Inventions were found out to torture the Christians, and the Priests were the first that made Trial of the Exquisiteness of their Pain. The poor Women and Virgins were torn Limb from Limb, by being tied to Stakes placed in the Ground, under the Branches of large Trees bended down, and their Limbs being fastned to the Stakes and Branches, by the Elasticity of the Branches they were torn to Pieces. Children were thrown down Precipices, and dash’d to Pieces, and Infants were drowned, and so Romish Christianity ended in Japan, with a very dismal and tragical Catastrophe.

The English and Dutch at that Time had their Factories on a small Island called Firando, that lay close to the Shore of the Island Bungo, and drove a very advantageous Trade, but in Anno 1664. when the English Shipping arrived, our never-failing Friends taking the Advantage of our being Christians, and coming thither contrary to the Edict, were in Hopes to have a second Part of Amboina act'd at Japon. They gave Information that the English were Christians, and not only so, but that our King had married the King of Portugal's Sister, and had a Mind to introduce the Portugueze secretly into Japon, and how dangerous that may be to their State, they knew by dear bought Experience; and as an undeniable Truth of our being Christians, they might see in the very Colours that our Ships wore, the Sign of the Cross. Their Information had some of the desired Effects, tho' not the cruel Part. The Emperor being acquainted with the Dutch Information, ordered the English to be civilly treated, their Cargoes to be taken off their Hands as before, and a new Japon Cargo to be provided for them, in lieu of what they brought, and at the usual Time to dispatch them, with strict Orders for the English never to return again upon Pain of Death, by which fair Dealings the Dutch got the sole Japon Trade into their own Hands, except what is carried on by the Chinese. This Account I had from Captain John Baer, who was in the last English Ship that traded to Japon.

The Dutch and Chinese are both limited in the Numbers of their Shipping that trade to Japon, the Dutch from one to four yearly, and the Chinese from ten to twenty. As soon as their Ships arrive, all their Crews are sent ashore to Houses Houses provided for them, and the Japanese take Possession of the Ship, and all that she has aboard of her; they un hinge the Rudder, and send all the great Guns and Ammunition ashore. Each Cargo is unladen and sent to the Factory appointed for its Factors, and there opened and repack'd before proper Officers. The Goods are sent away without any Enquiry what they cost, or what they are content to take for them, and the Officers take a Memorandum of what Commodities they desire in barter, and those are provided and delivered on board their Ships by the Middle of October, and about the Beginning of November they deliver their Rudder, Guns, and Ammunition, and are dispatched in Form, to be gone without Delay.

The Dutch Factory is now settled at Nang-saak, on a little Island close to the Shore, and are there confined, without a special Permission from Court, either when they have a Desire to go on the main Island, or to remove from their Factory to Batavia.

I heard of a mortifying Accident that happened to the Dutch Affairs in Japan, when Mr. Charron a French Man, had the Directorship of their Factory. He had been several Times at Jeddo and Meaco, two great Cities where the Emperor keeps his Court sometimes at one or other of those Places, as his Fancy or Affairs lead him. The Emperor took a Liking to Mr. Charron, and often sent for him to hear the Accounts he could give of Europe. Charron presuming presuming on his Favours from the Emperor, begged Permission to build an House on the little Island where their Factory stood, on his Masters Account, which Request the Emperor granted.

Accordingly the Foundation was laid very large for an House; however, the Building went cheerfully on, till it grew into an handsom Fortification of a regular Tetragon. The Japanese being ignorant of the Art of Fortification, had not the least Suspicion of Deceit, but suffered them to finish it.

When it was finished, Mr. Charron advised his Masters at Batavia, of the Progress he had made, and desired by the next Shipping to have some Cannon sent him in Casks filled with Rubbish, such as Oaccam or Cotton, the Casks to be well bound with Iron Hoops, and the Heads securely sixed in, with some Casks of the fame Make, filled with Spices, which Advice was accordingly followed.

When the Shipping arrived, the Lading was landed according to Custom, but in rolling the Casks, one of them that had a Brass Gun, had the Misfortune to have one of its Heads fall out, and the Cheat was by that Accident discovered. This put a Stop to all Commerce till the Emperor’s Pleasure was known about this strange Affair.

The Emperor forbad to interrupt the Trade, but ordered their new built House to be razed to the Ground, and to send Mr. Charron Cou Court, that he might expostulate the Matter with him. The Orders were speedily obeyed, and Charron went to Court, and when brought before the Emperor, was much dejected in his Looks to what he used to be formerly.

The Emperor interrogated him on the discovered Cheat, and finding he had no Answer sufficient to vindicate himself, the King upbraided him with abusing his Kindness, and ordered a Barber to be brought, who pulled poor Charron's Beard out Hair by Hair, and then a Fool's Coat and Cap were put on him, and he carried through the Streets of Jeddo, for a ridiculous Spectacle, and was sent back to his Factory with Orders to go off with the first Ships that were ready to sail for Batavia.

The Japanese are strict Observers of moral Rules, and particularly in Commerce, in so much, that a Merchant of Reputation, in his Payments puts up 5, 10, or any decimal Number of Cupangs, which is a broad, oblong, thin Piece of Gold (of twenty Shillings Value there) into a Silk Bag, and putting his Seal on the Bag, passes current for what the Seal mentions, for several Generations, without so much as once looking what is in the Bag; and Gold is so plentiful and cheap, that a Cupang of twenty Shillings in Japan, passes current at Batavia for thirty two Shillings, and when the Lion is stamp'd on it by the Company, it passes for forty Shillings Sterl.

Their
of the East Indies.

Their Porcelaine, or Japon earthen Ware, is finer than China Ware, but much thicker and heavier, and the Colours brighter, and it sells much dearer, either in India or Europe, than what is made in China, but their Tea is not half so good. Their lack'd or Japon'd Ware is, without any Doubt, the best in the World. The best Sort will hold boiling Water without Detriment to it, and is so hard, that I have made a full Pass with a Rapier against a Cabinet, and there was not the least Shadow of a Mark to be seen after the Pass. They abound in Silks both wrought and raw, much stronger than what China produces.

Japon, with the neighbouring Islands under its Dominions, is about the Magnitude of Great Britain. It is in Length from North-east to South-west, near 300 Leagues, and the Mean of its Breadth about 160 Miles. It is well peopled, and produces all Things necessary for human Sustenance, in great Plenty. They are exact Observers of Justice, and rigorous in their punishing Crimes.

A Man of Distinction, if convicted of a capital Crime, the Emperor sends him a Letter, that on such a Day, and such an Hour he must be his own Executioner on Penalty of exquisite Torments, if he survives the appointed Hour. So that the common Custom is, that the Delinquent sends for his nearest and best Friends to a sumptuous Feast on the Day set him, and after the Feast is over, he shews them the Emperor's perors Letter, and while they are reading it, he takes a Dagger that he has about him for the Purpose, and with it he stabs himself below the Navel, and rips himself up to the Breastbone.

The inferior Sort have not that Honour, but are forc'd to be contented with hanging, beheading, or throwing over an high Precipice, and for small Faults, whipping and stigmatizing are common Punishments.

Their Houses are for the most Part built of Wood, but the Emperor's Palaces are of Marble, and covered with gilded Copper. Their gilding is very durable, and can withstand all Winds and Weather many Years. The City of Jeddo is their Metropolis, and its Magnitude may be guessed by a Fire that happened in it about the Year 1660, which consumed, in eight Days that it raged, above 120000 Houses, besides above 500 Temples.

Their Religion is purely Pagan, and Amida is their favourite God, but he lives a great Way off, for a Soul is three Years in continual Travel before it can reach Paradise, which is only the Suburbs of Heaven; however, when they once get thither, they are pretty sure of getting to Heaven, and they live very quietly in Paradise, because not one Devil dares come there to disturb them.

The magotty Zealots have a Trick of leaping over high Cliffs into the Sea, in order to give their Souls an easy Passage to Paradise, the Priests
of the East Indies.

giving them Bills of Credit to defray their Charges.
by the Way, and no doubt, the Mad-man pays the Priest very handsomely for the Bill, and those Bills are so good, that I never heard of one protested and returned.

They have several other reputable Gods, and every one of them has their Adorers and Devotees. One has three Faces, and he is Father of the Sun, Moon and Stars. Every God has his own particular Paradise, but none are nearer than three Years Journey. Some of their Zealots cut their own Throats to get an easy Pal-sage, and others hang themselves.

They carry their Idols in Procession on Horseback, with instrumental and vocal Music to entertain them. They make many Feasts and Sacrifices to their Idols, but they are only fed with the Smoke, the Votaries eat up the Meat.

No Japonesè dares leave his Country, and if he does, he never must return. They are so wedded to their own Customs and Opinions, and so jealous of having new or foreign Customs introduced, that they will not send Embassies to other Kings or States, or suffer their Merchants to have Commerce out of their own Dominions;
only they send some small Jonks or Vessels in the Summer-time, over to the Land of Eso, about 50 Leagues from the North-end of Japon,
and I have heard say, that they bring much Gold from thence; but whether that Country is a Part of their Dominions or no, I never could get Information; but it is reported, that

the Natives of Esö are lufty, robust, and unciviliz'd, but speak the Japon Language.

I also heard, that when De Heer Matsuiker was General of Batavia, he sent four Houters to make Discoveries of the Countries to the Northward, and to the Westward of Japon, one of which was ship-wreck'd on the Coast of Corea, and another on the Northward Coast of Japon. The other two had been on the Coast of Esö, but could not converse with the Natives. She that was lost on Japon, had most of her Men saved, and were kindly entertained, and sent to their Factory: And twelve of the other's Crew that was lost in Corea, got ashore, and were detained Prisoners. Nine of them died in sixteen Years, and three were sent in Company with a Corean Ambassador to Peking. Those three professed themselves to be good Catholicks, and the Church of Peking got them Passage for Canton, where they met with Opportunities to get Passage to Batavia. And now having made my Observations on all the maritime Coasts and Cities between Cape Bona Esperanza and Japon, I conclude, and bid you Adieu.
